Atkinson & Son, City Directory, S. Cooper, George T. S. Cooper.

There were very many yesterday.

at the Battery highly enjoyed.

cases before the fines amounting.

of Mr. W. W. West, morning between.

o'clock. But little.

M. Cressman, of North in town today. He reports.

fishing as very fine in the waters of his section.

Rev. George H. Bell, of the Episcopal Church, will preach at French Broad Baptist Church tomorrow night at 8:15, the pastor at 11 a. m.

A little fracas near A. D. Cooper's corner to day created some excitement and also replenished the city treasury to the amount of six dollars.

See notice of Natt Atkinson & Son, offering for rent on most reasonable terms the well known Mt. Mitchell House, at Black Mountain Station, this county.

Mr. J. M. Brown and Miss Ida Hendricks were united in marriage this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Esquire Malone in the Slater building at 4 o'clock.

Mr. W. W. West had almost subdued the fire in his kitchen last night, before the company reached the spot. He had his garden hose convenient and put it out without much trouble.

Mr. Eugene D. Carter, the able Solicitor of the Criminal Court, has been employed to prosecute, in the case of State against Justice and Arledge, for the killing of Mr. Hollingsworth last December.

We call attention to the interesting "ad" of the "Racket Store." They are going out of Dress Goods, and for fear that they will not sell them fast enough, are absolutely giving them away. This is positive and authoritative, the original letter to Mr. Jones is in the "Racket" window with the odd and funny signature of that curiosity among men, C. B. Rouss.

The New City Directory.

We call the attention of the readers of the EVENING JOURNAL to the prospectus of the new City Directory, which is published on another page. In it will be noticed many new features. It will be a publication that will interest the whole community, and it should receive the support and encouragement of our citizens and business people.

Run Over by the Train.

Dr. W. D. Hilliard, coroner, returned this morning from Black Mountain, where he was summoned last night to hold an inquest over the body of James Cheeseman, an employee at the Swannanoa tunnel, who was run over by the train while passing through the tunnel. It was supposed, from some of the circumstances, that he had been murdered, but the verdict of the jury was to the effect that his death was caused by accident.

A Car Load

Of the very best Terra Cotta, Sewer Pipe, Chimney Flues, Hoods, &c., just received at C. S. Cooper's, 39 South Main St. jul13-1w.

EXHUMED AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS' BURIAL.

The Coroner's Inquest Yesterday.

Coroner Dr. W. D. Hilliard, in company with T. W. Branch, W. B. Williamson, Robert London, W. H. Deaver, R. A. Long and Theodore Hobgood left yesterday morning for Joel Ingram's, near Long Shoals, twelve miles south of this city, where, after summoning John Taylor, another juror they exhumed the body of Wm. Ingram, and held an inquest over it. William Ingram was drowned, or supposed to have been, on the 4th day of May, 1875, while crossing the French Broad river at Long Shoals. His body was found nine days afterwards about one and a half miles below the ford. When found it was noticed that there was a small hole on the right side of the nose, near the corner of the eye. Some thought at the time that it must have been made with a ball, but this idea was not generally concurred in, and no inquest was thought necessary, supposing that it was a case of accidental drowning. But from time to time during the last 15 years, there has been more or less talk about the matter, and a few days ago the family and friends of the deceased notified the coroner of their desire to have an investigation made. The body was taken up and the skull thoroughly examined, but no trace of any foul play could be found. The jury has not rendered its verdict, but will do so Monday.

Meeting of City Council.

A Meeting of the City Council was held last night. The mayor and all the Aldermen were present.

Col. Williamson applied, on behalf of the residents of Vance street, to have water pipes laid on that street. F. Stikeleather applied for water on Willow street, and the Asheville Furniture Company for factory and surroundings at the depot. The petitions were referred to a committee consisting of Aldermen Pulliam, McDowell and Fitzpatrick.

Lee Foster, colored, was relieved from paying poll tax on account of physical infirmity.

Complaint was made against Mr. Davis, licensed auctioneer of this city, for violation of section 850 of the code. The Board decided that the provisions of said section did not apply to his case.

The vacant lot in the rear of the city buildings was ordered cleared and put in shape for the accommodation of the city drays; and when cleared all drays are required to occupy it.

Dr. Ballard, on behalf of the Medical Society, asked to be relieved from the payment of the special tax of $10. No action was taken.

The Mayor and Aldermen Pulliam and Fitzpatrick were appointed to arrange with the proprietor of Battery Park Hotel as to the future supply of water for that establishment and the payment of arrearages.

The adoption of the nine-hour law on city work was tabled by a vote of 4 to 2, Leonard and Fitzvoting against the motion to table.

"Keep Your Eye on Bob Vance."

This is the way in which the "Greensboro North State" of this week opens one of its editorials. It further says: "He was elected President of the Buncombe Confederate Veterans' Association last week. Between now and one year from next November he will embrace and slap on the shoulder every voter in the 9th Congressional District who is not a hopeless invalid. Keep your eye on Bob Vance."

The above is very good advice of course, but it is like "carrying coals to Newcastle." Everybody in the district has his eye already on Bob. Confederate Veterans, Alliance men, in fact good men of all faiths and creeds, and parties and kinds, and ages and colors, have a constant eye on Bob. And they will continue to keep a watch over and after him all the while; for they feel that he is a true friend to the human race, regardless of conditions or surroundings.

There are some persons in the old 9th that keep both eyes on him all the time. And there may be one or more of these who have such a peculiar order of these ophthalmic organs as to keep both eyes on him continuously, and yet do so in such a way as not to let Bob know he is being looked at. If such there be, we would say in the interest of fair play, "Don't slip up on Bob, boys; but give the old veteran fair warning and a fair chance."

VETERAN.

In our dealings with the public we realize that the most scrupulous care and honesty are paramount in importance. If these are virtues in all ordinary business transactions, they become sacred duties in Pharmacy, and without them no one can be a true Pharmacist. Every one must realize that the health, maybe the life, of those dealing with us depend upon them. Pharmacy is not a trade but a profession, and as such we confine ourselves to it alone. Hence it is our work, our constant study as well as our duty to shun adulterations and spoiled as well as inferior drugs. We assure ourselves of the purity of an article before it is made use of. I am ably assisted at the prescription counter by Mr. H. M. P. Clarke, an experienced prescriptionist.

If your prescriptions are left in our care you can positively depend upon the purity of every preparation used and that the greatest care will be exercised in all directions so as to secure all possible safeguards.
