Let Them Choose.

Whilst the discussion waxed warm about the electrical device for dispatching criminals, many continue to hang by the old way of dropping out of human associations.

Why not settle the difficulty by allowing those condemned to capital punishment to choose between the old method of hanging by the neck, and the new one of quitting the world as quick as lightning.

It is true it would be somewhat of a Hobson's choice after all; yet, if any one condemned to death had a preference, it would certainly do no harm to let him have his choice.

Mrs. Kilrain said she was glad to hear that Jake was not killed. Mrs. Sullivan has not been heard from in reference to John.

President Harrison told an applicant for an internal revenue position, a few days ago, that "there would not be any internal revenue collectors a year or fifteen months hence."

Who was it that said that the President would be forgotten? An exchange speaks truly of him when it says: Harrison will live in history as the chief patron of the carpet-bag Southerner.

If President Harrison does not regret, before his term of office expires, having ignored the claim of Brer Jeemes Boyd for the District Attorneyship it will not be the fault of the North State.—Winston Sentinel.

Dr. Mott is a bold and dashing leader, more like Mahone than any other Republican in the South, and he has much of the audacity and many of the dictatorial ways that characterize the little Virginian.—Lenoir Topic.

The sheriff of Hancock county, La., says he fully intended to act according to the instructions of the Governor. The people of Hancock county, however, wanted to see the fight, and on Sunday night, at 12 o'clock, about fifty prominent citizens called on the sheriff and quietly informed him that if he took any steps to prevent the mill, he might consider his political existence at an end. They used forcible arguments, and finally persuaded the sheriff to let the matter alone, and allow the people to see the "biggest fight of the country."

Lovers of fiction the world over are grieved to hear of the serious and probably fatal illness of Wilkie Collins. The children of his brain have done much to while dull care away from many thousands of people. "Blind Love" will probably be his last novel. It is pleasant to know that the distinguished novelist has accumulated a fortune from his works.

STARTLING, BUT TRUE.

The Big 22.

After a sojourn of one year in this glorious climate of North Carolina, has passed the following resolutions, to wit:

To sell all goods, comprising a full and complete line of Clothing, Furnishing Goods, Hats, Trunks, Valises, etc., at 10 per cent. above actual cost;

To select Thursday of each week as Bargain Day, on which day all goods go at net cost.

The success of Big 22 has been most flattering, and to keep the ball rolling goods will be sold cheaper than has ever been offered to the trade in the history of Asheville. The Big 22 gets there, Eli!

Call and be convinced that the above statements are not merely idle talk, but facts undeniable.

Sentence Passed

Excitement ran high and the great crowds were filled with supreme delight at the announcement of the verdict by the jury before his Honor, in favor of Bostic Bros. & Wright, upon the following findings:

Juror No. 1.—I find Bostic Bros. & Wright to be large dry goods men on Main street, Asheville, N. C.

Juror No. 2.—I find them doing a strictly cash business.

Juror No. 3.—I find there six polite and active salesmen.

No. 4.—I find their 7½c. challies, 15c. crape lines, 18c. Henriettas, 65c. flouncing and one-dollar all-overs in every family in the land.

No. 5.—I find Handkerchiefs from 5c. to $1.50, Towels from 6c. to 75c. each, Ladies' and Misses' Hose, fast colors, 20 per cent. less than usual prices.

No. 6.—I find Beaded Capes in beautiful designs to suit the most fastidious.

No. 7.—I find all shades of Worsted goods from 10c. to $1.50 per yard.

No. 8.—I find the finest assortment of Barred Muslins, Peques, Bird's Eye, Irish Linen and Butchers' lines to be found in Buncombe.

No. 9.—I find Corsets from 35c. to $2.25, Kid Gloves from 50c. to $1.50, Silk Mitts from 15c. to 85c. (all the latest shades of colors), Mosquito Netting and 10'4 Sheeting from 27c. to 40c.

No. 10.—I find a job in Ladies' and Men's Slippers that must be sold at any price.

No. 11.—I find beautiful Lace Curtains from 75c. to $10 per pair, Cretones, just charming; Oil Calicoes at 5c.; Percales, 1½ yard wide for 12 to 15c.

Juror No. 12.—I find Trunks from 50c. to $12, Men's and Youths' Clothing from $2.00 to $30, Hats from 10c. to $5.00, and Shoes! Shoes! to suit everybody. Shirts and Gents' Collars, Cuffs, Ties and Half Hose all at panic prices.

From the foregoing facts we fully understand why everybody goes to Bostic Bros. & Wright's to be supplied with Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats and Shoes.
