ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 14, 1886.

PRICE 5 CENTS.

ADVANCE OFFICE IN CARTER BUILDING, IMMEDIATELY SOUTH OF COURSE HOUSE.

Asheville Daily Advance. Published every day in the week (except Sunday) at the following low rates: One Year, $6.00; Six Months, $3.50; Three Months, $2.00; One Month, $1.00.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. J. L. WILKIE.—House For Rent. J. S. JONES.—Wanted.

Thus far Wilmington has sent $2,795 to Charleston.

Haywood county Superior court began yesterday.

Poles are being placed for the electric light wires.

There are about 290 orphans at the Oxford orphan asylum.

Mr. W. R. Whitson is improving, we are pleased to learn.

The election in Georgia takes place on the 6th of October.

The drive leading to Battery Park Hotel is being macadamized.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Bollison Gold Mining Co. is to be held to-day in this city.

Watch out for Tom Tohnston's report of his own speech, which he will get off at Bakersville to-day.

Mr. Geo. N. Hawkins was badly hurt on the head by falling timber at Battery Park Hotel yesterday morning.

There were but few people from the country in the city yesterday. Many of them are pulling fodder and housing tobacco.

People read the papers these days. They depend on the papers for information. Have you anything you want to say?

Mr. E. Levy is now in the North-ern markets purchasing his fall and winter goods. Look out for a big stock when he returns.

A town is financially and socially what its citizens and their neighbors make it. Condemn that town, and you condemn the people living in and near it.

Brick-laying on W. T. Reynolds' new store house on Patton Avenue was begun yesterday. It will be one of the largest and handsomest buildings in the city when completed.

When you hear a man talking against his county newspaper you may just put it down that he owes about two year's subscription and is mad because the editor wants the money.

Deputy collector W. E. Young is at home after a business trip into Henderson and Transylvania counties. He reports that a considerable amount of brandy will be made this fall and winter.

The Malone boom is still booming. From every county in the district we get the most encouraging reports. The flat has gone forth. Johnston's boot-lickers may howl as much as they please—it's no good.

Messrs. W. E. Bearden & Co. are having an addition of 25 feet made to their store on South main street. By the first of Oct. they expect to receive one of the largest and handsomest assortment of stoves ever brought to this market.

Remember the "Lawn Party" at Mr. J. E. Ray's, on Chestnut street, this afternoon and to night, from 6 to 10 o'clock. Everybody come and bring a donation and put it in the box, and then buy refreshments. For the benefit of the Mission Chapel. Come! Come!

Weather Forecast. For the week ending Wednesday, September 15:—Cool to cold weather with frosts which may extend considerably into the South—Warmer, rains in Western sections—Fine and pleasant. For the week ending Wednesday September 22nd:—Rainy and windy with severe storms in sections—High winds and storms general damage on the Lakes and Atlantic coasts—Cool and fall like.

The Latest from Japan. A new and beautiful line of Japanese were just in at Law's. A larger and finer one than ever before. New goods in Silver, Cutlery, China, Art Pottery and Glass arriving faster than they can be opened. In a few days all the fall stock will be in. Don't wait for the Grand opening. Law's, opposite Egle Hotel.

Charles Relief Fund. Mayor Aston reports the following additional funds for the Charles sufferers: Julius T. Deake, $1.00; J. G. Martin, 5.00; R. F. Jones, 1.00; Previously reported, $1,710.50; Total, $1,717.50.

Steven's Roller Process Mills. On last Saturday we visited the flouring mills of Mr. S. N. Stevens, on Hominy creek, about 4 1/2 miles south-west of the city. Having never seen the roller process in operation, we had some curiosity to know just how flour was made by that process.

After passing through the second set, it is about as coarse as fine hominy grits. After this it is passed through coarse bolting cloth. This separates the brand and finer particles of the grain, which is then passed through two other sets of rollers and thence to the bolting cloths again.

This process makes the second, third and fourth grade of flour, while the coarser, or central portion of the grain is passed through the bars and is then taken through the fine bolting cloths, or meddler machine, which makes the very best roller process flour.

Mr. Stevens has five turbine wheels, and he frequently has them all in use. In addition to his roller process flour mills, he also makes an excellent quality of corn meal.

Mr. Stevens, who originally came from Charleston, S. C., has been in the mill business about seventeen years, though he has only been using the roller process about twelve months. He is doing a very large business and is giving great satisfaction to his customers and the trade generally.

Betsy and I Are Out. "The city has been all agog the past week with the why and wherefore of the removal of a Republican from the postoffice. There should be no such anxiety on the part of so many persons to rend their linen over the action of our postmaster.

He evidently understands that his commission and his bondsmen expect him to run the postoffice on business principles. If he desires to make a change, and in doing so gives the people efficient service, whose business is it but his own? As the discharged employee himself tersely puts it, "If Mr. Weaver don't want me in his office, why I don't want to stay."

The above editorial, which appeared in the last issue of Town Topics, is calculated to do Mr. Moore a gross injustice, in that it leaves the impression that he was removed for inefficiency. Such is not the case.

When Capt. Weaver took charge of the postoffice he was petitioned by the people of Asheville, regardless of party, to retain Mr. Moore as money order clerk, for the reason that he was recognized by all to be in every way worthy and competent. He did remain, under an agreement on the part of Capt. Weaver, as we are informed, that he should hold the position permanently unless his retention should become displeasing to the democratic party.

If this be true, as we believe it is, the public generally would like to know how many members of the democratic party demanded his removal, and who they are? Wonder if the opening of the congressional campaign had anything to do with it!

New style Fall Hats in stiff and soft

They Say. That the new bank building will be ready for use by the first of October.

That the ADVANCE has created a flutter in the camps.

That the weather for the past two days has been unusually cool for the season.

That most of the visitors have left the Haywood White Sulphur Springs.

That there will be some new and important disclosures in regard to railroad matters at an early day.

That there will be several candidates before the democratic Senatorial convention on the 18th.

That Mr. H. G. Ewart will be the republican candidate for the Legislature in Henderson county.

That the county commissioners ought to purchase iron seats for the court house yard.

That the washings in front of one or two of the stores ought to be repaired.

That McDowell county, as well as Buncombe, is overflowing with flood-doodles.

That President Cleveland will feel greatly mortified when he reads the last issue of Town Topics.

That Richmond Pearson's majority in the county will reach 700.

That the bosses are greatly alarmed, and will hold a "consultation" meeting at headquarters in a few days.

That Asheville will enjoy a large trade this fall.

That Mr. J. Williams, of Burnsville, will be the republican candidate for the Legislature in Yancey.

That yesterday was about as dull a day as Asheville has had lately.

That the electric light will be a great curiosity to our mountain people.

That Maj. Malone's election is an assured fact.

That Tom Johnston has as yet failed to say whether or not he had Bynum, a Vance democrat removed, to give place for one of his own pets.

That Johnston don't carry those republican scalps his boot-licking organ boasted of around with him on the campaign.

That the Assembly of Knights of Labor at Asheville is in a flourishing condition.

That the furniture factory at the depot is doing a splendid business, and turning out some of as handsome goods as ever made in the State.

That the county campaign will begin much earlier this year than usual.

That north Asheville is building up more rapidly than any other portion of the city.

That Mr. Melton, an experienced architect, will soon locate in Asheville.

That the people will stand by the man who stood by them in the Legislature when their dearest interests were at stake.

That the people of Asheville, regardless of party, desired Mr. C. B. Moore to remain in the postoffice, because he proved himself to be a most accommodating and efficient officer.

That the verdict is unanimous. W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case."

Wanted by gentleman and wife board in private family convenient to Public Square. Address C. care ADVANCE office.

BOB TAYLOR. A Gem from the Baldheaded Democrat Who is Running Against His Brother for Governor.

To-night, my fellow-citizens, I am in the situation of an individual I once heard of. Two men had been on a drunk together and they got separated, and they met one morning and one said: "Good mornin'!" The other said: "Good evening!" Why, the other fellow said: "It's mornin'; that's the sun." "No, it's evenin'; that's the moon," replied the other. "Well, we'll leave it to the first friend we meet." They went on down the street and found a fellow holding a lamp post. "Mish'r, got question want to put to you to decide. I say 'h mornin'!" this man says 'h evenin'—want you to decide 'em?" "You'll have to 'scuse me—hic—hic—I'm stranger in this country."

I want to thank the ladies for their presence here to-night, and I want to say to them that I am their worshiper; I want to say to them that Eden was lonesome until God Almighty took from Adam a rib and made woman, and ever since that time, God bless her, she has been to man a ministering angel to wipe away the tear of grief and sorrow, to smooth the wrinkles from his brow, to scatter flowers in the pathway of his life, she is the embodiment of all that is beautiful, in her presence is expressed the perfection of beauty—it is pained upon her cheeks in heavenly smiles; flows in her ringlets, moves in her step, charms in her voice, throbs in her breast, and mingles and shines in the grace of her love, and I pray she will use her influence in the political world in her own way, and pleasure to place her humble servant in the gubernatorial chair.

Black Mountain Items. Charley Glass has been renovating his house. The girls say he has lived long enough an old Bachelor.

Samuel Wilson is looking to the fancy part of the farming of Mr. Connally, he intends to introduce the latest improvements of Agricultural implements. He has devised a cider mill of a different construction than the modern ones, which will do more work and better. During the coming winter he will deliver some agricultural talks, and hopes to interest the tillers of the soil.

Wm. Mackenfield is getting out some lumber for a barn.

Wm. Powers is the only Blacksmith in this district. He intends to order the latest improved tools from Baltimore. During the present summer he has been devoting his time to his farm.

Mr. John Auldridge has returned to High Point. Mrs. Auldridge will remain until November that her children may enjoy the mountains and fine fishing of Flat creek stream.

Mr. Walker has the frame of a store. I should think that there were more stores than is needed.

J. Mount Stepp, Esq., intends to make improvements at his Hotel grounds this fall. It has been a successful season for his house.

The Railroads of North Carolina have entirely too much influence upon the politics of the State. The people should break their power by a determined, persistent, combined effort.—Legislators should not accept Railroad passes. The railroad considers them something more than courtesies, that is sure.—Kin-ston Free Press.

The Free Press has started out on a very lonesome business when it attempts to fight the Corporations of the State. The potent influence of the seductive Free Press and other agencies have already done the work, and done it well, as was forcibly illustrated on the 25th August 1886, at Raleigh.

We hardly think any one, not in the ring, will deny the fact, that the railroad officials of the State, their retained Lawyers and a host of hireling, backed up by a subsidized press, took charge of the so called Democratic Convention and put forward such men as were favorable to them, and against the interest and wishes of the people.—Battleboro Healdlight.

Excitement in Texas. Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helplessly held, not turn in bed, or raise his head, everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds.

Wanted by gentleman and wife board in private family convenient to Public Square. Address C. care ADVANCE office.

W. W. Vandiver for the Senate. FLAT CREEK, N. C., Sept. 13th, 1886.—Messrs. Editors: As the Senatorial Convention is soon to meet I would suggest the propriety of nominating Mr. W. W. Vandiver of Marshall. Mr. Vandiver is a young man of brains and good character. He would make a strong vote in Buncombe than any other democrat you could nominate from Madison. He has never had any connection with the No Fence Law and would have no enemies in that direction. Give us Vandiver and we promise you a big Victory.

Even worse than the Newspaper Reports. Philadelphia, Pa., September 11.—Robt. McWade and Charles Haratt, Jr., of the citizens committee, returned to this city from Philadelphia to-day and made full report to the committee, picturing the scene of distress in that city even worse than the newspaper reports have made it, and state contributions must continue for a month. There must have been $30,000 raised in this city so far of this amount $2,800 has been sent to Charleston.

Destructive Fire at Danville. Danville, Va., Sept. 11.—A fire here last night destroyed Heidelberg's furniture factory, loss $25,000; no insurance; the city electric light plant, loss $9,000, no insurance; Worsham's box factory, loss $11,000, insured for $3,000; the ice factory, loss $12,000, fully insured. A man named C. W. Middleburgh, of Toledo, Ohio, perished in Heidelberg's factory.

Nineteen years ago a man in Du-Bois, Pa., lost his voice so that he could speak only in a whisper. A year ago he hurt his arm, and since then has occasionally found relief from the pain by placing it on a large driving belt that generated considerable electricity. Recently while doing so his voice suddenly and completely returned and has since been good.

Nobody loves the "soured man." He is not an agreeable companion; his sympathies have been warped, his temper made shrew, his disposition embittered—he is at odds with the world. No one very well remembers what he once was. All have forgotten the time when his hand had a firm and hearty grasp, when he loved and hoped. Every-body knows that he is cold, cross-grained, impracticable and cynical now. The world pushes him aside, society votes him a bore, and his best friends shake their heads and wonder that they ever supposed that he would amount to anything. He is a failure, and everybody knows it as well as he does.—Exchange.

IT IS ONE OF THE BOASTS OF THE JOHNSTON MEN THAT HE IS A STRONG MAN WITH THE PARTY. LET US SEE HOW THAT IS! IN THE RACE WITH EWART, THE ONLY ONE HE EVER MADE IN THE DISTRICT, HERAN BEHIND THE STATE TICKET IN EVERY COUNTY SAVE FOUR. IN THE DISTRICT HE RECEIVED 500 VOTES LESS THAN THE REGU-LAR DEMOCRAT C TICKET, AND FELL BEHIND IN HIS OWN COUNTY 104 VOTES. A MIGHTY MAN IN THE PARTY, HE IS.

WANTED.—A competent energetic man to canvass in this city for the Providence Savings Life Assurance Society, of New York. A good salary and liberal commission in addition will be paid to a first-class man. The above Old Line Company is unsurpassed in financial strength as evidenced by the report of the Insurance Commission of New York, and offers Insurance at rates that defy competition. Business easily learned. Parties desiring the place will apply to-day from 12:30 to 3 p. m., at Swan-son Hotel, to. J. S. JONES, Special Agent.

The Belief in Omens. The belief in omens is perhaps, after all, the most incredible of all superstitions. The statistics of a French insurance company demonstrate that any delay in the departure of railway travelers stimulates the sale of accident policies, even though that delay should imply no suspicion of negligence on the part of the railroad company. A Parisian buys a ticket to Brussels, stops by mistake into a Havre train discovers his blunder at the next station, and buys an insurance ticket before venturing to start in the right direction. The Brussels road may be the safest in Europe, but he accepts his mistakes as a hint that Providence interfered to "head him back," as the Texans would express it. It may be a "warning" and he wants his family to be on the safe side. Nine out of ten gamblers are biased by similar misgivings. There are roulette players who will quit the table in deference to the warning of an "unlucky number."

Others will snatch off their money at once if a fellow-gambler should happen to put his stake on the same chance. "Loads of luck break." A big hit, too, is accepted as a hint that bad luck has reached its climax and is about to change. Intrepid roughs, business men of an otherwise consistent rationalism, own the influence of fore-bodings; the traveler Gerstacker mentions a big-fisted Arkansas backwoods-man who amazed him by the confession that he was "always looking for a trout after hearing the whistle of a kildoe," a sort of small sand-piper. The philosophers of antiquity, historians who never waste a word on the mythological necessary tales of their countryman, think it necessary to mention the omens preceding every critical event in the history of their nation.—Dr. Felix L. Oswald.

The Plains of Genesareth. The sea of Galilee is probably never more beautiful than at this season of the year. Wherever its shores are cultivated they are one mass of waving grain. The chief beauty, however, lies in the oleander bushes that fringe the lake all around. Just at this season they are brilliant with flaming flowers. They grow in clumps about ten feet high, and the flowers are so plentiful that each clump has the aspect of a large bouquet arranged with naturalness that defies competition. The plain of Genesareth is partly cultivated, but still retains its "desolate appearance." Huge weeds make impassable barriers along its many marshy brooks.

This plain, from El Mejid (ancient Magdala) to Khan Meirreh, is one of the most highly favored spots in the world from the agricultural standpoint. Well might Josephus speak of it as "the ambition of nature;" there never was more fertile soil, and copious springs send perennial streams meandering in every direction. This spot will be a mine of gold to some wise capitalist as soon as a good government will guarantee perfect security. The thorn trees which we met at Jericho seem to thrive along the whole course of the Jordan, and are everywhere the home of numerous pigeons. These are especially plentiful on the plain of Genesareth, and are very tame.—Cor. Hartford Courant.

Importation of Weeds. Americans inform us that about 230 species of weeds have been imported into this country, mostly from the British islands. In 1837 they were said to be only 137. The common plantain is known among the Indians as the "Englishman's foot," as though following the steps of the white settlers. The common yellow toadflax is, it is said, introduced by Mr. Ranstead as a garden flower, and is now known as the Ranstead weed. In 1788, it had overrun the pastures in the inhabited parts of Pennsylvania, and was the cause of bitter complaints.

Chickweed is said to have been introduced as bird-seed, and the Scotch thistle arrived in a bedtick filled with thistle down. Feathers being cheap, the bed of down was replaced by feathers, and the former thrown by the wayside. The seed soon found a congenial home. There is a troublesome American water-weed, however (Anacharis alsinistrum), which has avenged our transatlantic cousins threefold by choking our ponds, rivers and canals. Another little intruder from the cape (zozila pinna) may be troublesome. It is a charming little aquatic, and most interesting under the microscope. Some one had thrown a handful of it on a pond we wot of, where the common duckweed (lennu) flourished; but azolla quickly monopolized the whole surface and crowded out the duckweed.—Chamber's Journal.

Mingling of Different Bloods. Every individual must be regarded as a very complex mingling of widely different bloods. To go no farther back than the grandparents he must be composed of at least fourteen different natures. It is not to be wondered at that such a multiplicity of combinations should lead to great variations. The wonder seems rather that members of a family should resemble one another as much as they undoubtedly do. Sometimes in face, sometimes in form, frequently in the gait, gesture, and tone of voice, family peculiarities make themselves apparent. To many of these traits Mr. Francis Dalton has devoted his attention. His latest interest has been shown in the color of the eye. The tints of the eye, for the purposes of his inquiry, were divided into "light," "hazel" and "dark gray," and "dark." "The heritage of peculiarity" in relation to eye-color for any child was found to amount to one-fourth from each parent and one-sixteenth from each grandparent.—Chicago News.

Mexico's Manufacturing City. Leon, Guanajuato, is the great manufacturing city. Every week are made there 10,000 saddles, 25,000 common blankets, 10,000 fine blankets, 28,000 pairs of shoes for men, 20,000 pairs for women, and 30,000 pairs for children.—Chicago Times.

There are 200,000 Italian settlers in the Argentine republic, 82,000 in Brazil, 40,000 in Uruguay, and 6,000 in Mexico.

LOCAL ANNOUNCEMENT. —OF— Asheville Female College.

The fall term opens Wednesday, Sept. 14 at 9 o'clock. A. M. Parents are earnestly urged to send their children in on the first day.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be devoted to the organization of the Department of formation of classes.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION. Rev. JAMES ATKINS, Jr., A. M., President. HENRY E. ATKINS, A. M., Mathematics and Natural Sciences. Rev. P. S. SUMMERS, A. M., Mental and Moral Sciences. Miss J. E. McLOUID, Literature and Preparatory Department. Miss SALLIE FISK WEAVER, Assistant. Miss KATHARINE C. OMBUDGI, Modern Languages and Art. Miss V. KELLEY, Instrumental and Vocal Music.

Miss KELLEY who takes charge of the Musical Department was educated in the Cincinnati Conservatory and has been for several years in charge of the Department of Music in the Kentucky Female College. A new and valuable feature in the curriculum of this college is the holding of a monthly musicale in the Literary Hall. These entertainments will be given to patrons and invited guests. Pupils will play by appointment, and will be given the opportunity to inspire the pupils to faith and conscientious practice and to prepare them for easy and graceful appearance in society.

Change of Term of Five Months. Primary Department $8.00 $10.00 $12.50. Preparatory " " " $15.00. French and German " " " $15.00. Collegiate Departments $25.00. Tuition in Instrumental or Vocal Music, Special Lessons, $25.00.

There are in connection with the College two large Green-houses in which all kinds of Botany whether regular, or special, have free access for observation during the summer. This affords a rare opportunity for the study of the principles of botany, and the results of a practical knowledge.

Patronage. The patronage of the College under the present administration has extended to Maine, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, South Carolina, North Carolina, Florida, Louisiana, Georgia, Virginia, W. Virginia, Tennessee, Mississippi, Texas, Arkansas and Indian Territory.

The number of pupils in attendance last session was 150.

Medal Pupils of 1885. Bearden Medal for highest scholarship: Miss Mary Spain, Sallis, Miss M. A. Allen, Wilson, Leopold, N. C. Sawyer Medal for best English Essay: Miss Mary Spain, Sallis, Miss H. H. E. Historic Medal for best Reading: Miss Fannie Ferguson, Waynesville, N. C. Art Medal: Miss Sallie Fisk Weaver, Waynesville, N. C.

The Primary, Preparatory and Collegiate courses are thoroughly re-organized so that pupils beginning in the elementary branches are there thoroughly drilled and then taken on through a uniform course to full graduation. Parents who intend to educate their daughters in the College would do well therefore to enter them at as early an age as convenient. In order that patrons may easily avail themselves of this arrangement, the tuition in the Primary Department is, as stated above, $10, $25 and $50 per month, according to the grade of the pupil. The course is extensive; the teaching thorough; the discipline strict and judicious. For annual catalogue giving full particulars, address. Rev. JAMES ATKINS, Jr., Asheville, N. C. sept 14
