Friday. The Republican senatorial convention will meet in this city Friday. Col. V. S. Lusk will no doubt be the nominee.

The State convention of the Re publicans will be held in Raleigh to-morrow. Several delegates from Buncombe will leave to-day.

In the light of recent political events hereabouts, flopdoodling is a highly esthetic and altogether respectable busines in the demot cratic ranks.

Mr. T. H. Lindsay, Photographer, who has been on a business trip to Knoxville, Tenn., has returned to the city, and can be found at his place, Taylor's old stand, opposite Eagle hotel, where he is fully prepared to execute work in his 'line at short notice and in the best style.

From the general reports and the observations of the Government Scientist, Director Powell concludes that the earthquake had its centre in North and South Carolin. to the North-east of Charleston. The land area of the earthquake was one-third of the total area of the United States, and the mans which have been prepared distance in fifteen m. ques.

Many people ask questions bout the game laws of this State. Tuls synopsis of times when game may and may not be killed auswers them: Deer, August 15 to February 15, except in the counties of Johnston and those east of the Wilmington & Weldon railroad. Partridges, quails, doves, robins, larks, mocking birds and wild turkeys, October 15 to April 1, except in the counties of Clay, Cherokee, Graham, Jackson, Macon, Swain, Transylvania, Tyrrell, Johnston, Jones, Dare, Onslow, Corteret and Columbus.

Col. J. L. Thomas announces through the Baltimore American that he has "bought a range of mountains in North Carolina, and will next season open the greatest summer resort in the world. It will have every convenience, from a shower bath to an earthquake. Earthquakes will be served bot or cold, as the guest may desire." We wonder if he paid down the purchase money. That is the kind of a "shake up" for which North Carolinians have a weakness.-Star. Brass Buttons.

The difference between Pearbrass buttons and Jones brass buttons is this: That Pearson pays for his brass buttons and puts them on his servants; while the people pay for Jones' brass buttons wherewithal that gaudy hero adorns his martial person and struts and cuts his military shines in these piping times of peace.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Odgen's Far cical Comedy Company closed their engagement of two nights at the Opera Hall last evenig. The performance by this excellent company Saturday night was witnessed by a small, but appreciative audidiance, and last night a good house greeted the company. The company is composed of much dramatic talent, in fact every member is well up in the profession. If they ever return to this city, we can assure them of a good house.

In the issue of the ADVANCE on Sanday morning, under the column raised $90 for the Charleston suf- headed "They Say," it is stated Mr. H. A. THE ADVANCE will not do an in tentional injustice but will not be driven from its duty when justice and truth are subserved.

They Say.

That a goodly number of summer visitors still remain in the Land of the Sky.

That a question of absorbing public interest is, when the new bank building will be completed.

That the speech of Adjutant General J. Jones, declining the nomination before it was tendered, was the finest make-believe effort of the 19th century.

That while it was Madison's turn to have the Senator, smiling Bobby tendered the nomination to Mr. Pearson a week before the convention met. (Of course the nomination was at Bob's disposal.)

That on the night of the 2nd day of November, Ki and the Gener-al, with Tom Johnston as musical director, will give a concert at the Opera Hall, in this city, for the benefit of defeated candidates. The entertainment will open with a touching rendition of that martial air, by the Gener-al, "The dead march in Saul," to be followed by Adjuant-General, and put over a solo declamation by the guileless the head of all old soldiers of Ki, "It might have been." But it was not only as a debater that Major Malone excelled. As a humorist he was equally successful. Having occasion to refer to the advocacy of Capt. NATT ATKINSON.

In an Asiatic Rabble. The streets in front of the Tiftic jecoghlou residence is , swarmed with people. It is the worst mob I have seen on the journey; excitement runs high, and their shouts of "bin bacalem!" can, most assuredly, be heard for miles. We are enveloped by clouds of dust, raised by zaptich, in heavy top-boots and a brand new uniform, heavy enough for winter, works like a beaver to protect the bicycle, until, with perspiration and dust, his face is 'streaked and tattooed simply occupy ourselves in protecting the bicycle from the crush, and reasoning with the mob; but the only satisfaction we obtain in reply to anything we say is "bin baccalem."

One or two pig-headed, obstreperous young men near us, emboldened by our apparent helplessness, persist in handling the bicycle, after being pushed away several times; one of them even assumes a menacing attitude toward me the last time I thrust his meddlesome hand away. Under such circumstances retributive stice, prompt and impressive, is the only politic course to pursue; so, leaving the bicycle to the zaptich a moment, in the absence of a stick, I feel justified in favoring the culprit with a brief, pointed esson in the noble art of self-defense, the first boxing lesson over given in Yuzgat. In a western mob, this would have been anything but an act of discretion, probably, but with these people it has a salutary effect; the idea of attempting retaliation is the farthest of anything from their thoughts, and in all the obstreperous crowd there is, perhaps, not one but what is quite delighted at either seeing ana of Allah that is didn't happen to be

The middle and lower classes are divided also into clearly defined strata. The heavy bankers, manufacturers, and merchants, scientists and professors in universities make up one stratum; the next consists of the same class, only less prominent; then follows the stratum composed of the shopkeepers, small manufacturers, etc., after which come the bookkeepers, teachers, foremen, and superintendents; then the skilled working class, after which come the common laborers. Each stratum toadies to the stratum above, and turns up its nose at the stratum below. MAYOR COURTENEY AGAIN STATES CHARLESTON'S NEEDS.

An Appeal to the People For Yet Greater Aid.

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 17 .-Mayor Courtenay to-day issued the following proclamation; To the public: The city council of Charleston at its last regular meeting took the following action: "Whereas a terrible calamity has befallen November next. whereas it is evident that the liber and spontaneous a-sistance of the country and from England, and which is deeply appreciated and gratefully acknowledged by our people, will wholl insufficient to meet our unexpected exigencies, be it resolved that the mayor be requested to prepare and issue an address to the public, setting forth our condition and invoking additional aid for this stricken city."

In making known to the general public this declaration of the municipal government as to the condition of our city at this time it seems to me unnecessary that I should add any words ef my own. The unfortunate facts are before the country, by the statements of disinterested visitors from different parts of the land, after peronol observations, and are known here and deeply felt. I ask the press of the United States to give this proclamation the benefit of its far-reaching circulation. (Signed) William E. Courtenay.
