Weather Indications.
(By Telegram to the Advance.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—Virginia—Rain followed by fair weather; warmer northerly winds. North and South Carolina—Rain followed by fair weather, becoming warmer; northwesterly winds. West Virginia—Fair weather becoming cooler; northwesterly winds, becoming variable.

The streets are getting muddy again.

Work on the streets is progressing rapidly.

Mayor Aston had two cases before him yesterday.

There are 3,000 insane persons in North Carolina.

J. Wiley Shook, of Clyde, is visiting the city.

The stand-pipe for the new water supply is nearing completion.

Texas is to vote on a prohibition amendment the first Thursday in August.

Buncombe Superior court convenes next Monday. Judge Graves will preside.

We will publish tomorrow an open letter to "Bill Nye" which will be found full of interest.

How about the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad selling out to the R. & D. R. Co. See our dispatches today.

F. H. Helton, colored, was yesterday committed to jail by Chas. W. Malone, Esq., on a charge of larceny.

Flagging stone of an excellent quality two feet wide, to be used for street crossings, is being hauled on the streets.

Justice Malone's court was in session nearly all day yesterday. Several important cases were tried and disposed of.

We are notified by Mr. A. S. Loomis the observer, of the temporary suspension of the weather signals at this place, perhaps until July.

The Superior court of Buncombe county convenes next Monday. A calendar of cases for the first week has already been published.

There seems to be a general desire expressed by our people that the county authorities have the court house painted and pencilled.

All the ladies of the Methodist Church are requested to meet at the church this afternoon at 4 o'clock, without fail. Important business.

The new dam for the water-works on Swannanoa river is nearly completed, and we are informed that parties will be here in a few days for the purpose of putting up the pumping machines.

We are glad to report that the effort to move the normal school from Asheville to Bakersville proved a failure. Our people are under obligations to our Senator and Representatives for this result.

The result of the murder trial at Marshall has not yet been received. The case went to the jury night before last. Only one of the defendants was on trial, a severance having been made of the case. The other defendant will not be tried at this term.

Ere long we hope to see the old wooden building on the corner of Patton Avenue and Main street, replaced by a handsome four or five story brick and iron structure. This is decidedly the most valuable piece of real estate to its size in the city of Asheville and should have a magnificent business block upon it. It is the best stand for business in the city.

New Goods! New Goods!!
The new Spring stock is arriving now, a larger and more complete one than ever before. A lot of Library Lamps just in, and offered at even lower prices than before. We offer a good Brass Library Lamp, complete, at $2.25, a fine one at $3.25, a very handsome one with full tinted and decorated shade, cut glass prisms for $6.50. Our stock of Stands and Lamps is very complete. Good Glass Stand Lamps at 35c., and from that up.

The Work Completed.

Messrs. Cole & Gillett, the contractors for putting down the pipe for the new water works, have completed their contract, having put down the main line from the water works, on Swannanoa river to the stand-pipe and completed the laying of the pipe on the various streets in the city.

Personal.

Sheriff R. L. Davis, of Swain county, was in the city, last night.

We were pleased to meet in the city, yesterday, Capt. A. Q. Ross, of Cincinnati, who will make this his future home.

An Ice Factory.

Among the manufacturing establishments that have long been situated in this city is an ice factory. For sometime, the question of putting a plant here for the manufacture of ice has been talked of and our people have felt much interest in the establishment of such an enterprise. But, we are glad to be able to state now, as a certainty, that the factory will be in operation in a very few months.

The machinery has already been ordered, and all other necessary arrangements are now being made. The gentleman who is at the head of this enterprise, is Mr. A. Q. Ross, a capitalist of Cincinnati, Ohio.

We were informed by him yesterday, that he had ordered one of the celebrated ice machines from the Blymyer Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and proposes to have the machine in operation by June 1st, next. All ice will be made from distilled water, and will be absolutely pure in every particular. We have not yet learned the exact location of the factory.

We hope that our citizens will give the enterprise all the encouragement in their power, and by that means, help to build up our city. If we want factories in our midst, we must show our appreciation by extending to them our patronage.

MURDER WILL OUT

Arrest and Commitment of Allen DeHart, Charged with the Murder of Jesse Tabor

About two weeks ago, there was considerable excitement in the county of Swain, over the finding of the dead body of Jesse Tabor, on the bank of the Tuckasee river, a few miles above Charleston, the county seat. He had been shot in the back, and the deed had evidently been committed several days previous to the finding.

For a while, there was no clue to the perpetration of this foul and fiendish act, but recent developments were made, which pointed very strongly towards one Allen DeHart as the murderer. A warrant was issued for him, and his arrest made last Saturday. He was tried before a Justice of the Peace at Charleston last Monday, and committed to Buncombe county jail for safe keeping, until the June term of Swain Superior court. Sheriff Davis, of Swain, arrived in the city yesterday with the prisoner and delivered him to Sheriff Worley.

We are informed by Sheriff Davis that the evidence against DeHart is purely circumstantial, but very strong. Since the development which led to his arrest, public opinion is very unfavorable to him. The motive for the crime is thought to be jealousy.

THE GOODLAKE CASE

JUDGE GRAVES' WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Additional Particulars of the Most Remarkable Case in the History of the State.

And the Action of Sheriff Conner and his Guards.

What Will be the Result?

We are enabled to give this morning additional information in regard to the sensation which occurred at Marshall Sunday night, growing out of the Chas. Goodlake case.

Sheriff Chandley, of Madison county, in submitting his return to his Honor, Judge Graves, in his writ of habeas corpus, issued by him on the 6th instant, for the relief of Goodlake, alleged to be illegally deprived of his liberty in the custody of J. E. Conner, Sheriff of Hamilton county, Tennessee, states in substance:

"That on the 6th day of March, 1887, he received the writ from His Honor, directed to J. E. Conner, commanding the said Conner to bring before His Honor, at Marshall, immediately the body of Goodlake, and understanding that the prisoner was on the west-bound passenger train of the W. N. C. Railroad, due at Marshall, N. C., at 8:43, p. m., en route for Tennessee.

On the arrival of the train at the Marshall depot, he in company with his deputy, M. W. Lince, boarded said train, and learning that Goodlake was imprisoned in the second class coach of the train, he forced his way into said coach, overcoming a slight resistance at the door, where he found Goodlake, handcuffed in the custody of A. C. Patterson, W. H. Deaver, J. D. Croft and a man afterwards known to him by the name of S. J. Howard. He made known to them the contents of the writ by serving a copy thereof, but the parties having the prisoner in custody. When they declined to obey its mandates, he then read to them his deputation from the Judge to execute the writ, and demanded the prisoner, when the further execution of the writ was resisted with armed violence. Their reason for not giving up the prisoner was that the writ must be served on Conner, being addressed to him, who up to this time, could not be found. Learning that Conner had but a short time previous been on the train, and the actual custodian of the prisoner, he instituted a diligent search through the train, and after overcoming much difficulty, finally discovered Conner in the mail coach, disguised in the clothes, cap, coat and overalls of the fireman, concealed under a pile of mail bags.

Upon discovering the whereabouts of Conner he demanded the copy of the writ of the parties in custody of the prisoner and upon its being refused him, he immediately made known to Conner the contents of the original writ who took it from his hand, as he supposed to satisfy himself as to the contents thereof and obey its mandates. Instead of this, Conner escaped over the tender with the writ in his hands and immediately the train was put in motion for Unaka, six miles west of Hot Springs, in Tennessee, and he saw no more of him. Immediately after this and before the train pulled out of the station at Hot Springs the parties in custody of the prisoner were advised that the writ had been served on Conner. They then declined to surrender the prisoner unless so directed by Conner. It is not known what course Judge Graves will pursue in the premises. We will keep our readers advised as to the final results of the case.

We were misinformed as to the statement of Col. Lusk that he advised the parties they were not bound to obey the writ unless served on Conner. He informs us that he advised them that the party having custody of the prisoner was bound to obey the writ, whether they were named in the writ or not.

Western North-Carolina vs. "Fluridder."

"In the latter day talk 'Fluridder' shall select."

"A word to the wise is sufficient." I merely use the above to show you the force of my argument, which I know will have great weight with the "poet inhabitants" of Asheville.

Let me tell you what a great future is before Asheville, provided such suggestions as I shall offer are approved. Our town is known to many thousands, not from the great amount of advertising it has had, but from what people who have been here have said regarding its advantages to their friends and relations. They come, and will come—bringing with them money, not to look at, but to spend. How? Buying a winter or summer home. What first? The climate, the natural advantages of favorable climate, and come here—the meeting point of the two extremes. Here, where the northern apple and the tropical peach grow in the same garden, the Irish potato and the Arabian nutmeg in the same patch.

Now, the Northern gentleman who looks for a winter or summer home, will look for a place where he can get a good crop of Irish potatoes and Arabian nutmegs, and where he can get a good crop of Irish potatoes and Arabian nutmegs, and where he can get a good crop of Irish potatoes and Arabian nutmegs.

He will look for a place where he can get a good crop of Irish potatoes and Arabian nutmegs, and where he can get a good crop of Irish potatoes and Arabian nutmegs, and where he can get a good crop of Irish potatoes and Arabian nutmegs.

RAILROAD RUMORS!

SULLY SCOOPS IN THE BALTIMORE & OHIO.

And Now Controls the Greatest Railroad System in the World.

Excitement Over the Matter in Railway Circles.

PRESIDENT GARRETT RETICENT ON THE SUBJECT.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Times this morning is authorized to announce that the control of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company has passed into the hands of Alfred Sully of New York. Sully, it says, has written a contract by virtue of which President Garrett puts him in possession. In an article, over a column long, the Times says: "Possibilities of this new control, one beyond estimation. By the acquisition of the B. & O. Sully and his friends become controllers of what is probably the most extensive railroad system in the world. It stretches from New York almost to the uttermost points of the South, and far into the West. It includes the Central Road, of New Jersey, Philadelphia & Reading system, Richmond & Potomac, and Richmond & Chesapeake properties, etc., etc. It also includes the Central Railroad of Georgia, and that of the Baltimore & Ohio, and of these properties it is estimated that there are over 16,000 miles of track.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 9.—(Sully) Garrett president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company, was seen today, but had nothing to say in regard to the reported arrangement, for the transfer of the control of that road.

The New York Times, containing the statement, which appears to be authentic, has created a sensation in this city, as the corporation is largely interested in the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and there are private interests which are opposed to the control of the road going out of Baltimore & Ohio hands.

The Baltimore & Ohio road has been looked upon as a Baltimore enterprise, and while Garrett has preserved reticence as to everything that has been rumored, there are many who fear that there is truth in the statements which were published in the Times.

There is a conviction here that if the road shall pass into other hands, the express and telegraph systems will go with it.

The matter is discussed on the Exchange, and street corners, and, while some approve, many condemn the action.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 9.—(Sully) Garrett has been seen since one o'clock, today, and the statement in the Times was read by him. He still persisted that he has nothing to say about the rumored deal. It is stated, however, by one to whom Garrett talked, that he used the expression: "We are in New York."

Excitement increases here, because of the refusal of Garrett to make any communication in regard to the matter. The most careful inquiry cannot discover that the city authorities have been consulted, though the city owns more than one fifth of the entire stock of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

The city with the John Hopkins University and the Garrett family own a majority of the stock. In the telegraphic circles there appears as much ignorance of what has been going on as elsewhere. The people here generally have settled down to the conclusion that the deal has been effected and that Baltimore will become only a way-station in the great road system.

A Little War.
New York, March 9.—The Evening Post in its financial articles, says the agitation of the street and general public has been concentrated upon the progress of the scheme for the amalgamation of half a dozen great railroad properties under control of the Richmond Terminal syndicate, with so much speculation about its success, that even when it was openly and positively stated by members of the syndicate that they had acquired control of the Baltimore & Ohio, speculators and others apparently waited for further developments to show the extent of the whole scheme before taking much interest in the market.

The prevailing belief is that the settlement of the telegraph war will be one of the results of the Jersey Central, Reading, B. & O., and Richmond Terminal combination. It is acknowledged that the B. & O. would like to part with its telegraph property, which, in the present

Western Union Stock Increased.
NEW YORK, March 9.—The Western Union Telegraph directors today voted to pass a dividend for the current quarter. The resolution was passed with the consent of the stockholders, the stock of the company should be increased by $1,200,000 to take up scrip to that amount, issued last April.

Bomber Exploded.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., March 9.—The boiler of Gibbs' shingle mill near Elmora, early this morning, exploded with terrific force, completely wrecking the mill. Two men were instantly killed. Names not known, and six or seven were seriously wounded, one of whom will probably die. No cause has yet been assigned for accident.

A $125,000 Fire.
WALLA WALLA, W. T., March 9.—The fire yesterday morning destroyed five frame houses on Main street. The buildings were mostly old but were in a good locality and were occupied by numerous successful small dealers. Total losses $125,000, insurance $40,000. The remains of two persons have been found in the ruins. One of the bodies is known to be that of a physician named John Bell, the other is unknown, but is probably that of a Chinaman. The fire was incendiary.

Convicts Surrender.
LANCASTER, Pa., March 9.—William and Green, convicts in the Lancaster county prison, who yesterday procured the keeper's revolver and defied the authorities, surrendered this morning. During the night they attempted to break through the wall, but were unsuccessful. They have been placed in solitary confinement.
