

PAVEMENT PARAGRAPHS.

Items of Interest Concerning Our City and Section.

Mr. Lash, the able president of the C. F. and Y. V. R. R. spent Sunday and Monday in the city.

Mrs. Gazzam, wife of State Senator Gazzam, of Philadelphia, is at Kenilworth Inn for the summer.

Mr. J. A. Gwaltney, of this county, cured his first barn of new tobacco this week. He says the quality is fair.

The fall term of Madison court began Monday, Hon J. H. Merrimon presiding. A number of our city bar are in attendance.

Merchants in various sections of the State are refusing to pay the purchase tax, pending a suit to test its constitutionality.

Mr. H. M. Smith has been awarded the contract for building stone culverts over the branches which cross North and South Main streets. He will do good work.

An accident to the machinery of the Electric Light Company caused the streets of the city to be as dark as a country road for more than one night lately.

We were pleased to see our friends C. C. Daniels, of Franklin, J. W. Cooper, of Murphy, and R. L. Leatherwood, of Bryson City, in the city this week. They were here on professional business.

A. P. Blair, a prominent young man of Wytheville, Va., a son of ex-Att'y. Gen. T. S. Blair, of Virginia, was accidentally killed in endeavoring to board a freight train at Max Meadows, Va., on the morning of July 31st. The young gentleman was a nephew of Mr. W. P. Blair of this city.

Mr. R. H. Hues, for several years chief engineer of the Electric Light and Power Co., resigned his position and will go into the coal and wood business this fall. Mr. Hues is a young gentleman of energy and capacity and will win success in any enterprise. We wish him much success.

The meeting of the State Alliance at Morehead promises to be a very interesting and important affair. A very large attendance is expected. Reduced rates have been fixed by the various railroads, and tickets will be on sale from the 8th to the 15th, good to return until the 20th inst. We hope a large delegation of our farmers will attend.

C. E. Yarboro, Esq., editor of the Atlanta Southern Appeal, was in the city last week. The Appeal is the only paper published in the South in the interest of the Democratic party and edited by a colored man. Mr. Yarboro is a North Carolinian by birth, well educated, a man of high character, and edits the Appeal with ability. We are pleased to know his paper is well sustained.

On petition of a number of citizens of Asheville, Reems creek, Flat creek and Ivy townships, the county commissioners on Monday, ordered a new election on the appropriation to the A., A. & B. railroad to be held October 17th. A new registration was also ordered.

The Institute for the colored teachers commenced on Monday, held in the colored graded school building on College street. The Institute was opened with prayer by Rev. F. M. Jacobs, Maj. Way, county superintendent, addressed the teachers, also several colored men and women interested in education. The Institute will continue till Friday, when it closes.

Sanitary Inspector Brevard asks the active co-operation of all citizens in keeping the city clean. Back lots and yards, stables, &c., &c., must be cleaned and kept clean. This is very important and is a duty every citizen owes himself and the city to have done.

The horses used by the Asheville Transfer Co. are an object lesson for our people. They show the advantage of heavy, muscular horses for draft purposes over the ordinary horse in use. It costs no more to feed them than the ordinary kind, and their capacity for work is fully double.

Maj. Chas. M. Stedman, who has been absent in Europe for six weeks, returned on Monday. Maj. Stedman looks extremely well, and says his two voyages across the Atlantic made a new man of him physically. He left his wife and daughter in England. Maj. Stedman will enter actively upon the practice of law in Asheville. His office is over the Battery Park Bank.

Three spans of the bridge across the Tennessee river on the Murphy branch of the W. N. C. railroad was washed away in the freshest on Sunday morning last. The heavy rain fall of the past few days did considerable damage to crops in the west also. Superintendent Bridges left Asheville Sunday with a force of hands to commence the work of repairing the bridge. No delay in the running of the trains occurred.

Cannot something be done to repair the sidewalks of the city? Walking is getting to be out of the question with many people—especially ladies. Near the corner of Charlotte street on Chestnut, there is a pond of water, and people who walk that street are forced to wade. A few hands with shovels could, in a short time, open the drains and let the water off.

Dr. E. H. Greene.

It was with much pleasure that a few days ago we met on our streets this old time visitor to our city. We warmly welcome him again among us in the name of suffering humanity. His wonderful skill in the cure of that worst of all diseases that afflict humanity, cancer, and his well known candor in dealing with all so afflicted, long ago won for him the perfect confidence of all our people. He is a thoroughly educated and perfectly reliable physician. His long experience and unusual opportunities in the treatment and management of cancers and other chronic diseases, together with his sterling honesty in the opinions which he gives all who consult him as to the probability of their cure, make him a safe and reliable counsellor to all the afflicted. See his card in another column.

"Oh, if I had only taken this medicine earlier in life, what years of suffering it would have saved me!" was the touching exclamation of one who had been cured of rheumatism by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Scores of such cases are on record.

Spurgeon Says Hats Off.

Mr. Spurgeon has always been perfectly appalling in his readiness to deal with insolence in the house of God. The finest case on record is, perhaps, one in which three young fellows came in and settled themselves conspicuously in the gallery with their hats on. In vain the officials requested them to uncover.

Of course Mr. Spurgeon's eye was soon upon them, and leading his discourse around to the respect which all Christians are bound to show for the feelings of others, "My friends," he said, "the other day I went into a Jewish synagogue, and I naturally uncovered my head; but on looking around I perceived that all the rest wore their hats, and so not wishing to offend against what I supposed to be their reverence, I conformed to Jewish use and put on my hat. I will now ask those three young Jews up in the gallery to show the same deference to our Christian practice in the house of God as I was prepared to show them when I visited their synagogue, and take off their hats."

He would indeed be a pedant and a prig who could refuse a sympathetic smile of approval, even in the sanctuary, to a rebuke so genial, so witty and so just!—Contemporary Review.

Water in the Bible.

The question of water goes back much further than was stop to think. For example, we are told in the book of Joshua that when Caleb's daughter Achisah was given to General Othniel in consideration of his capture of the city of Debir, and the matter of her dowry was being discussed, she said to her father: "Thou hast given me a south land; give me also springs of water." She understood that the tract sloping southward toward the deserts of Arabia was mountainous, swept by hot winds and deficient in rain supply. So she wanted besides a piece of land well watered and fertile, that it might be profitably cultivated. Caleb was so well pleased with the victory won for him by Othniel that he could deny the bride nothing. "And he gave her," the record adds, "the upper springs and the nether springs"—more than she had asked, as fathers are apt to do with daughters whom they rear and love, only to lose when the inevitable bridegroom comes.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Calming the Waves by Prayer.

An old traveler tells me that in a voyage from Messina to Malta he saw the captain, an experienced sailor, standing at the bow muttering and pointing with his finger. On being asked what he was doing he replied that he was breaking the force of a fatal wave by making the sign of the cross and saying prayers proper for such an occasion.—St. Louis Republic.

Multum in Parvo.

Because a thing is small in size, Think not 'twill do to scorn it; Some insects have a larger waist, But lift less than the hornet.

Some people may, perhaps, scorn, on account of their diminutiveness, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. But a trial of them convinces the most scornful skeptic, that they will cure constipation, dyspepsia, sick and bilious headache, quicker and surer than their large waisted competitors, the old-style pill.

From the Baird pasture on Elk Mountain near Asheville, during last week, a bay mare, black main and tail, medium size, about ten years old, a knot on her left hind hock, and white spot on her forehead and on her back. A NEW DEPARTURE.

See What the Wash Will Do—Chronic Bilious Colic.

As a family medicine for general use I consider Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy ahead of anything I have ever seen; we try it for everything, on man and beast; and like a good friend, it is always ready to help us. I was a frequent sufferer from severe attacks of colic; at such times I would take a big dose, a wine-glass and a half full, which always gave me immediate relief, and its continued use has entirely cured me of the trouble. Being a farmer, I frequently have accidents among my stock. On one occasion I poured some of the Wash on a hog which had been badly bitten and torn by dogs and the places were alive with vermin; as soon as the Wash touched the affected parts the vermin would leave and there was no further trouble. I have saved two valuable head of stock by an application of the Wash, and unlike other things usually used, it is perfectly painless. I think all farmers who own stock should try this great remedy in such cases. It is worth its weight in gold. If all knew the worth of your Remedy and Wash, I do not think you could supply the demand. Bethel Hill. ARCH. C. WOODY.

Mrs. Person's remedies are for sale at Grant's Pharmacy, South Main street, Asheville, N. C.

A signal service to weak womankind is the finding of lost health—the building-up of "a run-down" system. Nothing does it so surely as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures all the derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to the sex. It's the most perfect of strength-givers, imparting tone and vigor to the whole system. For overworked, debilitated teachers, milliners, seamstresses, "shop-girls," nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, it is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. "Favorite Prescription" gives satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it is promptly refunded. That's the way it's sold; that's the way its makers prove their faith in it. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange digestion; a legitimate medicine, not a beverage. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system.
