FIKSK AND BROOKS.

This was the first Presidential ticket put in the field. It is the prohibition ticket, with woman's rights tacked on as an annex. Clinton B. Fisk of New Jersey and James A. Brooks of Missouri are the men. Mr. Fisk was a General in the war, and is represented as a man of high character and ability. He is a Methodist and conspicuous in church work. He is largely interested in the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, and is considered wealthy. For many years he has been identified with the prohibition party, and in 1886 he was the nominee of that party for Governor of New Jersey, polling 19,500 votes, the largest number ever cast for a prohibition candidate in that State. His associate on the ticket is said to be of Virginia descent.

The prohibitionists do not expect to win in the contest, but they expect to poll such a vote as to alarm the other parties and compel recognition by the lawmakers. The knowing ones among them claim that the prohibition vote at the approaching election will be over 700,000, whereas the vote for St. John in 1884 was only a little over 150,000. In this estimate Ohio is put down for 35,000 votes, Pennsylvania 35,000, New Jersey 30,000, Texas 40,000, Vermont 25,000, Wisconsin 25,000, New York 75,000, Michigan 40,000, Illinois 50,000, Kentucky 20,000, Minnesota 18,000, and so on.

TRUSTS.

On the subject of "Trusts and the People," the New York Herald has the following striking comment to make: "But there is a still greater evil in these capitalistic combinations. They not only so cover the field that individual effort is paralyzed, but in the pursuit of their monopoly they buy the services of the ablest men—the brains of the country—and by paying the large salaries and rewards which an established monopoly, and that alone, can afford, they suborn the intellect of the nation for their purposes. Thus in these times we see the ablest lawyers, the ablest chemists, and the greatest inventors, the most ingenious mechanics, the most competent business managers in the pay of great corporations, combinations and trusts, doing obediently the unscrupulous will of the aggregated and selfish capital which employs them. Thus we see more and more, even our public men the servants of trusts and corporations. The Senate of the United States is notoriously full of such, and at the head of them shamelessly stands the chief of a great combine, Senator Stanford, a person of no ability in public affairs, whose voice is unheard in the Senate except in defence of the corporation of which he is the head."

No Man a Necessity.

Says an old man, moralizing in the Atlanta Constitution: "There is no doubt that a man is very soon forgotten. I have thought about it a great deal, and I tell you that when a man is dead he is gone. It is painful to me to take an active part in paying a tribute to a distinguished friend after his death, for I know how little it amounts to. We talk about the man's good example, and the influence of his life, and the loss the country or the State has suffered, but it is mere jargon. When a man is dead he is gone, and that is the last of him down here. There was our old friend, do you know he thought the State would go to wreck and ruin when he died? Well, he is virtually forgotten, and the State is running on just as it did before. No, it makes no difference who it is and what he has done, when he is dead he is gone; yes, gentlemen, when a man is dead he is gone!"

The Internal Taxes.

Richmond Dispatch.

We applaud the manliness of the Democrats of North Carolina. In State Convention assembled, they will not only declare, as the Roanoke Convention in Virginia did last year, for the Blair bill or some better bill in aid of general education, but they demand the unconditional abolition of the whole internal revenue system as a war tax not to be justified in time of peace. In caucus in Washington City, the North Carolina members of Congress showed the same spirit, and stood up for their rights. It is a little too much to ask of human nature to expect the Democratic Congressman from Virginia and North Carolina not to vote for the abolition of the internal taxes on fruit brandies and tobacco. Even the national convention of the prohibitionists declared on Thursday last for "the immediate abolition of the internal revenue system." Why should any Democrat hesitate to vote in the interest of his constituents?

Messrs. Fitzpatrick Bros., 26 North Main street, paper hangers and painters, have one of the most elegant and attractive lines of wall paper that has ever been exhibited in this city. Every shade and design, from the cheapest to the most costly, can be found at their establishment. In addition to this, they keep constantly a full and complete assortment of paints, oils, varnishes, and painters' supplies generally. Parties wishing anything in their line would do well to see these gentlemen before buying elsewhere.

A full line of Toilet articles, Rubber goods, combs, hair and tooth brushes, bottled mineral waters, Lubin's, Wright's, Atkinson's and Lundborg's extracts and Toilets water. Prescriptions carefully prepared and delivered promptly to any part of the city.

THE GREATEST WORD PAINTER

—IN AMERICA—

DECLINING AN INVITATION TO JOIN WITH THE "CLOVER CLUB,"

I regret that it is impossible for the "clover" with you to-morrow. A word is "clover." It means money and cream; that is to say—industry and contentment; that is to say—the happy and perfumed fields, and at the cottage gate, the bountiful, serenely cheering, and dimpled babes, of wholesome loving words, that like a benediction falls between all and sleep. This clover makes me dream happy hours—of childhood's rosy cheeks, of a heaven of this and that, and earth. Cut of the "r" alone and there remains a warm, deceitful bud that swells and keeps peace in countless hives whose masters frequent clubs. After Bottom was right: "Good hay, sweet hay, hath no fellow."
