MANUFACTURED ICE.

For the information of the public and to correct erroneous ideas on the subject of artificial ice, we give the following facts in regard to the manufacture of ice: Our manner of making ice is to distill the water by condensing steam, thus making it absolutely pure. Then passed over charcoal to completely deodorize it and arrest any remaining traces of impurities, after which cans filled with it are placed in brine chilled below the freezing point, & thus it remains until it is frozen as clear crystal and almost as solid as glass. This is the best for human use. It lasts one or longer than natural ice and has all the virtues of the high priced table ice of commerce.

CONGRESSIONAL.

KELLY, OF PA., WANTS THE TARIFF BILL LAID ASIDE UNTIL NEXT SESSION.

The River and Harbor Appropriation Bill—Appropriations for North Carolina Rivers—Other Business.

By Telegraph to the Sun.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—The House resumed consideration of the public land bill. The ayes and noes being taken on Holman's amendment, retaining title in the Government to coal mines found on public lands, but allowing entrymen to mine such coal deposits until Congress acts further in the matter, the amendment was adopted and the bill passed.

On motion of Scott, of Pa., a resolution was passed granting leave to government employees who had participated in the battle of Gettysburg, to attend the anniversary of that battle here.

When Mills called up the tariff bill to-day, Kelley, of Penn., suggested, on his individual responsibility, as a means of expediting an adjournment, that the tariff bill be laid aside until next session—its fate then to depend upon the result of the November elections; and that the surplus be kept down by an entire repeal of the tobacco tax.

Mr. Mills rejected the suggestion and made a counter-proposal—that the republicans should fix an early day for taking a final vote on the bill.

Reed, of Maine, declared that Kelley spoke for himself alone, and that the republicans would insist upon pointing out the defects of the bill in detail.

Breckenridge, of Ky., declared that the democrats intended to have a vote on the bill unless the fourth of March was reached, by obstruction. He challenged the republicans to put their platform in the shape of a legislative proposition and then take a test vote between that and the pending bill, letting it go to the Senate if passed by the House. He suggested that a vote be taken at the end of ten legislative days.

Reed replied that a minority could not pass the bill—it would be absurd to try it.

Springer, of Miss., endeavored to have considered a resolution directing the committee on ways and means to report a date for taking the vote, but Kelly objected.

Demands for regular order cut off further discussion, and the House then went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill.

McComas, of Md., moved to strike out line 87, "coal tar, crude." Lost, as were motions to amend other lines relating to coal tar products and to dye woods and decoctions.

At the instance of Russell, of Mass., alizarine colors were added to the free list.

Mills offered a committee amendment, which was adopted, striking out line 96, "bone black, ivory and bone char."

Breckenridge, of Arkansas, also offered substitute for lines 99 to 103 inclusive, relating to essential oils, etc. The substitute, which was adopted, names specifically olive, salad, cottonseed, whale, seal and neatfoot oils, as entitled to free entry. China clay, or kaolin, was struck out and the line was replaced by another, placing on the free list unwrought glass for use in the manufacture of optical instruments, spectacles and eyeglasses.

Another general political debate arose upon the motion of Buchanan, of N. J., to strike out "brick other than fire brick." The amendment was defeated.

Mills offered a committee amendment placing German looking-glass plates on the free list, but at the suggestion of Bayne, of Pa., the matter was allowed to go over until to-morrow. The committee then rose, and the House, at 5.10, adjourned.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—House bills were reported and placed on the calendar, authorizing the construction of railroad bridges across the Oconee river, in Ga; Flint river, in Ga; Tennessee river, at Lamb's Ferry, Ala; Warrior and Tombigbee river, in Ga.

The Senate then took up the river and harbor appropriation bill. The appropriation for Philadelphia harbor was the first to provoke discussion, but it was agreed to. The amendment increases the appropriation from $250,000 to $550,000, and provides that $300,000 of that amount may be expended for the purchase of Smith's Island, Wind Mill Island and Petty Island, in the harbor.

An amendment striking out the item of $100,000 for improving Winyaw Bay, Georgetown, S. C., and inserting in lieu a provision for the board of army engineers to examine Capt. Bixy's plan for improvement, was discussed at some length. The result was that the appropriation was retained and the provision was also inserted.

Among other amendments agreed to were the following:

Increasing the appropriation for the Savannah Harbor (Ga.) from $200,000 and inserting the words "on project for securing a channel 28 feet deep at mean high water from Savannah to the sea." The latter part of the amendment was opposed by Edmunds, on the ground that it would commit the government to that project, which was estimated to cost $6,600,000, and was advocated by Brown and Frye.

Increasing the appropriation for Tampa bay (Fla.) from $20,000 to $50,000, and amended on motion of Call, against the opposition of Frye, so as to make it include the channel to Tampa.

An amendment striking out the appropriation of $35,000 for St. Augustine, Fla., and inserting in lieu of it a provision for the appointment of a board of army engineer officers to examine Lieut. Black's plan of improvement, was opposed by Senator's Call, Pasco and Reagan, and the result was—as in the case of Winyaw bay—a resolution of the appropriation and the adoption of the additional provision. The same cause was adopted in regard to the item of $25,000 for Key West Harbor.

Other amendments were agreed to as follows: Increasing the appropriation to complete the improvement of the Cape Fear river below Wilmington, N. C., from $100,000 to $245,000; increasing the appropriations for Pamlico and Tar rivers, from their mouths to the falls at Rocky Mount, N. C., from $5,000 to $10,000; and of the Roanoke river, North Carolina, from its mouth to Clarksville, Va., from $5,000 to $40,000; inserting an item of $5,000 for Lumber river, N. C. An amendment inserting an item of $10,000 for Yadkin river, N. C., was the subject of a long discussion; the amendment being opposed by Edmunds and advocated by Ransom. Edmunds compared the Yadkin to that of another stream which it was once proposed to improve, and as to which an army engineer reported it could be made navigable if water was pumped into it from another river behind the mountain. Ransom remarked that it was a piece of imagination on Edmunds' part, and said jocularly that if the Senator from Vermont were to see the Yadkin river he would change his mind—as he had done in the case of the Cape Fear river—and would think a million or two dollars ought to be spent on it; that there was more whiskey made in that country than the Senator supposed there was water in the Yadkin. Edmunds read and commented upon the report of Capt. Bixy, an army engineer, on the Yadkin river, stating that it was not worthy of improvement, and that the people there were more anxious not to have a passageway cut through the fish dams, so as to let the fish get up the river, than they were to have it improved for navigation purposes. The amendment was voted on and the result was: yeas 29, nays 6. No quorum. The Senate then, at 4.50, adjourned.

FOUR KILLED

And Six More or Less Wounded in a Railroad Accident.

By Telegraph to the Sun.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 27.—At 2.45 this morning the south bound train from this city to Mobile went through a small bridge about a mile north of Tensas. The engine, baggage, postal and two passenger cars and one sleeper became a total wreck. Engineer John Morgan, fireman Sam Williams, and two tramps were killed and mail agent Davis was dangerously hurt. Baggage master Taylor and four passengers were slightly hurt. These are all the casualties reported. The bridge was over a small stream and was undermined by heavy rains. Officers of the road are doing what they can to repair the damages. The killed and wounded were taken to Mobile.

New York Stock Market.

By Telegraph to the Sun.

NEW YORK, June 27.—To-day's stock market presented the usual lack of feature shown of late and the total amount of business done was but 95,000 shares. The only distinctive features of the day were a renewal of the advance in Pullman and a movement in Greenback which advanced about one point, upon the completion of arrangements for the building of the line from Winona to Omaha, under direction of parties interested in Lackawanna, by which the latter stock, however, failed to respond to the news in any manner. There was little movement in prices during the day and the close was dull but firm, with final prices almost invariably small fractions higher, compared with last evening's figures. Pullman, however, rose 1¼ per cent.

New York Cotton Market.

By Telegraph to the Sun.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 27.—Hubbard, Price & Co's. circular says: To-day's cotton market has shown considerable activity, but values have taken a downward turn and a large proportion of recent investment appears to have been sold out again. Advices from Liverpool were disappointing, and there seems to be an absence of efficient confidence here to hold a position. Opening about 3 to 4 points below last evening's, the market dropped rapidly under the pressure of long cotton, the close being at the lowest of the day and about 10 to 12 points below last evening's.

—In Greenwood county, Kansas, nine persons have been bitten recently and three have died from the bites of mad dogs.

—The Tribune published in its Sunday issue fully a half column of persons killed by the intense heat experienced in New York on Saturday last.

—In Guilford county there are only seven candidates for the office of Register of Deeds, six for Sheriff, and three townships yet to hear from. The Patriot notes this and says there is room for more.

—The largest amount of money any man ever made by his pen in one year, facetiously remarks the New York Graphic, can be put down to an Illinoisian named Caruthers. He cleared over $15,000. His pen had a million pigs in it.

—Miss Harriett Beecher Scoville, eldest daughter of the Rev. Samuel Scoville, of Stamford, Conn., and granddaughter of the late Henry Ward Beecher, was married Tuesday last to Dr. Spencer Devan, an officer in the United States marine corps, stationed at Savannah.

—DeLesseps' confident declaration that the Panama canal will be completed in two years finds believers. People are settling down to the conviction that the enterprise is bound to pull through while the wonderful old promoter lives, and even DeLesseps cannot last forever.

The New York World remarks that one of the features of the National Republican Convention in Chicago was the cheers which were given during the delivery of the opening political prayer. The clergyman was naturally astonished. And well he might be. Imagine a printed report of the Lord's Prayer punctuated with (Cheers.) (Prolonged Applause,) etc., etc.

—The cash system is gradually extending southward, where the credit system at one time prevailed to a deplorable extent. The latest indication of this change is in Atlanta, Ga., where over forty retail merchants have united in announcing that after the 1st of July they will sell goods for cash only. They say they purchase most of their goods for cash, and find it impossible to conduct a remunerative business on the credit system, owing to bad debts and slow collections. They have concluded that the cash system will not only be to their own advantage, but also of vast benefit to their patrons.

THAT TICKET,

PUT UP BY THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

What is Thought of it in Some of the Larger Northern Cities.

By Telegraph to the Sun.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The nomination creates no general enthusiasm among the republicans, as Mr. Harrison is entirely an unattractive man, unsympathetic and uninspiring. He is also charged with aristocratic feelings and manners, and it is said that he has a know-nothing record which will alienate the foreign-born vote. In comparison with other prominent candidates, he is regarded here as the weakest.

A gentleman born in Maryland, but for fifty years a resident of the District, recalling the log cabin, hard cider and 'coon skin celebrations which he witnessed at Rockville when Mr. Harrison's grandfather was a candidate, prophesies with the enthusiasm of youthful reminiscences, that the old Harrison campaign methods will be revived, and that the bandana of Thurman will be compelled to succumb to the Harrisonian barrel, cabin and 'coon skin.

There was a weak attempt to give the nomination a good send-off in the House, and thirty-one republican members stood up and waved small American flags with the words "American Industry" printed upon them in black letters.

It was painful to observe the look of disappointment that appeared upon the faces of republican Senators when requested to express their opinion of the nomination. There is no disguising the fact that Mr. Harrison is not popular with republican Congressmen. Of course, they are obliged to say something pleasant of him, now that he has been selected as their party leader, but it was apparently hard work for them to do so. Among themselves they declare that the convention made a serious mistake, as Sherman, Allison or Gresham would have been preferable.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—The nomination of Harrison awakened no special enthusiasm here. Blaine being the decided favorite. When the news of the nomination was posted on Chestnut street there was a single cheer from the crowd, but it was rather expressive of satisfaction that somebody had been nominated than of rejoicing over the choice. Politicians say that the nomination is a good one because it will make the republican party solid on a protective platform. They may not gain anything, but they will not lose by defection of mugwumps. The democrats think that this position of affairs insures their success. They are sure of New York on a strict party vote, and think they can win even though they should lose Indiana to Harrison. There is just enough confidence and uncertainty on both sides to insure a hot canvass. Interviews have been held with leading republican bankers and merchants, all of whom express themselves satisfied with the choice of Harrison, though no one is enthusiastic.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The news of the nomination of Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana, as the republican candidate for President was received in this city with apparent indifference. Few republicans of prominence would talk about the action of the Chicago convention. Those who did say anything expressed disappointment that either Depew or Blaine had not been nominated. The rank and file of the republican party in this city are nonplussed. Anti-Platt republicans are very much disgusted, for they cannot help seeing the hand of Thomas C. Platt in the work of the Chicago convention. Platt said before he left home that he had no confidence in the attempt of the New York delegation to secure the first place, but he thought the State might easily secure second place on the ticket if the united delegation would support some such men as Harrison.

Scott Partin.

A special from Selma, N. C., to the News-Observer, dated June 23, says: "A tramp was arrested here to-day for Scott Partin, who murdered his wife and children about twelve years ago near Garner's Station in Wake county. The party is held under arrest here for further identification. His appearance coincides identically with Partin even to the joint of one finger being off on the right hand."

KING WILLIAM.

His Address Yesterday at the Meeting of the Landtag.

By Cable to the Sun.

BERLIN, June 27.—The Landtag met to-day. In his speech, opening the session, King William said that his government, like that of the late King Frederick, would be exercised as a legacy from his grandfather. He would equally guard the rights of the people and crown and protect all religions. He was gratified with the good relations existing between the State and the Catholic Church. He was satisfied with Prussian finances and hoped further relief of communes and persons of small means from taxation would be possible. The King concluded his speech with a quotation from Frederick the Great: "A King is the first servant of his State."
