SPORTING NOTES.

Hartman won a race with Wallace Ross.
Eye-See went lame in his work at port, Ill., and was returned to Racine.
The annual regatta of the Virginia Association of Amateur Oarsmen will be held at Potomac at Alexandria or July 4.
The Driving Park association, Pitts- burgh, Pa., presents an $8,200 programme for summer meeting, which will be held July 20.
Edward Ten Brock, the famous turfman, purchased a farm near Palo Alto, sixty miles from San Francisco, and is fitting it up for residence.
A Victoria, Australia, Racing association will give over $130,000 at the spring meeting this year, the Melbourne cup being over $20,000.
The disqualified Boston amateur oarsman, who resigned from the Shawsmut Regatta, has issued a challenge to row any of $500 or $1,000 a side.
Hartman has challenged Kemp to another mile single scull race for $2,500, but dates that it must be rowed on the Potomac instead of the Annapolis course.
The winners of the trotting horse will go to the Elms Blinnon meeting at Detroit, which commences July 24 and last four days. The association will give $33,000 in purses, more than $2,000.
The winners of the Clay stakes since it was first run have been as follows: 1882, Young John; 1883, Majolica; 1884, Young John; 1885, Epantel; 1886, Ernest Maltravers; 1887, Love; 1888, Fred Folger.
The winner of the fine saddle offered by John M. H. should have to his credit a large number of winning mounts at the racetrack. He rode the winner in those during the meeting.
The Gobard will send Eola, Eollist and arrive in his California ranch. The ranch is six miles north of San Fran- cisco and comprises 3,200 acres, of which acres are suited to grazing horses, but is a great deal of mountain and craggy which will not be available.
Three gentlemen can find good room and board at reasonable rates by staying at the DAILY SUN office.
Windsor House, Spartanburg, S. C. is the best kept hotels in the de- pot. It is convenient to the depot. If you wish comfortable beds and good fare, forget the Windsor.

National Democratic Platform.

"The Democratic party of the United States, in National Convention assembled, renews the pledges of its fidelity to Democratic faith and reaffirming the platform adopted by its representatives in the Chicago Convention of 1884, endorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last earnest message to Congress as a correct interpretation of that platform upon the question of tariff reduction; and also endorses the efforts of our Democratic representatives in Congress to secure a reduction of the excessive taxation. Among its principles of party faith are the maintenance of an indissoluble union of the free and industrious States, now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and renewal, and devotion to the government, regulated by the written constitution; strictly specifying every granted power and expressly reserving to the States or the people the entire ungranted residue of power; the encourage- ment of the jealous and popular vigilance directed to all who have been chosen for brief terms to enact and execute the laws and are charged with the duty of preserving peace and equity, and estab- lishing justice. The democratic party welcomes an exacting scrutiny of the administration of the Executive power, which four years ago was committed to its trust, in the election of Grover Cleveland, as President of the United States, but it challenges the most search- ing inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the pledges which people during the most critical period of our financial affairs, resulting from over taxation, the anomalous condition of our currency, and public debt unimpaired. It has by a wise and conservative course not only averted disasters, but greatly promoted the prosperity of our people. It has re- versed the improvident and unwise policy of the republican party, touching public domain, and has reclaimed from corpora- tions and syndicates, alien and domes- tic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of land, to be sac- cedly held as homesteads for our citi- zens. While carefully guarding the in- terests of the principles of justice and equity it has paid out more for pensions and bounties to soldiers and sailors of the Republic than was ever paid before during an equal period. It has adopted and consistently pursued a firm and pru- dent foreign policy, preserving peace with all nations, while scrupulously maintain- ing all rights and interests of our own government and people at home and abroad. The exclusion from our shores of Chinese labor has been effectually se- cured under the provisions of a treaty, the operation of which has been post- poned by the action of the republican majority in the Senate. In every branch and department of the government, un- der democratic control, the rights and welfare of all people have been guarded and defended, every public interest has been protected and the equality of all our citizens before the law, without re- gard to race or color, has been stead- fastly maintained. Upon its record thus exhibited and upon the pledge of a con- tinuance to the people of the benefits of democracy, it invokes a renewal of popu- lar trust by the re-election of the Chief Magistrate who has been faithful, able and prudent; it invokes in addition to that, the trust, by transfer also to the democracy, of the entire legislative power. The republican party, controlling the Senate and resisting in both houses of Congress the reformation of the unjust and unequal tax laws which have out- lasted the necessities of war and are now undermining the abundance of long peace, and deny to the people equality before law and the fairness and justice which are their rights. Thus the cry of Ameri- can labor for a better share in industry is stifled with false pretense; enterprise is fettered and bound down to home mar- kets, and capital is discouraged; yet the laws can never be properly amended or repealed. The democratic party will continue, with all the power conferred to it, to struggle to reform these laws in accordance with the pledges of its last platform, which was endorsed at the ballot box by the suffrages of the people of all industries. The freedom of our land—an immense majority, including every tiller of the soil—gets no advantage from excessive tax laws, but the price of nearly everything they buy is increased by favoritism, or the unequal system of tax legislation. All unneces- sary taxation is unjust taxation. It is repugnant to the creed of democracy that by such taxation the cost of the neces- saries of life should be unjustly in- creased to all our people. Judged by democratic principles, the interests of the people are betrayed when, by unnecessary taxation, trusts and combinations are permitted to exist, which, while unduly enriching a few they combine for the robbery of our citizens, by depriving them of the benefits of national competition. Every democratic rule of governmental action is violated, when, through un- necessary taxation, a vast sum of money, far beyond the needs of an economical administration, is drawn from the people and channels of trade, and accumulated as a demoralizing surplus in the National Treasury. The money now lying idle in the Federal Treasury, resulting from superfluous taxation, amounts to more than one hundred and twenty-five million dollars, and the surplus now being col- lected is reaching the sum of more than sixty millions annually. Debauched by this immense temptation, the remedy of the republican party is to meet and ex- haust by extravagant appropriation and expenses—whether constitutional or not—this accumulation of extravagant taxations. The democratic policy is to enforce frugality in public expenses and abolish unnecessary taxation. Our estab- lished domestic industries and enterprises should not, and need not be endangered by the reduction and correction of the burdens of taxation. On the contrary, a fair and careful revision of our tax laws, with a due allowance for the difference between the wages of American and foreign labor must promote and encour- age every branch of such industries and enterprises, by giving them the assur- ance of an extended market and steady and continuous operations, in the inter- ests of American labor—which should in no event be neglected. The revision of our tax laws, contemplated by the democ- ratic party, should promote the advan- tage of such labor by cheapening the cost of the necessities of life in the home of every working man, and at the same time securing to him steady and remunerative employment. Upon this question of tariff reform, so closely concern- ing every phase of our national life, and upon every question involved in the problem of good government, the democratic party submits its principles and profes- sion to the American people."
