Last Saturday was the opening day for base ball in this section. Several days previous a mate game had been arranged between the Bryson City and Cherokee teams, and by the time set for the contest had arrived every one of on:

amatues enthusiasts had so thor oughly aroused public interest that nothing would do but for every body to go. Everybody went.

Three wagon loads and several on horses—plavers, umpires, scorers speciators and cheerers-started out in the best of spirits.

There was nopody there to meet the boys, but that apparently made tittle difference, for a good dinner was soon served, and at 2:30 the game was called

With Dr. Oberlander pitching on the Cherokee nine, the teams stemed well matched, as the score up to and including the sixth inning clearly indicates; but in the seventh, when the home club put Owl in the box, the visitors seemed to have no trouble in locating his balls and scored seven runs.

From then to the end interest began to wane, and a little sprinkle of rain during the eighth almost cleared the field of spectators.

The one-sided turn the game had just taken on caused everybody to realize that almost all future earnings would count for the visitors, so all interest died.

Here is the score by innings: Bry. City, 0 1 0 1 1 1 7 4 0-15 Cnerokee, 2 0 0, 1 1 3 3 1 0-11 Sehanandore made most runs.

Prof. Potter umpired for the Cherokees and Arthur Lipscombe for Bryson City.

A return game was expected here to-morrow, but Dr. Cherlander has written, saying that his team will play Whittier on that date.

Our boys go to Cullowhee on the 18th, so the game with the Cherokees is considerably deferred.

WOODEN BOOKS.

A Curious Collection of Volumes Made from Forest Trees.

Among the various collections of curios, the Historical museum of Hesse-Cassel, Germany, contains undoubtedly the most unique in the form of a "wooden library" composed of five hundred and forty-six volumes in folio and quarto sizes. The books are made of the different specimens of trees found in the famous park of Wilhelmshoche. De books is pasted a large shield of red morocco, which bears the popular and scientific name of the tree and the family to which it belongs. Each label is inlaid with some of the bark of the tree, the moss and lichen, and a drop or two of the rosin, if the trees so ad be had to do the cooking. I produces it. The upper edge of the book shows the tree in its youth, cut from a horizontal section, with the sap in the center and the concentric circles. The same method prevails with the lower edge, showing the changes that have taken place. The two covers, as well as the side edge of each book, are of green and and polished wood, and contain the following notations: "Density of wood in spring, summer and beginning of winter, rise and fall of temperature, the properties of the tree and the soil in which it grows." The interior of the book, in the shape of a box, contains in manuscript the history of the tree, with numerous hints as to its treatment, etc., cansules filled with seeds, buds, roots, against said defendant as endorsers of a leaves, etc. The inner sides show note for the sum of $14,800.00, with interthe diverse transformations which est from the 12th day of February, '895

All that can be definitely stated is that in 1771-1786 he was the director of the Cassel menagerie, Afterward he became bailiff of Weisseastein, the Wilhelmshoche of today. It was at that time that he began work upon the original collection, which he presented to William IX. of Hesse in 1709. That he must have been possessed of wonderful mechanical skill, combined with the genius of an artist, is visible at the first glance of these curious books, which describe a whole forest Tur Battery Park Bask) in this movel way. -Chleago News.

A Republican Hat.

Lord Justice Barry, whose retirement from the Irish judicial bench, awing to ill health, was recently anpounced, is, says Cassell's Journal, a typical Irishman.
