W. T. CRAWFORD'S SPEECH.

AN ABLE ARGUMENT ON FREE SILVER.

A Large and Enthusiastic Crowd Listen to the Talented Orator Expound Democratic Doctrines—Many Ladies Attend the Speaking. Pritchard Scored.

"What is the cause of so many people being in town" was the query frequently heard on the streets yesterday as people from all parts of the county continued to arrive.

"Crawford is coming" answered the in-coming people. And it was even so, although the County Democratic Executive Committee had failed to advertise the fact in this town, when it is alleged that other places in the county were billed stating that he would speak here.

Quite a large crowd gathered at the depot to greet our next Senator, and although the train was over an hour late they good naturedly kept their places until the train rolled in when they gave Mr. Crawford an enthusiastic greeting. He was immediately escorted to the court house where a large audience greeted the brilliant and able expounder of Democratic doctrines. There were quite a number of ladies in the audience which lent an additional charm to the occasion.

Mr. Crawford began by saying that he did not like to speak by himself; that he liked opposition; that he had written to Senator Pritchard for a joint debate; that the Senator had answered his letter in a kindly way but stated that his party would not consider any propositions for debate unless with avowed candidates. He well knew that there were no avowed candidates for the Senate in the Democratic party and so could easily do the issue.

"I believe the people are capable of judging for themselves, and that every man who is a candidate for any office should be made to come before the people and give his views on every question, and then let the people decide. I say that when I can go before the people and present the views of my party, then I want go."

"There is out one issue before the American people, and that is the money question. Some people tell you that the tariff is the paramount question, but they are simply dodging the question; they don't want to talk about the money question."

"We started out over a hundred years ago to govern ourselves, free and independent of all nations. We established mints to coin both gold and silver dollars at the ratio of 15 to 1, and invited the whole world to bring in their gold and silver and we would coin it into money. This was kept up until 1873. And no human being up to that time said that it was a dishonest dollar and would not pay its debts. In 1873 silver got knocked out by some hocus-pecus, and then the people demanded its repeal. What is known as the silver bill passed the House in 1878, and Billy McKinley and John T. Carlisle voted for it. The Senate passed it with the amendment that the Secretary of the Treasury go into the markets of the world and purchase not more than $4,000,000 worth of silver and not less than $2,000,000 per month. This was vetoed by President Hayes. The House and Senate passed it over the veto by more than a two-thirds vote, and Billy M. Kinley, Carlisle and the other fellows who are spouting for gold voted for it.

When Richmond Pearson was running for Congress he said send me to Washington if you want free silver; but when he went there Cleve and a hind gang caught him and they have got him yet."

The speaker then paid his respects to Senator Pritchard as follows: "When Jeter Pritchard went to the St. Louis convention he was an ardent advocate of free silver. No, nothing but the free and unlimited coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1 for him. He advocated silver there, fought hard for it, voted with Teller and the minority for it—and then Hanna 'saw' him, and his conversion to gold was more sudden and marvellous than the conversion of St. Paul."

Mr. Crawford quoted from the State Register of Asheville as saying that Pritchard stood on the platform on which he was elected but that he wanted to be re-elected on a gold platform. "That means, my friends, that he is going to be a Populist and silver man until next March, then he is going to be a gold-bug."

Mr. Crawford closed the clearest and most concise solution of the money question Swain county has ever heard with a strong and impassioned appeal to the people to stand firm for Bryan and free silver.
