

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

H. A. E. Jenkins returned on Monday from a business trip to Asheville.

Rev. C. P. Moore went to Hickory on Tuesday and will be absent a few days.

Mrs. W. L. Boggs, of Liberty, S. C., is visiting her mother, Mrs. T. J. Neely, on Whitmire street.

J. A. Mullinax, the popular representative of the Morgan Iron and Wood Works of Spartanburg, was a welcome visitor here Monday.

Dess Young has purchased the Miller house on Whitmire street, formerly occupied by L. P. Summey and will make it his permanent home.

The Russianoff Bearski and the infant Jap will now wrestle for the Manchurian prize, and the longest poleski will knock the persimmonoff ski high.

A railing in front of the delivery window at the post office would prove a great convenience to patrons of the office and facilitate the distribution of mail.

Two of our most enthusiastic hunters have just purchased new guns and have been trying and cleaning the same three or more times each day, including Sunday, since they received them.

M. D. Cooper has five car loads of brick on the way for a new brick block on Main street, where Orr's livery stable now stands. This will make a decided improvement in the appearance of the street. Let the good work go on.

Messrs. Ernest Ewbanks and Oliver Rutledge came up for a pheasant hunt last Tuesday and brought home, after one day's hunt, eleven pheasants. This indicates that there are lots of game in the woods and that Brevard is in the center of a "Sportsman's Paradise."

Rev. D. M. Douglas returned on last Friday night from Baltimore, and we learn that he has received a call to one of the best Presbyterian churches in that city. We sincerely hope that Mr. Douglas will see fit to decline this call, as he has done a great deal of good in this section and would be greatly missed should he decide to leave.

W. W. Zachary, Esq., returned on last Friday from Marshall, where he had been attending Madison county court. Mr. Zachary instituted several suits while there against the railroad and express companies for violating the law in regard to shipping in whisky from Asheville, as that traffic besides being illegal was injurious to the trade of the Marshall dispensary. Some Asheville distillers were selling whisky in Madison for $1 per gallon, which is 10 cts. less per gallon than the revenue tax on it. Something rotten in the collector's office when that condition can exist.

Board of Trade Organized.

On last Monday a mass meeting of the business men of Brevard was held in the court house and was well attended.

The time has come when it is necessary for Brevard to have a suitable organization of its business men to secure for it the good business and industrial propositions that are being located at other points.

A Board of Trade was therefore organized and started with about twenty members and W. L. Carmichael was elected president and W. E. Breese, Jr., secretary and treasurer.

The organization will be completed on Saturday, when a mass meeting will be held in the court house at 10 o'clock for the purpose. The business men of the county will be able to help and assist in the organization of a sound

The March Delineator contains much matter of interest and value in its household departments. One of the most excellent features is an article by Eleanor Marchant on "Serving the Informal Sunday Night Supper and Impromptu Evening Refreshments," effectively illustrated. "Refreshments for Receptions," illustrated, as well as the unique luncheon dishes a la Planchette, will appeal to all who enjoy dainty confections. Lent-observing housewives will find many suggestions to lessen their table difficulties at this season, including "Novel Oyster Recipes" by Frances E. Peck, "Special Lenten Dishes," by Alice Chittenden, and "Dainty Souffles" by Margaret Hill. In addition there are numerous other seasonable recipes and useful information for many home needs.

As I have been absent for some time I thought it would be nice to chat a little with my good old correspondents. I am glad to know we have some new ones among us.

Mrs. J. J. Perry visited Mrs. J. G. Mills Monday.

The snow is deep and Birdie is very cold and can't sing but very little this time.

Miss Ollie Perry made a flying trip to Pisgah Forest last week and had a jolly time.

Miss Allie Ownbey, of Pink Beds, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. T. Rankin, this week.

The tamsters have returned to Biltmore for a while. Hope they will have a jolly good time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Rankin took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Perry the fourth Sunday.

I would like to know what is the matter with Totsy. She must be rabbit hunting and don't take time to write. Hope she will tell us how many she caught during the snow.

Say, Buster, those ladies that went after the pine must have been expecting their best fellow more than one night as I saw them going to the store after kerosene oil the next day.

There is one young lady in this section I am sure is happy. She received a gold heart and no one knows where it came from, not even the one that received it. I know she would like to meet the one that sent it.

Say, girls, there is one thing I want you all to remember. All of you that would like to see "Uncle Zeke" be sure and come to English Chapel the first Sunday in April. I am sure we will be glad to meet him.

Best wishes to the News and its correspondents. BIRDIE.

Editors Sylvan Valley News:

Mr. Weldon English was a pleasant visitor at the home of his father last week.

Mr. James Case spent the night at the home of Judson Meece last Friday night.

Mrs. Robert English is very sick this week. Hope she will be all right in a few days.

We were glad to know that some of the Davidson River girls were all smiles Sunday.

We are glad to see the News getting so interesting. Why not Transylvania have a good newspaper as well as other things.

We are sorry Miss Mallie English has moved from the Davidson River section. We miss her so much; hope she will have a pleasant life and visit us often.

Hurrah! for Uncle Zeke! We like to read his letters so much. We give him a special invitation to the old time singing at English Chapel Easter Sunday. Be sure to bring Lize with you, as there are lots of pretty boys on Davidson River.

With best wishes to all the correspondents and especially Uncle Zeke, BUSTER.

Don't get an idea that, as we are not offering special combinations with other papers and magazines, we are not taking subscriptions for same. We are offering all subscribers to the News the lowest clubbing rate for any paper or magazine published in the United States or Canada.
