FINDS RIBS BROKEN.

Accident to Celebrated Sky Pilot in the Beautiful Sapphire Country Occurred Several Days Before He Knew It—Unique Mountain Character.

[Special.]

LAKE TOXAWAY, N. C., Sept. 27.—Joe Dunn, the celebrated "sky pilot" of the "Beautiful Sapphire Country," has just made a discovery—he has found that he has three broken ribs. The accident occurred last Saturday, but Joe didn't learn of the extent of his injury till today.

Dunn doesn't come by his title of "sky pilot" because of any religious proclivities, but because all his life he has piloted tourists and resorters through the picturesque mountain wilds of the Sapphire Country—the "sky land" of North Carolina. He is tall, lean and wiry, with a shrewd eye and typical mountain wit. His fame has spread through the statement of those who know him that he can carry a man of average weight on his back all day over the mountain trails. When the fishermen and hunters go out, Joe makes a pack-wagon for traps, provisions, etc., on his back; when they drop a deer Joe comes into camp with the animal across his back, no matter the size of the animal or the distance through the mountains.

Last Saturday he was helping to put some large blocks of ice on a wagon to be conveyed to the forest home of E. M. Backus, the Brazilian rubber king, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is always here in the autumn for relief from hay fever and for the shooting and fishing. While lifting a two-hundred pound chunk of ice he slipped and fell, his right side striking the edge of it.

During the week Joe remarked that his side hurt him some, but last night he went out as usual with a party of fishermen from Philadelphia and Baltimore. While he was throwing some heavy logs on the campfire at night, he discovered that all was not right with his side. "Just put your hand here and feel my ribs," said he to one of the party. "Can't you feel three of them loose and sort 'o broke like?" The fisherman, after his examination, agreed that the guide had good ground for his surmise.

This morning Joe came down the trail at his usual gait, bringing in a basket of trout and the fishing apparatus. Dr. H. H. Garner, the resident physician at Toxaway Inn, found that three of Joe's right ribs had been broken, but the guide would not submit to being plastered up, and started out again with a party in search of pheasants.

Peace will come in Russia, perhaps, when the police have exterminated the people, and the people have slain the police.

Representative Longworth thinks the nation's support of President Roosevelt should extend to the entire family.

The Cleveland high school is to graduate "trained wives," but there is no diploma that can guarantee immunity from the bargain counter harpy.

Mr. Moody hopes that it will not be necessary for Mr. Roosevelt to take the presidency again. Ditto Shaw; ditto Fairbanks; ditto "Uncle Joe Cannon."

When you have a cold it is well to be very careful about using anything that will cause constipation. Be particularly careful about preparations containing opiates. Use Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar, which stops the cough and moves the bowels. Sold by Brevard Drug Co.

Gratefully Appreciated.

Editor Sylvan Valley News:

Will you allow me through your columns to express my hearty appreciation and warm thanks for the very cordial welcome that I have received from the Transylvania people on my return to make my abode with them after sixteen years of exile from the "Land of the Sky."

This welcome has been emphasized not only by words but by most substantial deeds. Time after time we have been the recipients of vegetables, provisions, hay, corn, etc., not only from Davidson River members but from other denominations. Today this sort of thing culminated in a regular cyclone. While my wife and I were out visiting a raid was made on our premises, and when we returned we found the house piled up with provisions. Prominent in the pile was 300 lbs. of flour with plenty of lard to season it—sugar, coffee, cereals, preserves, jelly, pickles, soap, corn, apples, potatoes, cabbage and numerous and sundry other things, all of which will make us independent of millers, grocers, vegetable dealers—and there were chickens enough to enable us to dodge the butcher for some time to come. Such kindness makes a man feel young and kindles a warm flame about his heart that radiates happiness all through his system. The preacher is praying for these people tonight and wishing for them all sorts of blessedness and happiness. With best wishes for the success and usefulness of your paper, sincerely yours,
W. H. DAVIS.

It is very much feared that some of the Cubans, after trying peace, have concluded that they do not like it.

Senator Foraker is out against reformed spelling. It is the general opinion that nearly everything Roosevelt does will have to undergo a very critical scrutiny by Mr. Foraker.
