Asheville Letter

NEWS NOTES FROM THE MOUNTAIN METROPOLIS OF INTEREST TO NEWS READERS.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Last week the Asheville horse show held the center of the stage and this week political discussions are in full bloom, with live local news of general interest standing at a premium, so the readers of this correspondence will please excuse the following "shop talk." Since the time of Benjamin Franklin and the hand press up to the present enlightened time the value of printers' ink to gain general attention has been recognized as an essential factor in the promotion of individual and business interests. This fact has been so thoroughly demonstrated time after time that most every progressive firm in the world invests in advertising space in one way or another, but the latest and most unique advertising sprung on the Asheville public is church advertising. Evangelists and revivalists all over the country have seen the benefit derived, the interest created and the beneficial results attained by investing in advertising, and they have figured it out that what is good for one line should be good for another. The result is that the daily and weekly papers of the country contain display advertisements setting forth the merits of the church work, and inviting all to attend. The Asheville newspapers have not been favored with any church advertising up to the present writing, but Evangelist George P. Taubman, who is holding revival services at the Christian church on Haywood street, this city, decided upon a course of advertising that is both unique and original, with the result that the meetings are well attended now, whereas empty seats made up the best part of the congregation before he invested in a little printers' ink. This is what created all the interest and caused people to flock to the church and hear Mr. Taubman's teachings. Several thousand circulars bearing the following words were scattered broad cast over the city streets and they produced the results striven for:

"HELL"
TONIGHT AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
OPP. AUDITORIUM.

The people saw, they read, were interested and went to the church to hear the discourse on "Hell" by the preacher who resorted to advertising to create interest in his services. This just demonstrates what can be accomplished with a small investment in printers' ink. Another radical departure from the beaten path in the line of advertising in North Carolina is being employed by Captain R. L. Fitzpatrick, democratic candidate for mayor of Asheville. Mr. Fitzpatrick employs the use of newspaper advertising for the interest of his paint business, and recognizing its merits for producing good results on the investment, he has started a political advertising campaign in the papers of this city, soliciting the vote of the people and setting forth his views on the political situation, etc. Mr. Fitzpatrick is using half-page display ads with a half tone cut of himself, and it is causing the other candidates to sit up and take notice. The voters of the city are also commenting on the course pursued by Mr. Fitzpatrick and his fearlessness in publishing his political views in the local press; it is making a strong pull for votes, and of course that is what Mr. Fitzpatrick is advertising for. This is food for thought for those who are skeptical about "whether advertising pays."

The United States Internal Revenue office of this city is closed and the furniture, records, etc., have been shipped to Statesville, where the office will be conducted in the future.

There will be a civil service examination held in this city on May 1st to secure eligible people to fill vacancies in the Philippines. The two classes are: "Assistant in the Philippine Service" and "Teachers in the Philippine Service." The announcement is made that there are a number of positions vacant in these lines of government work, and that the government is quite anxious to get them filled as soon as possible. The average salary paid by the government for this class of work ranges from $1,000 to $3,000 a year, and in most cases the applicant, if accepted, starts in with a salary of about $1,200 per year. This examination and the figures quoted shows that Uncle Sam is willing to pay well for the services of his subjects and the school teachers' salaries in the government service is far above that paid by the cities and counties.

The Asheville Electric Company is defendant in another suit for damages. One Lon Yarberry who resides in West Asheville claims damages from the company in the sum of $35,000. He bases his claim on the ground of negligence whereby he received an electric shock resulting in the loss of one eye and an alleged permanent injury.

Police Officer Kuykendall is on the sick list as a result of a peculiar accident. One day last week the officer was trying to get a drunken negro to the police station when said drunk fell and his whole weight hit the officer's leg. The bones of the leg were broken and the policeman will be unable for duty for some time.

NINETY YEARS OLD.

On last Friday S. B. Glazener passed the ninetieth mile post on life's road, and in commemoration of the day was presented by his brother Masons with a magnificent gold headed cane.

At an early hour Hon. F. R. Wallace drove up after father Glazener and carried him down to the Citizen's National Bank where the members were assembled. Prof. H. Tarpley presented the cane accompanied by a short address, to which the aged father responded most feelingly in a few words.

S. B. Glazener is the oldest person in Arlington and one of the oldest in the county. He is in fairly good health and reasonably active for one of his age.

He was born in Pickens county S. C. March 22 1817. When twelve months old he was carried by his parents to Western North Carolina where he lived on the beautiful and historic French Broad river till 1843, when he removed to Alabama.

In 1882 he came to Texas where he has since lived.

He has been married twice and has had born to him 9 children, 39 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren.

He has been a member of the Baptist church 69 years, and of the Masonic order 40 years.

Seven of his children are still living.

During the civil war he was barred from active service because of age, however he belonged to the reserved force and served under Gen. N. B. Forest.

He has at all times been active and unswerving where duty calls and even yet he takes an active part in public affairs, especially his church, and his counsel is always worth listening to.

For twenty years he was clerk and a leading member of his church in Alabama.

The Journal, in common with a host of friends wishes for him many years in which to use the token of esteem presented by his brother Masons on this occasion.

The above was clipped from the Journal, Arlington, Texas, dated March 23, and refers to a former citizen of this county, a brother of J. M. Glazener of Brevard. The article will be of interest to many old citizens of Transylvania county.—Ed. News for Catarrh that contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Beware of Ointments

Summer Term June 17-July 27, 1907.

The Summer School for Teachers, held at the University in past years, has been of great benefit to the teachers of the State. It is believed that a Summer Term of a different type can now be of most service.

The branches taught will cover the ordinary high-school course, the object being to provide such instruction as will enable the teachers of the State to prepare themselves more thoroughly for their work. The growth of high-schools in North Carolina causes an increasing demand for well equipped high-school teachers. The instruction will be given by members of the University faculty, and courses so graded and arranged that teachers can come several summers and make decided progress in the subjects selected. Teachers are advised to concentrate their work on a few subjects—two, or at most three courses. In each course there will be six meetings a week, and regular examinations will be held at the close of the term. It is important that teachers be present at the opening, June 17th.

The only charge, for teachers, will be a registration fee of $3.00; for others, an additional charge of $10.00 for tuition. Board and lodging can be obtained in the village at reasonable rates, varying from $10.00 to $20.00 a month. The University buildings will not be available for these purposes.

The courses offered are in English, Latin, Mathematics, French, German, History, and Elementary Physics.

"Pneumonia's Deadly Work had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only real cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the real cure. Guaranteed by T. B. Allison druggist, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Allison Drug Store.

New York's Extravagant Tax. It costs New Yorkers $31 a head to be governed. In Philadelphia and in Chicago it costs only $13 a head, and citizens are provided with police, fire, sanitary and other protection common to large cities. In Buffalo the figure is $12; in Washington, Bridgeport, Schemectady and cities of that sort $11 per capita pays the tax; in Houston, Tex., the charge is under $10; in lively Los Angeles, $7.50; Scranton and Seattle each collect $6.50, and Nashville, Tenn., is at the bottom of the list of progressive cities with a taxation of about $6 per capita, less than one-fifth of New York's rate. The average city tax throughout the country is probably between $10 and $11 per capita, or almost exactly the amount by which New York has raised its per capita figure in only nine years.—Broadway Magazine.

Coffee and Matrimony. A cafe proprietor who recently opened new premises at Berlin adopted an excellent way of booming his business. He put in the papers very enticing matrimonial advertisements. In reply to the many answers received from these a meeting was arranged at the cafe. As fortune hunting is a recognized profession in Berlin, the cafe was crowded day after day with people, chiefly men with an eye to the main chance, and the business received an excellent start.
