LESSON OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Franchise Grafting Due to Private Competition For Public Utilities.

Opponents of municipal ownership of public utilities should take a side glance at the city of San Francisco just now. Half a dozen times in the past few weeks the press of the United States has published dispatches from that city giving long lists of indictments found by the grand jury against men at the head of street railways and telephone companies, who are charged with having paid bribes to members of the city board of supervisors in order to obtain franchises for which other companies were competing.

When earthquake and fire a little more than a year ago reduced San Francisco almost to primitive conditions so far as street car service and certain other public conveniences were concerned, Graft, with a big G, then found its golden opportunity and did not hesitate to improve the chance. San Francisco had been a cable car town. It was there that the cable street railroad originated, and because of the city's extraordinary hilliness many of the car lines were still operated by the cable system, which everywhere else had gone out of use. The incessant clang and clatter of cable cars made San Francisco the noisiest city in the United States.

After the great fire everybody hoped for trolley lines operated by the underground conduit system, but the greedy operators bribed the city legislature to give them franchises at a nominal figure for overhead trolleys, thus saddling upon the city a disfiguring and dangerous system of poles and wires.

If the city had determined to build its own street car lines instead of farming out its franchises to private capital, the people would have had the kind of street car system they demanded and the grafters would not have preyed upon the community.

So long as cities are willing to hand out valuable franchises at pitifully small sums to private capital, just so long will greed consort with graft and keep the courts busy in prosecuting criminals, while the people at large will be the sufferers.

There is not a prettier coin issued, says an English paper, than a freshly minted farthing, and the sixty odd Victorian farthings of consecutive years, perfect and lustrous, are greatly admired for their dainty diminutive portrayal in copper and bronze of Queen Victoria during her long reign.

Sound Reasoning.

Mrs. Dashaway--Why have you never married?

Colonel Oldboy--By George, madam, you surely couldn't expect me to be such a fool as to marry a woman who would be fool enough to marry me! Philadelphia Press.

John Riha, a prominent dealer of Vining, Ia., says: "I have been selling DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for about a year and they give better satisfaction than any pill I ever sold. There are a dozen people here who have used them and they give perfect satisfaction in every case. I have used them myself with fine results." Sold by Brevard Drug Co.

It is reported that King Edward is fond of croquet. But if he sends an ambassador to America, who confesses to playing such a mollycoddish game, he will have little influence at the White House.

Endorsed By the County.

"The most popular remedy in Otsego County, and the best friend of my family," writes Wm. M. Dietz, editor and publisher of the Otsego Journal, Gilbertsville, N. Y., "is Dr. King's New Discovery. It has proved to be an infallible cure for coughs and colds, making short work of the worst of them. We always keep a bottle in the house. I believe it to be the most valuable prescription known for Lung and Throat diseases." Guaranteed to never disappoint the taker, by T. B. Allison's Drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

CLOTHING, SHOES, DRESS GOODS, ETC.

Sold with an Assurance Policy.

Did you ever wish you had Clothing and Shoe Insurance when the goods begin to go to pieces; wish you had your money back or a suit or pair of shoes that lived up to your expectations?

You didn't know--perhaps the store didn't know--but, anyway, you are not satisfied.

Well, Whitmire & Verdery have a formula that says:

Clothing and Dress Goods so good;

Shoes and Groceries so good;

Store Service so good---

That no other store can come up to the Whitmire & Verdery mark.

Not that we do it just to beat others, but because it is a pleasure to sell that kind of goods.

And then as an insurance policy--a safeguard in event anything did go wrong--we tack on the other Whitmire & Verdery rule of--

"Your money back if you are not satisfied."
