LABOR'S CALL A Lyric for Labor Day

Labor's Army Passing Through Washington Arch, New York.

MEN of Labor, 'tis the hour!
Front it with united power!
Hark! From Freedom's signal tower
Hear the call!
'Tis the summons of your fate.
Rise and win before too late.
Coward-like to shrink and wait
Means your fall.
Strike while justice is in reach!
Let this badge of golden speech
Be your motto: All for each,
Each for all!

ARM yourselves with brotherhood
That can never be withstood.
Make your shield the common good
And unite.
Mammon's minions out of dust
Rear the temple of their trust.
In the true, humane and just
Is your might.
Mammon has but one recourse—
Greed his motive, hope and source.
You command a higher force
In the right.

WHERE the chimneys cleave the sky
Giant flagstaffs lifted high,
From whose tops smoke banners fly
To the breeze;
Where the highways rimmed with steel
Vibrate to the whirring wheel,
Where the great ships throb and reel
Through the seas,
Where the fruits spring from the soil,
You win the victories of toil,
Yet the few divide the spoil
At their ease.

THROUGH the mine shaft
leading far
Unto where earth's treasures are
Runs the richly laden car
You have filled.
Plenty comes with smile benign,
Bearing gifts of corn and wine,
For the fields with harvests shine
You have tilled.
Cities revel in their mirth,
Spending wealth you bring to birth.
Why should you, then, suffer dearth—
You who build?

Helpmeets of Labor

STEPPING STONES.
Few men of mature age would upon reflection wish to forego in their experience of life the sorrows which softened their character, the mistakes which taught them wisdom or the difficulties which produced their most strenuous labor.

Carlyle Would Talk.
Professor Blackie said of Carlyle: "I admired his genius. But how he would talk, talk, talk, and give nobody a chance to put in a word! One night I actually shook him. His wife had been trying all the evening to say something, but there was not the smallest chance. I took hold of him and shook him, saying, 'Let your wife speak, you monster!' But it was of no use."

Hopeless.
"Your store is no good, sir! I asked for lace curtains last week, and I couldn't get 'em."
"Indeed?"
"Yes. And I asked for silk socks yesterday, and I couldn't get 'em."
"That's strange."
"And today I ask for credit and can't even get that. Is this a regular store, or what?"—Toledo Blade.

THE TOLL OF DEATH FROM FOREST FIRES

List of Casualties Has Been Steadily Growing.

OVER 200 HAVE PERISHED

In Great Northwest Many Lives Have Been Sacrificed In Effort to Stay the Fires Which Are Devastating Great Tracts of Forest Land.

Late estimates of the loss of life in the forest fires place the number of dead at more than 200. The Italians and Austrians in the St. Joe valley, of whom many perished, were employed in logging camps. The list of government rangers dead now number 100, with probably more.

Following is a revised list of the number killed in the Idaho, Montana and Washington forest fires:

United States forest employes Idaho and Montana, 100; settlers and fire fighters, St. Joe Valley, Idaho, 50; at Newport, Wash., 4; at Wallace, Idaho, 8; at Mullan and Spokane, 5. Total, 160. The Missoula forest officers' list of 79 dead forest employes omits 21 killed at the Bullion mines, Mont., and on the Big Fork of the Coeur d'Alene. Missing: Negro soldiers near Avery, Idaho, 4; Ranger Halm's party, headwaters of St. Joe, 15; Forest employes in St. Joe Valley, 25.

Reports received by Supervisor Weigle at Wallace, concerning the number of dead forest employes did not agree with that obtained at Missoula. The reports to Wallace say that of Ranger Hollingshead's 60 men on Big creek, 14 bodies have been found and the other men are missing. Of the 60 men on Setzer creek, 48 bodies have been found and five are missing. These 62 deaths of forest employes, added to the 21 deaths at the Bullion mine, and on the Big Fork of the Coeur d'Alene and the deaths in Montana and various Idaho creeks, would bring the total number of deaths in the service to 100.

A Story of Perils.

A special to the Spokesman-Review, from Teke, Wash., says: James H. Hines, of Missoula, who was one of a party of 50 fire fighters working near Avery, Idaho, of whom 20 perished last Sunday, arrived here and told the story of his perils.

On Sunday afternoon his party was warned to flee for their lives and the 50 men started down a mountainside three miles long and very steep. They then made their way to a point where the fire had burned off the timber. All but 23 men then started for the railroad. The next morning before daylight three of the men who had been left behind arrived at Avery. The others lingered too long and were swallowed by the burning furnace.

SOCIALISTS NAME CANDIDATE.

Seth McCallen, of Nashville, Nominated for Governor of Tennessee.

The Socialists' state convention held in this city nominated Seth McCallen, of Nashville, as the Socialist candidate for governor. The convention also adopted a platform in which it is declared that "the Socialist party stands for the interest of the working classes, the wage earners, the farmers, the producers. This class makes up over three-fourths of our population."

The platform discusses the question of unemployment, the high cost of living, conservation of natural resources, education, temperance and the farming class. It invites "all progressive people who are in sympathy with the just cause of labor" to cast their votes for the Socialist candidate. Referring to temperance the platform says: "The question has unnecessarily caused the most bitter factional fight ever known in the state," and it further declares that "the Socialist party would have avoided all this by furnishing useful, productive employment to every saloon-keeper and the saloon business would have died a natural death."

The attendance at the convention was small.
