BREVARD LYCEUM COURSE.

We take pleasure in announcing this week that arrangements have been completed with the Radcliffe Entertainment Bureau of Washington, D. C., for a Lyceum course of six numbers during the fall and winter. This Bureau is so well and favorably known in the northeastern and middle states that the bare announcement of a deal with them is sufficient to guarantee a series of first class entertainments.

The course will open here Sept. 28 with the Neil Litchfield Trio in two hours of refined fun—mirth, music and mimicry, violin and ballad horn solos, violin imitations, humorous songs and stories and the rural comedy playlet "Down at Brook Farm."

Other numbers in the course are "The Scotch Singers"—Miss T. na Crawford, contralto; Miss Jeanette Cuthill, 1st soprano; Miss Ella Campbell, 2nd Soprano and pianist; Miss Agnes Hyde, 1st contralto and reader—who will entertain a Brevard audience Oct. 11.

Luther Manship in "Stories of the Old South," "Lights and Shadows of Slavery Days," "From the Big House to the Cabin," orator and impersonator. "Gov. Manship has been on the lecture platform for the past ten years and has come to be regarded as one of the South's greatest humorists and orators." He will be here Nov. 14.

"Rip Van Winkle" will be presented to our people Jan 13 by Herbert A. Sprague and Floy Mahan Sprague. "Since Joseph Jefferson passed from the stage of life, no actor in this country has presented Rip Van Winkle as does Herbert Sprague.

"The Raweis," native Newzealanders, presenting in Song, Story and Picture a most unique and fascinating entertainment, portraying native life of South Sea Islands. Their date is Jan. 23.

In addition to these regular Lyceum numbers The Woman's Betterment Society have made arrangements to add one number to the course, the date for which has not been announced Season tickets entitle the holders to all numbers.

For all six numbers the Brevard managers have decided on the following schedule of prices: Season Ticket for two.....$3.50
" " " one..... 2.25
" " " schools..... 1.25
Admission, each number..... 50
" children..... 25

We hope that this year's lecture course may be as well received and patronized as last year. It costs the management $80 more than last year, but there was a surplus of several dollars left over, so they hope to get through without losing money. Season tickets are now on sale at the Southern Stock and Farming Company's store.

Mayor Breese says that the reason he did not permit a Labor Day parade was that the Sons of Rest and Whittler's Club were in the majority. They couldn't be removed from the streets to make room for a labor parade without causing trouble. The mayor is to be commended for his foresight.

Monday was Labor Day and we labored. If anybody in Brevard celebrated the holiday they must have been away from home or have ordered their celebration in express packages.

"No meaner man exists than one who shirks taxes at the expense of his neighbors.—Mayor Gaynor."

WEDDING BELLS.

CHAPMAN-WARD

Perfect in every detail was the beautiful wedding on Wednesday evening of Miss Jessie Chapman and Mr. David Gregg Ward, which was solemnized in St. Philips Episcopal church. To the music of beautiful Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin played by Mr. Cyrus D. Chapman, the bridal party entered the church—first the two ushers, Mr. Fleming Ramsaur and Mr. Archibald Caldwell; the groomsmen, Mr. James Higgs, Jr. of Chattanooga, Tenn., Mr. John Chapman of Washington, D. C., Mr. Adrie Robinson and Mr. Marion Guerrard of Asheville; the brides maids, Miss Nancy Clark and Miss Eugenia Brunot of Brevard, Miss Caroline Nesbit of Chicago and the groom's sister, Miss Mary Ward of Atlanta; the maid of honor, Miss Eliza Walls of Brevard, and the little flower girl, Miss Mary Bacon of Louisville, Kentucky and the ring bearer Edward Walter Carter Jr., who carried the wedding ring on a cushion of white messalene from the bride's wedding gown. The bride entered on the arm of her mother and they were met at the altar by the Right Rev. Bishop Junius Horner of Asheville, the Rev. Chalmers D. Chapman, the bride-groom and his best man, Mr. Ed Ward of Atlanta. The betrothal ceremony was beautifully and impressively performed by Mr. Chapman, then Miss Mayback of New York sang in a sweet, expressive voice, "O, Perfect Love," after which the marriage ceremony was concluded by Bishop Horner.

The wedding party to the strains of Mendelsohn's Wedding March, left the church for the rectory where a beautiful reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Chapman. The house was a bower of beauty, especially the bride's table, with its festoons of Clematis extending from the ceiling to the four corners of the table.

After receiving the hearty congratulations of many friends Mrs. Ward changed her wedding gown of white Messalene over taffeta for a going-away gown of blue-and-white shepherd's plaid, with a becoming hat of black, and, amid the hearty good wishes and showers of rice, the young couple drove away.

Many beautiful gifts attested the popularity of the young couple among them, exquisite cut-glass, and silver, pictures, laces, embroidery of most beautiful designs and texture, rare china and furniture for their home.

After their return they will be at home to their friends at the rectory and it is with very sincere pleasure that Mrs. Ward's many friends learn that she will not have to leave them for another home. By her sweet, happy disposition she has made herself beloved by the people among whom all her childhood and girlhood has been spent, and Mr. Ward is to be congratulated upon winning so lovely a bride. In the two-and-a-half years Mr. Ward has spent among us, he has won many friends who wish him all happiness.

MRS. E. W. CARTER.

DOLLS.

The ivory doll of the Roman child was too costly for the ages that followed the fall of the empire. For many centuries dolls must have been chiefly of home manufacture. The first shop made dolls after the middle ages were the jointed wooden dolls of the Netherlands. These were known in England and in this country, too, in colonial times as "Flanders babies."

Not to Blame.

She—Saturday is our silver wedding. Don't you think we ought to kill the pig and have a feast?

He—Kill the pig? I don't see why the poor animal is to blame for what happened twenty-five years ago.—London Tit-Bits.

WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

The steady growth of socialism, not only in Europe but in this country as well, often causes us to wonder what socialism really is. The following clipping is from the editorial columns of a socialist paper, and its ideas as to "work" are too good to be lost. We believe the world would be a much better world if the doctrine that work is necessary to happiness were more widely believed. Our opinion of this percept is very much like the aged sister's opinion of "total depravity." She said, "It's a mighty good doctrine if it's only lived up to." Here is a socialist opinion of labor:

Work has a moral as well as an economic value; idleness corrodes the character. When one is doing nothing, the consciousness of the fact annoys him, and he endeavors to find some excuse; and as there is no reasonable excuse his vision becomes distorted by the effort to find even a plausible explanation of his refusal to render service to society. Carl Hilty, the Swiss author, says that happiness is only possible when one is engaged in some regular work which occupies his time, employs his mind and satisfies his conscience, and no one can doubt the truth of the statement. God never intended man to be a drone and man can not expect to enjoy life or the respect of those whose respect is worth having if he is not able to show that his existence adds something to the world's activities, to the world's wealth, and the world's welfare.
