GOOD CONDITION OF BUILDING AND LOAN

LOCAL INSTITUTION IS A LIVE AFFAIR

Rapidly Growing and Enlarging Scope of Work—Profits Show Increase.

There is no liver organization in Brevard than the Brevard Building and Loan Association. This institution has grown rapidly since its formation some three years ago and has aided much in the building of the town. The evidences of its good work may be seen on every side, and it is therefore gratifying to know that it is in a flourishing condition.

Below we are printing a report showing the condition of the association on the first of this month. This shows that the profits for the past year have been in excess of the profits for the two preceding years combined, and this is certainly an excellent showing. The association is conservatively and economically managed and is worthy of the hearty support of all who believe that the town ought to grow, not to mention the fact that the investment pays eight and a half per cent.

The following is the statement of condition Nov. 1, 1911:

Receipts to Date.
 Membership fees $ 213.50
 Installments paid in (dues) 16,001.00
 Interest paid in 1,009.53

REV. C. S. KIRKPATRICK IS NOT TO RETURN

METHODIST PASTOR SENT TO CANTON CHURCH

Rev. L. D. Thompson Sent to Brevard, and Rev. C. M. Carpenter to the Circuit.

The Western North Carolina conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, adjourned Monday morning with the announcement of the appointments for the coming year after a session of six days at Statesville.

The people of Brevard will learn with regret that Rev. C. S. Kirkpatrick will not return to the church here, having been sent to Canton. The new pastor of the Brevard church will be Rev. L. D. Thompson.

The four years limit had not been served out here by Mr. Kirkpatrick, and the general impression was that he would again be sent back to the church here. During his pastorate here he has accomplished much of good, building up the membership of the church and serving his charge faithfully. He has been popular with all the citizens of the town, not alone with his congregation, and he will be missed in the community. The good wishes of the people here will go with him to his new field of labor.

The man who is to succeed him here, Mr. Thompson, is a preacher of much promise, one of the strong men of the church, and he will receive a hearty welcome here.

Rev. R. C. Kirk, who has been serving the Brevard circuit, has been transferred to Jonathan in Haywood county, his successor on the circuit here being Rev. C. M. Carpenter. At the conference Mr. Kirk was raised from the rank of local preacher to deacon and received on trial in the conference. His career in the church will be watched with interest by many friends throughout the county.

Rev. W. H. Willis, who for the past four years has faithfully served this district as presiding elder, was this year given a station, being sent to the Mt. Airy church, one of the best in that section of the state.

Rev. T. F. Marr, who is well known here, was given the Trinity church at Charlotte. For the past four years he has been the presiding elder of the Winston district.

Rev. J. A. Sharp, who has many relatives and friends in this county, was again returned to the church at Pleasant Garden.

The new presiding elder for this district is Rev. L. T. Cordell, one of the best in the conference.

The conference just ended has been a most successful one. Its sessions were presided over by Bishop E. R. Hoss. The reports made showed that the last year has been a good one for Methodism.

A TRIBUTE OF RESPECT

Mrs. Carrie B. Galloway, wife of T. H. Galloway, was born in Pickens county, South Carolina, in March, 1878; died at Brevard, N. C., Nov. 8th, 1911.

She was a daughter of Joseph Addison and Pauline Boggs. Her father was one of the first and most prominent settlers of upper South Carolina, and her parents have both passed, like she, to the beyond.

This family established themselves among the undulating foothills of Pickens county, at Liberty, and there the family was born and reared, and brought up in the Presbyterian faith which characterized many of the settlers of the Piedmont section of the Carolinas.

The old homestead still stands, as it has stood through sun and storm, through war and peace, with all its comforts and splendid hospitality to make glad the friend and stranger alike.

Carrie united with the Presbyterian church at the age of 12 and lived in strict keeping with the tenets and doctrines of that faith until after her marriage when she united with the Methodist church, of which her husband was a member. Connected with this church, she was always found in her place at Sunday school, in church, in societies, unless kept away by sickness, and the church and its various organizations will miss her ever present smile, her wise counsel and friendly communion.

Suffering seemed to be her portion for a larger part of her married life, but it was borne with a marked degree of patience and fortitude. Medical skill was baffled by her last illness, and all that tender hands and sympathetic friends could do to alleviate pain was done. Through the valley of the shadow she has gone as all must go, but the life she lived and the good she did leave the blessed assurance that her departed spirit is with those of the just made perfect—those who are at rest and peace with Him that sitteth upon the throne of the heavens.

A loving wife, a devoted mother, a patient sufferer, a noble Christian woman has lain her burdens down and has passed with the boatman to the shores of that undiscovered country. She loved her home, she loved her friends, she had no enemies. Cheerful, hopeful, gentle, patient, loving mother and wife is not here to guide infant feet and make home complete, to counsel in time of trial those who must meet them, but other beckoning hands reach out from that other clime to welcome those who mourn her departure here. A brother and husband with heavy hearts and a babe of tender years are left behind.

Beside her mother in the quiet cemetery near where she played when life was young, where she dreamed when girlhood's roses bloomed, where she thought and wrought when life's realities met her face to face, she sleeps the sleep of the just beneath the wreath, the crescent and the cross of per-

SOUTHERN EXTENDS DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE

TRAINS WILL GO THROUGH TO LAKE TOXAWAY

Effective Nov. 26, Double Daily Service From Lake to Hendersonville

Effective November 26 the Southern railway will give a through double daily service between Hendersonville and Lake Toxaway.

After that date the two trains now making Brevard a terminal will go on to the Lake, and this section will have the best train service ever given with the exception of special service in the tourist season.

Trains number 7 and 8 will be extended to and from Lake Toxaway on the following schedules. Leaving Hendersonville at 11:25 No. 8 will arrive at Brevard at 12:25 as at present and then go on to Lake Toxaway arriving there at 1:30 in the afternoon. No. 7 will leave Lake Toxaway at 3 p. m., will leave Brevard at 4:05 as at present, arriving at Hendersonville at 5:05. The schedule of the trains leaving Lake Toxaway in the morning and returning there at night will not be changed.

The double daily service recently instituted as far as Brevard has been most satisfactory. The two extra trains have proved most convenient both to the people of Brevard and points below here and also to the outside people who wished to reach Brevard. Since the establishment of this service there has been a very noticeable increase of traffic. The decision to make the service the same the entire length of the road will be received with nearly as much joy as the former change in service.

The new service will give the people of the upper end of the county the same conveniences as those of Brevard and the lower portion of the county. Particularly will it enable the residents of Rosman and Lake Toxaway and intermediate points to visit Brevard more conveniently, and this should prove well worth while to Brevard.

A WORD OF THANKS

In behalf of the teachers and pupils of the Graded school I wish to thank all persons that helped us win the contest piano. Could you have seen the happy faces of the children Friday morning you would have felt amply paid for your investment in it.

The piano now belongs to the children of the Brevard district. I make only two requests of the parents of these children, that you send them to school every day of the school year, if possible, and that you visit the school when you can.

COUNTY HOME AGAIN SUBJECT OF REPORT

GRAND JURY URGES IMMEDIATE ACTION

Conditions at County Home Again Declared to Be Unbearable by Official Body.

When Judge Henry P. Lane on Wednesday adjourned the November term of the Superior court for this county he announced that he would be back Friday morning to resume the sessions of the court, but he failed to return. Instead he telephoned that he was indisposed, and instructed Clerk of the Court Paxton to formally terminate the term.

When the judge and solicitor left Brevard Wednesday afternoon the grand jury was still in session, and this body did not complete its business until Friday morning. The report of the grand jury was turned over to Clerk Paxton, and is as follows:

"To his Honor Judge Lane, presiding:

"We the grand jury named for this term of the court beg to submit the following report:

"First: The county home. We have, by committee duly appointed, examined the county home for the aged and infirm and find that the number of members in the home is five, who seem to be reasonably well fed and clothed. Sanitary conditions are as good as could be expected with the present conditions of the home. Now we as your grand jury find the county home in a deplorable condition, such that we deem it impossible to keep the inmates of said home in a comfortable condition owing to the cold winds that pass through for lack of proper fitting doors, windows, plastering and floors, and we as your grand jury ask your honor to make a special order that the home be made comfortable and safe at once, and as it has been asked for heretofore and the commissioners have failed to comply with the request.

"Second: The jail. We have as a jury examined the county jail and find it to be in as sanitary condition as present arrangements will admit and that the inmates are properly cared for.

"Third: The county offices. We find that the county offices are in good condition. We recommend that the necessary chairs be provided for and also that broken lights be replaced, also that the outside of the court house be cemented for protection of same. We also recommend that the sheriff be requested to keep the public property inside the court house grounds.

"Before closing our report we desire to thank your honor for your kindness to our body, and for your clear and instructive charge.

"A. C. GARREN, Foreman."
