

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Children's Day at the Baptist church will be observed on Sunday, June 20.

Kendrick Witmer of Montgomery, Ala., is on a visit to his mother, Mrs. G. C. Witmer.

Mrs. A. M. Verdery and children have returned from a visit to friends in Savannah, Ga.

Mrs. H. P. Clark left recently for a few weeks' visit to Charleston, S. C.

In some sections of town one would think from the noises made that every tree had become a locust tree.

Mr. J. W. Hayes is having considerable additions and improvements made on his house on North Caldwell street.

Mr. Walter Hampton returned recently from the A. & M. college at Raleigh, where he has been for the past two sessions.

Miss Margaret Kinzey, of Mills River, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. M. J. Orr, and other relatives in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Trantham of Asheville were here the latter part of last week on a visit to their son, Mr. B. W. Trantham.

Miss Ida Lee Lyday of Bonrose is staying at her aunt's, Mrs. L. N. Townsend, and attending the summer school at Brevard Institute.

Miss Matilda Witmer, who has been teaching in the music department of the Columbia, S. C. College for women, returned home the latter part of last week.

Within a week's time three persons, who left town single, have returned to town married. It may be called honeymoon week in Brevard.

The Brevard Bible class will meet with Mrs. J. A. Miller Friday afternoon of this week at 3:15, at which time the semi-annual election will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davidson and daughter Louise and Mrs. Louise (photograph of Jacksonville, Fla., who spent last summer here, are visitors again this season, staying at the Aethelwold.

The ladies of the Book club were entertained last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. G. C. Witmer. With this meeting the club goes into summer quarters until the business meeting in September.

Last Sunday afternoon the congregation of Oak Grove, which assembles regularly for Sunday school exercises, had the pleasure of hearing a sermon from Rev. C. W. Carpenter, of Rosman.

Mr. J. C. Jones of Wintgate, N. C., was in Brevard last Saturday, because as an inquirer in regard to the vacant principalship of the graded school and consulted with the committee and superintendent on that subject.

Rev. C. A. Wood, presiding elder of the Asheville district, conducted services at the Methodist church last Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. M. Robbins, who was at Connestee church. The presiding elder had, as usual, a strong and sensible message for his people.

St. Phillips church, second Sunday after Trinity, June 13, 1915, Sunday school at the rectory at 9:15. Morning prayer and sermon (11) subject, "The New Song." The annual report will be read at the morning service. Friday, June 11, St. Nicholas day: evensong with address at 8: subject, "The Holy Ghost and the Psalms." The lesson for the week: Love and fear should not put the lesson of men. "The Father: True love for our fellowman gives us confidence that we are guided by the spirit of God.

Thomas Cheatham was seized by an attack of faintness on the evening of Sunday night, became helpless for a time, and was carried home in an auto. He had just returned to Brevard from a long trip beyond Lake Toxaway, in which he had traveled for many miles on the back of a mule. His health being somewhat impaired already, the exhaustion of the ride proved too great for his strength, resulting in the break down. During the week Dr. Cheatham left with his sisters for a visit to their home in Hendersonville.

Miss Kathleen Erwin has been elected by the Brevard graded school committee to teach in the school for the coming session. The position of principal remains yet to be filled.

Carpenters are at work in the postoffice this week removing the combination boxes and putting lock boxes in their place. This work is in accordance with the postoffice rules, first, second and third class offices being required to use lock boxes. The ease with which combinations are learned makes them liable to being opened by the wrong persons. Many persons also are careless about their combinations, leaving the boxes closed without turning off, and thus the door is often pushed open by the mail. Two keys are furnished with each box, which ought to make the mail accessible without much inconvenience.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL ELECTED

The trustees of Brevard graded school met on Thursday of this week and elected Prof. J. Clyde Jones as principal of the school for next year. Professor Jones comes here from the Mountain Park High school in Surry county. He is a graduate of Wake Forest college. He has been teaching several years and comes highly recommended. Teaching and school administration is his chosen work. It is not his intention, as is the case with a good many, to use teaching as a "stepping stone" to something lower.

The faculty for Brevard school is now complete, except an assistant in the first grade who is to be selected by the primary teacher.

The fall term of the school will open Monday, August 2, and close Friday, December 1. The spring term will open Monday, January 3, and close Friday, April 2. We hope for the school a most prosperous year.

Not Exactly Satisfied.

A party of women from a local church gathered for a thimble party one day recently at the home of one of the members. The ladies were intimate friends and the heat of the day, the excitement of the war or some other circumstance, perhaps just feminine nature, caused them to indulge rather freely in neighborhood talk, commonly called "gossip." The little daughter of the hostess slipped in unnoticed and sat listening. Absent minds were mentioned in critical remarks and even some of the guests who took their departure were discussed. As the talk went on little Elizabeth edged up to her mother and said in a stage whisper: "Oh, dear! Nobody seems just exactly satisfied with anybody, does they, mamma?"—Greenton Enterprise.

Satan's Way.

Mrs. Kilore was the pretty young wife of the elderly village pastor. One day she went into the city with a friend and, among other things, bought a new frock. "Another frock, my dear?" said her husband. "Did you need another?" "Yes," said the wife, hesitatingly, "I do need it, and, besides, it was so pretty that the devil tempted me." "But you should have said, 'Get thee behind me, Satan.' Have you forgotten that?" "Oh, no; but that was what made the trouble, hubby, dear. I said, 'Get thee behind me, Satan,' and he did, but he whispered over my shoulder, 'It just fits you beautifully in the back.' And I just had to take it then."—Harper's Magazine.

One Race of Men.

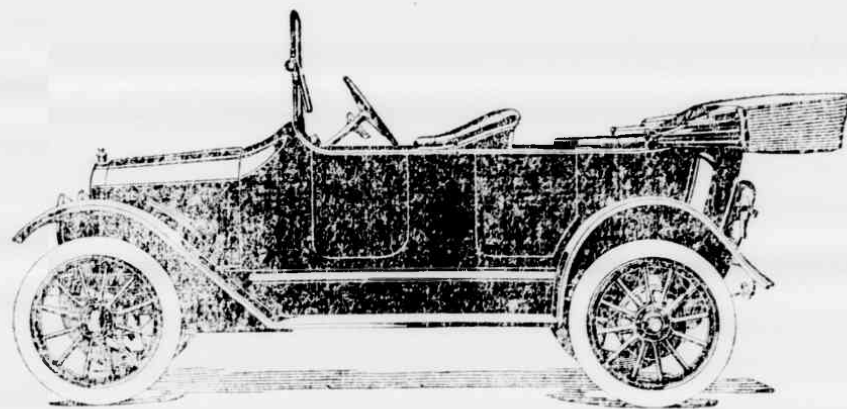

Expansion and combination must go on until all nations or combinations of nations have become absorbed into one complete whole, according to Alfred W. Lawson—a solidified people as large as the earth itself, a great and glorious unification of all the races, to which boundaries between different countries will mean no more than the boundaries between the different states mean to the American citizen today, and when such pride and patriotism will cease to exist entirely. Progress and expansion must go on, notwithstanding that the average human being has some sort of a dull feeling that this must all end in the year of 1914.

Where She Mended It.

When illicit distilling was common in the Highlands there was an old man who went about the country repairing whisky-pots. The ganger met him one day, and, surmising that he had been doing repairs at no great distance, asked what he would take to inform him (the ganger) where he had repaired the last whisky-pot. "Och," said the old man, "she'll shust tak' hant a crown." "Done," retorted the ganger. "Here is your money, but be careful to tell me correctly." "Och, she'll no tell the gentleman a lee. M' shust mended the last whisky-pot where the hole was."
