FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1915

It was the good fortune of the editor to spend some time at the home of Mrs. B. P. Merrell and family on our recent visit to the Association on Little River, and never have we received more hospitable treatment. This family is composed of bright boys and girls who will be heard from in the future. Although there are five boys in the home none of them are cigarette smokers.

Some of the newspaper scribes throughout the country are insisting that President Carranza, of Mexico, shave off his whiskers. That would never do, for should he cut 'em off not even his best friends could recognize him.

The announcement of President Wilson's engagement and approaching marriage seems to have killed the Ellen Wilson memorial proposition. It seems like a shame for all that handsomely embossed stationery to be wasted, too.

The News is in receipt of an illustrated copy of the Oakland California Tribune, sent by Mr. Jos. S. Silverstein, who is spending some time with his family on the Pacific coast.

The rains of the last few days have put the roads in ideal condition for dragging, but as yet we have not observed any of the work going on.

About the only reason we know that Carranza should be recognized as the leader in Mexico is that the Catholics don't want him.

What was known of the old fashioned man who said the great European war would end in October?

THE FASHION PLATES

Everything.
We have been reading about what they are going to do and are doing this fall and winter with the fashion plates, and we find that the Germans want the tight skirt to come again, as a matter of economy and as a war measure.
Each year witnesses something new in midday's gear. Old Dame Nature takes the seasons as they come and never changes. The tight skirt is the same as when the stars first sang; the old fashioned bell, back never wavered and never changed; the hose may burst to original colors now and then—but it is the rose-still—and if you can imagine a woman in hoop skirts and a dress that looks like an inflated balloon—see her in her transcendent beauty forty years ago and then look at her in this tight fitting, bone-obtruding, death, such as was worn only a short twelve months ago, short stopping between the street and imagine God Almighty giving new forms each year to his fashions and his shrals—well, the dress-maker and the cloth manufacturer must live—and Man must foot the bills.
In other words, man is willing. He wants his daughters to be as stunning as possible because they must make a catch. He wants his wife to dazzle other men's wives and the contest is ever on. As for himself, well, any old thing will do. He may wear with impunity a straw hat three seasons old even as Uncle Russ Sage wore his; he may have any kind of shoes that suit his fancy or please his bunion; he may have a James Slinger or a Seymour court; he may wear a vest or he may go without; he can do all kinds of ridiculous things in Fashion's realm and the world takes him for what he is worth—having long ago insisted that the coat does not make the man. But for the women—they not only make the dresses but the dresses make them—and unless she can be in the latest style she looks sour enough to curd milk; she is at war with the world and she regrets the day she left her mother. But like her in the latest—no matter how grotesque or unbecoming—like her in the latest out and she will sweep down the street as proud and haughty as any queen that ever graced a throne; she will glide past you like a fast-flying star—she cuts the wind and if you are lucky enough to receive her gracious smile you think of angels and of heaven and you wonder why God placed such beautiful creatures here to mingle with the vulgar mob of men. But take away her late styled gown—put her out in the kitchen with an old apron thrown over her dress; see her with her hair done in a ragged knot; watch her take a freckled faced kid over her knee and spank him until he sees stars astronomy has never located; see her with red arms and sleeves high rolled looking daggers at His Lordship as he comes in late for a dinner that would perpetuate dyspepsia forever—and then go out in some silent shute and sit down and confess gladly that after all Fashion was the goddess who beguiled Man.

ROBERT C. ENGLISH

Uncle Robert Oliver English was born August 27, 1828, and entered into rest Wednesday evening October 13, 1915. The time of his earthly pilgrimage being eighty-seven years one month and sixteen days. He professed faith in Jesus Christ at the age of twenty-seven years and joined the Methodist church at English Chapel, of which he remained a faithful and consistent member until his death.

He was a kind, loving and gentle father and husband. He was one of the oldest and best known citizens of this county.

Although he had been sick for a long time and was not expected to ever regain health and strength again. His wife died just two years ago, and he was buried by her side at Davidson River cemetery.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. J. G. Neill, of Pisgah Forest, Mrs. John Perry, of Calvert, Robert English, Jr., of Pisgah Forest, and Weldon English, of Horse Shoe, all of whom live in this county.

"All things work together for good to those who love God, and are called according to his purpose." And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying. Neither shall there be any more pain, for former things have passed away.

"Eye hath not seen, neither hath it entered the heart of man to conceive the things that God hath prepared for them that love him."

By the grace of God may we all meet him there.

A FRIEND.

PENROSE LOCALS

There will be an entertainment and box supper at Penrose State High School Friday night (tonight). The program will be as follows: Music by the Little River band, a speech by Mr. Chas. B. Deaver, a sale of the boxes by Prof. T. C. Henderson, and ice cream for sale all the while. The proceeds from the sale will be expended for more desks. Everybody is invited to come and bring boxes. The program will commence at 7:30 o'clock, but if it happens that you cannot come so soon be sure to come even if a little late.

The various departments of our school are running nicely, and our enrollment is increasing. Our greatest trouble seems to be rain and mud.

A great number of our people attended the Baptist Association on Little River during the last week, and all reported a grand session throughout.

There wasn't any Sunday school at Enon last Sunday owing to most all the folks wanting to attend the association.

There will be preaching at Enon next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, and it is desired that all the people come out. Come soon enough for Sunday school at ten o'clock, if you please.

Keep it ever in your minds that our school is growing and that we are offering exceptional advantages in the way of a business education, and also a music education. Tuition is free in the high school department; tuition is only $3.00 per month in the commercial department for any two of the following courses: Bookkeeping, typewriting, shorthand or penmanship. Tuition in the music department is only $1.00 per month. We are offering our courses cheap in order to help those who will let us do so.

We are offering good board for $6.00 per month. Why, you can come to school cheaper than you can stay at home, so please come boys and girls.

LAKE TOXAWAY VS. CALVERT

The students of the Lake Toxaway school visited the Calvert school last Friday. They all report a well spent day, as they were very much interested in the good work that was being done by the Calvert school. The two schools engaged in a spelling match, which was very interesting, both sides doing good spelling. But the visitors finally held the floor alone.

Bad Colds Quickly Broken Up.

Mrs. Martin Wilcox, Gwanda, N. Y., writes: "I first used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy about eight years ago. At that time I had a hard cold and coughed most of the time. It proved to be just what I needed. It broke up the cold in a few days, and the cough entirely disappeared. I have told many of my friends of the good I received through using this medicine, and all who have used it speak of it in the highest terms. Obtainable everywhere." adv

Sure Cure.

"My love, I wish you wouldn't pout." "All the women do, dear." "But it looks like an admission on your part that you are not already perfect, and that pains me." What could she do but stop?

The Dull One.

She—"Oh, Charles, it is so cold! I would like to have something around me." He—"What would you care to have?" She—"Oh, anything—" And he brought a shawl.—Michigan Gayle.

Guarding Against Typhoid.

In order to guard against typhoid fever, food of all kinds should be kept covered or wrapped and out of the reach of flies, and uncooked foods as a general proposition should be avoided.

Child's Proper Weight.

A child of three feet should weigh a little more than 28 pounds, and up to four feet two pounds more for each inch of height. Thence the increase is 2½ pounds.

Already Done.

Mrs. Sleem (to her husband's chum)—"Tom, I wish you could break George of playing poker." The Chum—"I did break him, only last night."—Chicago Herald.

Powder on a Slipper Sole.

The best method of applying face powder is to spank it on with a lamb's wool-lined sole such as is used in worsted bedroom slippers.

Might Marry to Reform Them.

If girls could see the men they are going to marry before breakfast there would be fewer weddings.—Topeka Capital.
