SANITARY MILK PLANT

Clearliness Often Overlooked in Rush of Business.

Score Card Used by Dairy Inspectors Should Be Posted Where it Can Be Easily Seen by Employees—Avoid Strainers.

During the rush of business the importance of clearliness in the milk plant is often temporarily overlooked. As a reminder of points often neglected in this way, a score card, such as is used by dairy inspectors in scoring city milk plants, should be posted where it can be easily seen by the employees who, by studying it, can learn wherein they are lacking, from the inspector's point of view. The dairy division of the bureau of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture will send a sample score card on request.

Many of the items on the card are self-explanatory, but there are some details in milk plant sanitation which are not given on any score card. If the floors, walls and ceiling are smooth and are made of sound and durable materials, they may be easily kept free from dirt and dust. Concrete floors are very satisfactory, for they can be flushed often with water, there is no danger of rotting, and if properly constructed there will be no cracks in which dirt can collect. Iron plates laid in cement are sanitary and are more durable than concrete.

A separate room for handling the milk apart from all other operations is essential and all doors must be kept closed to exclude flies and impure air. It is better to provide pure air by means of a modern system of ventilation. Even when the air is pure, the vats, pasteurizers, coolers, filters and other apparatus should be covered to prevent all unnecessary contact with the air.

The milk must be kept cool after it is received at the plant, and not be allowed to stand long before bottling, or not used at once the cans should be put into a refrigerator or the milk stored in tanks made for this purpose. These tanks must be in a cool place or be surrounded with a jacket of ice water or brine. Strainers or cheese cloth are more satisfactory and more easily cleaned than those of wire gauze, but the use of strainers of any kind should be avoided as much as possible. Some dealers strain the milk after it is pasteurized before it is run into the filter. This may increase the bacterial count and furthermore is unnecessary if the milk is properly clarified or filtered before pasteurizing and if the apparatus is clean.

A floor of cheesecloth and cotton, if used, must be changed several times during the day. The cheesecloth must be washed, sterilized and kept where the air is pure. It can be used a few days before throwing away, but the cotton, of course, should be used only once. As soon as the milk is put up all parts of the apparatus should be thoroughly cleaned by first rinsing in cool water, then washing with hot water to which washing soda has been added, and finally sterilized with boiling water or steam.

Covered Milk Pail.

The pumps and pipes can be rinsed by pumping water through them immediately after using. They must then be taken down and thoroughly washed; this can easily be done if there are several couplings in the pipes. All joints and couplings must be kept tight and free from dirt, rust and corrosion. Rattled and rusty apparatus or cans afford good lodging places for bacteria and, being hard to clean, should not be used.

The pasteurizer is one of the most difficult pieces of machinery to keep clean, as the milk sometimes sticks to the sides and, if not properly cleaned, a cocked layer forms on the inside, which grows worse each day.

Sterilizing Milk.

Milk can be sterilized by electricity. At the University of Liverpool (England) it was found that by the use of electricity the number of bacteria is reduced greatly, all the color bacteria, the bacteria of bowel troubles, and their allies are destroyed; all the tuberculous germs are killed; no chemical change nor change in taste is made in the milk.

Ideal Greens for Hens.

Cabbages, beets and mangels make ideal greens for hens during the winter. Small potatoes and specked apples are also relished, particularly when the fowls are confined to their indoor quarters.

ROAD DELEGATION TO GREENVILLE, JUNE 20

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS INTERESTED IN HIGHWAY

Commissioners Name Committee to Work up the Road Delegation to Visit Greenville.

The county commissioners Monday named a committee to work up a delegation of road enthusiasts to visit Greenville on June 20 and explain to the road authorities and commercial organizations of Greenville county what Transylvania is doing in the way of improving the interstate highway, and secure some definite understanding as to what the South Carolinians propose to do in the way of connecting with the road through Transylvania.

The committee consists of W. E. Bruce, jr., Chas. H. Shipman, C. E. Orr and Dr. E. S. English.

Transylvania has a large number of convicts working on the road near Connettee and is anxious that Greenville county fulfill its promise to build a good highway to the State line.

Efforts will be made to have a large delegation from this county.

OTHER BUSINESS MATTERS.

As the result of a petition asking for a new road from Macedonia church to a point near the residence of J. M. Galloway, whereby a distance of six or eight miles may be saved in traveling to church and school by the new road one and one-half miles long, the road overseer was instructed to select a jury, lay out the road and assess damages and benefits.

A petition to re-instate the stock tax in Gloucester township was dismissed for want of authority to act.

MOST ELECTRICALLY MODERN HOME IN TRANSYLVANIA

Mrs. Armstrong of Lake Toxaway Builds One of the Most Handsome Summer Homes at Toxaway to be Found in County.

M. M. Chapman has completed the installation of electrical equipment for the handsome summer home of Mrs. L. M. C. Armstrong of Augusta on the shores of Lake Toxaway.

Mr. Chapman says for a home of such large dimensions this is the most modern and equipped summer home so far as electrical works apply to be found in Transylvania county.

In addition to the 117 electric bulbs employed arrangements have been made for the most modern appliances for kitchen, pantry, laundry and other departments furnished by manufacturers of electrical equipment.

J. M. Kilpatrick was the builder of the home and the contractor for the plumbing.

It is a 21-room house and cost about $10,000. A barn cost about $2,800; a servants' house $1,300; water line $3,000; and a $3,000 road.

BLANTYRE ITEMS

Miss Floy Justus entertained a number of friends on last Saturday evening. Playing lawn games and serving ice cream and cake for refreshments, featured the entertainment. Misses Dora Plimmons, Maul Woodfin, Victoria Byrd and Susan Smith were among those present.

A number from Blantyre attended the children's day exercises at Etowah Sunday morning and the singing of the Pleasant Grove choir in the afternoon.

Mrs. Manson Blythe has been very sick for several days.

The only child of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Long died last Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lane of Pisgah Forest spent Sunday with Mrs. Byrd.

Miss Pearl Powell returned Saturday from a visit to Little River.

RALPH R. FISHER WITHDRAWS FROM RACE FOR REGISTRAR

Ralph R. Fisher, the only republican to announce for a county office, makes the following announcement of his withdrawal from the race:

"To my friends in Transylvania County:

"Having determined to go to Wake Forest college and study law, for which place I leave today, it will not be possible for me to continue in the race for register of deeds on the republican ticket to be nominated by the republican county convention this summer. I wish to thank all my friends for their many offers of support, and to assure them that while I deeply appreciate their interest and have no fear of having won the nomination and election, yet I think I am taking the proper course by endeavoring to prepare myself for my life's work."

"Very sincerely,
RALPH R. FISHER.

"This June 6, 1910."

J. L. GASH DEAD

Joseph Lee Gash died at his home at Etowah at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, May 30, in the 83rd year of his age. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 12 o'clock at Mills River chapel. Revs. W. F. Womble, R. F. Hummcutt and T. Ellison Simpson conducted the services.

Mr. Gash was born December 19, 1826, at the old Gash homestead about a mile and a half from Etowah. That was then in Buncombe county, as Henderson county had not been erected. He was well and favorably known in that community and throughout the county, and the news of his death is received with sincere regret by a large circle of friends.

Surviving are his wife (who was formerly Miss Margaret Steward and who was married to him in February, 1844), and two sons and two daughters. The sons are George A. Gash of Tryon and Leander Gash of Blantyre. The daughters are Miss Pink M. Gash, who for several years has lived in Hendersonville, and Miss Pearl G. Gash of Etowah.—Hendersonville Times.

Old Eyes Grow Young

when fitted with our glasses.

People who are past the middle age should give their eyes the best of attention if they wish to retain reasonably good eyesight. Makeshift glasses will not do—in many cases poor glasses are worse than none.

We are equipped by long experience to fit you with glasses that will correct your defects of vision and give you an unexpected degree of comfort. It doesn't pay to take chances with the doubtful kind.
