John G. Manger, editor of the Sunbeam, Seligman, Mo., who named Grover Cleveland for the Presidency in Nov., 1882, while he was Mayor of Buffalo, N. Y., is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "I have used it for the past five years and consider it the best preparation of the kind in the market. It is as staple as sugar and coffee in this section. It is an article of merit and should be used in every household." For sale by Chas. Cole & Co., Druggists.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons will Fight in Dallas.

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 21.—After two days consumed in argument on the habeas corpus hearing of Jesse Clark, charged with prize fighting, Chief Justice J. H. Hurt, of the Court of Criminal Appeals, decided this afternoon that the Criminal Code was wholly inoperative. The court said:

"It was I who first suggested to make prize fighting a felony. I wanted the State of Texas to make an advance on the subject which I regarded as the most brutal of acts. But my private opinion has nothing to do with the law. I do not believe that under the provisions of our statutes or the well settled rule of construction, this man has violated a law that has been so plainly written that he is responsible for it, and I shall discharge him. I will give my reasons hereafter in writing."

The Attorney General said to an Associated Press representative that he had no further procedure to take. There is no legal bar to prevent the pulling off of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight.

While in Chicago, Mr. Charles L. Kahler, a prominent shoe merchant of Des Moines, Iowa, had quite a serious time of it. He took such a severe cold that he could hardly talk or navigate, but the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured him of his cold so quickly that others at the hotel who had bad colds followed his example and ordered it from the nearest drug store. They were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Kahler for telling them how to cure a bad cold so quickly. For sale by Chas. Cole & Co., Druggists.

GRAY CABLES TO ATLANTA.

The President Touches the Button Which Starts the Machinery at the Atlanta Exposition.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. Sept. 18.—The vast machinery of the Atlanta Exposition was successfully set in motion today from the President's summer home, Gray Gables. Early in the afternoon Superintendent Vilas, of the Boston office of the Western Union Telegraph company, was at his temporary desk at Gray Gables, and made frequent tests to Atlanta to see that everything was in proper shape.

The room in which the ceremonies were performed, is known as the President's gun room, leading out of the reception room. On a little shelf close by the window is placed the annunciator. This is of black rubber, with a small solid gold band around the edge, with the following inscription engraved thereon: "Marion Cleveland, September 18, 1895." The knob of the annunciator is white, with an engraved Masonic Emblem—Square and Compass—in gold, an exceeding pretty affair.

Private Secretary Thurber during all the preliminaries, acted as master of ceremonies and as fast as the messages were received, took them to the President and frequently the President himself would ask how matters were proceeding.

The President received a message from Atlanta that his part in the programme would not be reached before 5:45 o'clock. Later it was reported to be at 6 o'clock. While these repeated delays were rather tiresome, the President took the matter calmly and was not apparently in the least disturbed. From 5 o'clock until the button was pressed he remained beside the operator and every detail of the exercises was sent here and read aloud by Secretary Thurber.

It seems that all the delay was caused by the parade being two hours late in starting and the President was informed that the last speaker would be Mr. Speer, after whose address he would be requested to press the button.

The special wire was disconnected from the telegraph instrument and for one minute the wire was left open, and at the end of the next 20 seconds, Mr. Cleveland pressed the button. This was at 6:56 o'clock. His thumb was on the annunciator hardly a second and as soon as Operator Vilas could connect the key, word was received from Atlanta that the machinery started splendidly. In this respect it was a decided success.

At the request of the committee the President was asked to send a message before the button was pressed in order that it might be read to the vast assemblage. Mr. Cleveland kindly consented and wired the following at about 5:30 o'clock:

"Fully appreciating the value and importance of the Exposition inaugurated today I am especially gratified to be related to its inception and progress and to participate in its opening ceremonies. I sincerely congratulate those whose enterprise and energy have accomplished such splendid results and heartily wish that the Exposition they have set on foot will be completely successful in consummating all the good results contemplated by its promoters.

(Signed) GROVER CLEVELAND."

Irving W. Larimore, physical director of Y. M. C. A., Des Moines, Iowa, says he can conscientiously recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm to athletes, gymnasts, bicyclists, foot ball players and the profession in general for bruises, sprains and dislocations; also for soreness and stiffness of the muscles. When applied before the parts become swollen it will effect a cure in one half the time usually required. For sale by Chas. Cole & Co., Druggists.

An American Arrested And Ordered to Leave Cuba.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 21.—A special to the Times-Union from Key West says: John A. Sowers, an American and a prominent sugar planter for the past thirty years, living in Sagua la Grande, passed through this city tonight, having been ordered out of Cuba by Martinez Gampos. On the 27th of August Mr. Sowers was arrested for no cause whatever and imprisoned for ten days, after which he was released and given twenty-four hours to leave the country.

Mr. Sowers is well known in financial circles, and his name for the last three decades has been considered a synonym for integrity and probity. He feels very indignant over his treatment and says that the Spanish Government has begun a system of persecution unheard of in the annals of war. Persons are arrested upon the most flimsy pretext and life and liberty are insecure.

Passengers on the Mascotte tonight say that matters look very gloomy for the Spaniards. The insurgents are committing great depredations all over the country and the Spanish troops fear to meet them as they are invariably driven back to the towns. Roloff, with a heavy force is operating around Placetas and the whole country is in sympathy with him. Up to the departure of the Mascotte to-day over seventy arrests have been made of Cuba sympathizers. The authorities are searching every house looking for contraband goods.

The fireman, Lopez, who was taken the Mascotte on her last trip for landing a box of cartridges has been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. The boatman suffered the same fate.

It May Do as Much for You.—Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a Severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called Kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c. for large bottle. At Chas. A CHARLOTTE TIN-PANADE.

Tendered Messrs. Butler and Henry in Charlotte at the Auditorium by Some of Their Boy Admirers—Mr. Henry Lost His Temper, but Could Not Catch the Boy—The Boys Named Henry "Buffalo Bill."

A passenger from the 1 o'clock train yesterday had a great account of the Butler-Henry speaking at Charlotte, Friday night. The passenger, in question, was a sympathizer with the populist orators, and, of course, his story must be taken with some grains of salt.

The meeting was held in the auditorium in Charlotte, and the narrator said there were two thousand people present, and that things started well, Butler leading off. He had not been long speaking, before some tin pans were heard in the rear of the hall. There were some boys there with some pans. Of course, this was annoying, and the spirit of the boys was interpreted to be that of viciousness. It did not occur to the narrator that the tin panade might have been meant in a complimentary spirit to the Senator. No, this thought did not once arise, and five hundred men arose as one man and made a charge on the boys, who, of course, scampered.

Then the Senator continued; but presently the sound of rocks was heard on the building, and after that pistol shots, and then rumors spread through the building that somebody had been shot. But maybe this was not the boys; it has not yet been proved on the boys.

Mr. Henry got up, and began gesticulating with that dumb bell motion of his arms, and called down King's mountain and other disagreeable things upon the heads of the boys, who were evidently listening under the windows.

Of course the meeting came to an end, and the speakers started to the Central Hotel to bed. The boys came out from the shadow, and, lying themselves behind the orators of the night, began again their tin panade, and presently came the refrain, joined in by all the boys:

"Oh Mary Ann; oh, Mary Ann; Don't you weep for me!"

The second verse of the campaign song went like this:

"Hooray! Hooray! Hooray for Buffalo Bill!"

Their young chorister voices rang out on the highly summered one hundred degree night air, and at the close of the refrain Henry, turning to Butler, muttered, "I wonder do they mean by that last Buffalo Bill stanza," unbuttoning his Prince Albert for the first time that day. "Confound their little Democratic souls, Butler, I feel as if I could whip fifteen of them right now; shall I do it?" The Senator counselled calmness, while the boys went back to the "Mary Ann" stanza in order to give Henry time to cool. Of course the boys stood ready to make the race with Mr. Henry, but this was not necessary. The two statesmen continued their itinerary to the hotel, and the escort stuck to them.

Now, if these boys are really guilty of all these charges, Mr. Henry's remedy was to have chased them up and spanked them well, if he could run fast enough. If Mr. Henry would exercise his legs with Indian clubs and dumb bells as much as he has his arms he might be in shape hereafter to catch a small boy.

But Mr. Butler's judgment was right the other night.

Mr. Henry could not catch a small boy now.—News and Observer.

Baxter Shewell and Dr. Lee Payne, appeared last week at Davidson court and submitted for an affray with deadly weapons. This was the shooting affair in the morning, and for which they were bound over to court just before the killing of old Dr. Payne. The case was suspended on the payment of the costs, the judge remarking that the whole case had been investigated fully and Shewell acquitted and that Payne had suffered in the loss of his father, therefore he would suspend judgment. The bitter feeling between the two families has broken out again. Dr. Lee Payne, it is said, has asked the foreman of the jury which tried Shewell, how much money he got for rendering his verdict.—Charlotte Observer.

A. M. Bailey, a well known citizen of Eugene, Oregon, says his wife has for years been troubled with chronic diarrhoea and used many remedies with little relief until she tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has cured her sound and well. Give it a trial and you will be surprised at the prompt relief it affords. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Chas. Cole & Company, Druggists.

Upon being asked who would make the strongest Democratic candidate in 1896, Senator Mills, of Texas, said: "Wm. R. Morrison, of Illinois, is, in my judgment, many thousands of votes stronger than any other whom we could name. Morrison's make-up is very much like that of General Jackson. He has strong Democratic convictions that no pressure of friend or foe could make him abandon. His sympathy is earnestly with the masses. He is for equal laws, equal burdens and equal benefits. He has advocated these principles and stood immovably by them throughout his public life. He has the confidence of the Democratic people everywhere. With a good, clear, unequivocal declaration of Jacksonian Democracy and Morrison, a man like Jackson, to stand on it, we can win."
