

THE TIMES,

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY YOUNG & GRANTHAM.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1892.

The following is an editorial from the New York Herald of January 25th.

"The chief argument of Mr. Cleveland nomination, so far as we can see, is that he had the courage to lead his party into a mire, and that he will do so again if he is given the opportunity.

"Courage is a good quality, but it needs to be tempered and guided by judgment. The use of a general is to win the battles. The main question about Mr. Cleveland is, can he lead his party to victory in 1892, and, if so, can he depend on so many public affairs as to secure for it another victory in 1896?

If anybody believes on due consideration, that Mr. Cleveland can do this, and do it better and more surely than any other man, then he may well support Mr. Cleveland's claim to "another chance." We take it for granted that the Cleveland howlers do believe this and have no fault to find with them—though we do not think rightly of their judgment.

What are the well known facts about Mr. Cleveland? He carried his own State, New York, and the election in 1884 by a scratch. He sat four years in the Presidency, honest, incurable but not sagacious or with statesmanlike foresight, narrow in his views and sympathies, prejudiced and allowing his prejudice to influence him. He raised dissensions in his party instead of allaying them. He alienated from himself the influential and sagacious of his party leaders. He was renominated on a platform dictated by himself and was beaten, losing his own State by a considerable majority.

We mean to do the fullest justice to Mr. Cleveland's good qualities. The real question is not whether he is a good man, nor even whether, as his friends assert, he is a brave or a more honest or a more sincere or a more dutiful man than all the rest of us. He may be the best man in the world, and yet it might not be prudent or proper for any party to renominate him. The real question is whether he can carry his party to victory, and whether he can be depended on to so manage his affairs as to then keep it in power.

If we thought he could do this, we should favor his renomination. It is because we do not believe he could or would do it that we have been frank enough to advise the party to discuss other candidates.

Take a single case as an illustration. New York is still, alas! necessary to an election. It is Mr. Cleveland's own State.

Can he carry it? He would be a rash man who should say yes.

But we believe Mr. German could carry New York. We believe Mr. Whitney could carry it. We believe Governor Russell, of Massachusetts, or Governor Gray, Governor Camp bell, Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, Mr. Wells, of Connecticut; Mr. Phelps, of Vermont; Senator Vilas, or Mr. Morriss—we believe any one on this list could carry New York more certainly than Mr. Cleveland.

It is therefore expedient for the party's interest and success to discuss the qualities of these and all other men who would also make worthy candidates. If, after such discussion, it shall appear that Mr. Cleveland is the only man, the most available, the surest to succeed, let him be nominated.

PLENTY OF LIQUOR IN CHARLOTTE.

Carpenters have remodeled the interior of a saloon at Charlotte so that the room is partitioned into two sections. The front section is fitted up as a drug-store. Along the wall in the rear section is a line of boxes, each numbered and locked, and in front is a counter. A man walks up to the counter and hands over his key, requesting the attendant to open his particular box. This is done, and inside is disclosed a jug or a bottle. The owner of the key helps himself, when his truck is again locked up to await another call. But how is the whiskey supplied? The man who rents one of these boxes simply orders it from Stassell's, and has it placed in his box instead of sending it home or hiding it behind a door. The boxes have already been rented, and the business is in operation. As the proprietor of the house does not sell the liquor but simply furnishes storage room, he claims that he is in no way violating the law.—Charlotte News.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

General H. B. Boynton in view of the Chilian situation has written an open letter advocating the removal of the disability now existing against Confederates. General Boynton is well known as a man who distinguished himself during the war upon the Union side and since the war has been of the ablest correspondents in Washington City. The situation as to Chili is unchanged, and while we do not believe that there will be any necessity for the enlisting of volunteers, either from the South or from the North, it is pleasant to find a Federal General who so promptly replies to a man, who in signing his proposition, misspelled his name by writing it Kerr when it should have been written Cur. He declares that this disability ought not to be removed and that the rebels of the South, as he chose to term the Southern people, were as bitter against the Union now as they were during the war.

The message of the President has been almost universally endorsed, even so bitter a paper as the New York Times endorses it fully and clearly, while the New York Sun declares it to be an able document clothed in calm, grave language and breathing the spirit of dignified and responsible patriotism. Among the Members of the Senate and the House there are but few who do not believe that the President has stated fairly the situation so that the people of the country may understand exactly what is expected of them. Among these few was Mr. Combs of Brooklyn, New York, and it is possible that even Mr. Brockenridge of Kentucky ought to be ranked with them because of the resolution he introduced which implied want of faith in the President as regards the papers which he sent to Congress. Mr. Brockenridge introduced a resolution calling for additional paper but the House, Democratic as it is, promptly voted to send that resolution to the committee on Foreign Affairs, as it ought to have done.

The answer to our demand, which went in the nature of an ultimatum requiring an immediate answer, has come but it is entirely unsatisfactory and it does not propose even an apology for the insulting Matta note. It reads as follows: "Chili agrees to withdraw the offensive note sent by Senator Matta to all the Chilian Ministers abroad and acknowledges that its issuance was due to an error of judgement. "Chili also withdraws its request for the withdrawal of United States Minister Egan. "In addition to this the Chilian Government in its answer proposes that the affair of the attack on the Baltimore sailors in Valparaiso be submitted to the arbitration of some neutral nation. "If this proposition is not acceptable to the United States Government, the Chilian Government suggests that the matter be submitted to decision of the Supreme Court of the United States."

The House of Representatives discussed the rules after finishing the discussion of Mr. Brockenridge's resolution and agreed to come to a vote upon them on the twenty-seventh. There were some amendments offered which may be adopted. Senator Hill attended a dinner given by the Manhattan Club in New York on the evening of the twenty-sixth, which was a most enthusiastic Hill affair. The Senator in response to a toast given to his health said among other things in regard to New York matters: "I simply did what I felt it to be my duty to my State and to my party. We have stormed and carried the citadel of Republicanism in this State, and this year we will storm and carry the citadel of Republicanism of the country. Especially have the Democrats of New York occasion to rejoice. We have carried the Legislature; we will soon have a new Congressional apportionment to be followed by new State apportionment, and I hope soon to sit in the United States Senate with a Democratic colleague."

Mr. E. R. Condit, in response to this, concluded his perorations with these significant words, "We owe him much; we know it, and shall remember it."

Kansas isn't a very old State but she trots out some pretty aged veterans. The latest is a colored citizen, who swears that he is 170 years old and that he fought in the revolutionary war.—Wilmington Star.

There is a mule in New Jersey said to be 84 years old. If Brayer Shepard is looking for a heal by mule climate, with the view of enjoying the benefit of it, and promoting longevity, he had better move over into New Jersey.—Wilmington Star.

I have used the Pokine remedy (prepared by W. F. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed it will effect a permanent cure. J. L. H. MISSILLER.

March 6, 1891.—For the benefit of the public I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured. Very respectfully, W. W. BOWLIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91. MR. W. T. CHEATHAM: Dear Sir.—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully, ZACK DAVIS.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM: Dear Sir.—I have been afflicted with rheumatism, time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from "Pokine" than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully, F. G. MITCHELL.

January 19, 1891. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.: Dear Sir.—I desire to say that in January last I was down with the rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine. Yours truly, C. G. BERNHAGEN.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 15, '91. MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.: Your rheumatic cure, "Pokine," has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.: Dear Sir.—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently try it many remedies, and I finally relieved by Pokine. Very resp'y, J. A. KELLY.
