THURSDAY MARCH 2, 1893.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Chronicle is a democratic newspaper. It derives its support from its subscription and advertising lists. Its policy is the policy of its editor, and his policy is defined in the democratic platform.

We desire to speak a word, in all candor, to you on the subject of the State Printing.

Our position on the subject has been consistent. This should give greater weight to what we say.

After you had been in session for several weeks the Senate and House appointed its respective committees on the State Printing.

These committees met in joint session to consider the subject, and especially how the interest of the State could be best subserved.

It was decided by the joint committee that the contract for doing the State printing should be let out on business principles.

A caucus was held and the committee reported its decision, which was accepted, and the following resolution was passed by the caucus:

Resolved, That the joint committee on printing be instructed to let out the State printing at the lowest reasonable price, all things considered, and that said committee is also instructed to make a contract to that effect and submit the same to the caucus at some future day.

In obedience to this resolution the committee heard testimony to ascertain the "lowest reasonable price," and, after weighing such testimony, the price was fixed at fifteen per cent. below the price now provided by law. They made the contract with Edwards & Broughton and E. M. Uzell, the two largest job printing houses in the city, and the contract, so made, was signed by them.

A second caucus was held. The report of the committee was submitted, and approved as to the price, but Mr. Josephus Daniels was nominated and elected in the place of the parties who had signed the contract.

This action on the part of the caucus was a surprise, because the intention was to award the contract to parties who were prepared to do the work, and not to an editor of a newspaper.

This was the understanding, so stated by the committee, and agreed to by it and by the first caucus with the view of eliminating the middle man, who, since 1870 has appeared in the contract.

By such elimination about $3,000 was saved annually for the State.

The result was a contract that was made upon a fair and equitable basis.

that he wanted it vindicated by the endorsement of a democratic caucus. So far as we are concerned, there would be no opposition, on our part. If the General Assembly was to vote him a certificate of political character, in open session, and affix to it the great seal of the State.

We think Mr. Daniel's political policy, while editor of the Chronicle, was erroneous and was hurtful to the democratic party.

This much, we have often said to him. We thought then, and think now, that his judgement was bad.

But, if certificates of political character are in order, and Mr. N. B. Broughton should appear as an applicant, we would not even then raise an objection, avoiding the certificate was qualified by the reminder that his judgement, too, was bad when he canvassed Chatham county, in company with S. Otho Wilson, in favor of the St. Louis platform, advocating its most dangerous feature, the ownership of railroads by the government, and with the suggestion added, that it was very improper for him while chairman of the democratic congressional district, to be a party, in anyway, to the renting of a warehouse, in this city for Marion Butler to hold his third party convention on the 17th of last May.

Your first duty, however, is to guard the treasury of your State. The money of your constituency is paid into the treasury to defray the legitimate expenses of the State government. It cannot be legally expended for any other purpose. From your sentinel chairs in the Capitol you cannot approve of a mere printing contract, whereby a profit of $3,000 is annually made out of North Carolina.

Duty to your State demands of you a more careful scrutiny of the subject on which we have, with the highest consideration, addressed you. Take the State Printing out of politics. Take the middle man out of the printing, and make a fair contract with the laborer to do the work.—State Chronicle.

A Convincing Reputation.
The Sanford Express, in its issue of January 26th, published a rumor that the distinguished Representative from Chatham county could neither read nor write. In last week's issue the Express published, in denial of this rumor, the following letter from Mr. Self:

"STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 7th, '93.
1 Mr. Editor of the Sanford Express,
Sir: I see in your issue of the 26th of January you have slandered me by saying that I could neither read nor write. Will you correct the above I have heard enough of this false report let me hear from you soon yours
A. M. Self"

A Foul Murder
was committed in Little Coharie township, this county, last week. Susan Ellis, a negro woman, about forty five years of age, was shot by some unknown person during the night. The ball from the weapon used, (supposed to be a pistol) entered the head just back of the left ear. The woman lived several days. She leaves four small children. At the coroner's inquest, no evidence was obtained pointed to the perpetrator of this horrible crime, but we hear there is strong suspicion as to who the murderer is.

We expect to see the light turned on soon. Murder will out.—Sampson Democrat.

The bill to get the new county of Scotland was defeated after it had passed the Senate and gone to the House.

Editor Josephus Daniels of the North Carolinian, gets the State Printing in the face of all the opposition, however the contract at 15 per cent. off from the former way of letting it out will save the State about $3,000.

Cleveland will be inaugurated on the 4th of March, then the Rads will turn out.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my Lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free Harper & Hood's Drugstore, regular size, 50c. and $1.00.
