LOCAL.

Miss Irene McKay is attending the Raleigh Fair this week.

Mess. M. J. Wade and W. H. Lane are attending the Raleigh Fair.

Col. Thos. Argo of Raleigh, was in town yesterday on professional business.

Mrs. E. F. Young and baby and Miss Ida Adams went up to the Fair Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Fleming left Wednesday morning for Raleigh, to take in the Fair.

Miss Emma Jeffreys from Fremont, is visiting her brother Mr. P. J. Jeffreys.

Rev. I. T. Newton formerly pastor of the Baptist Church here, spent a short time in our town Monday.

From every section we can hear the storm was severe and damaging to the forest and injured crops very much.

The price of cotton was a little better yesterday, and quite a lot of it came on the market. It sold from 7 1/4 to 7 3/4.

Madam Rumor who is always on the alert, says our town will in the near future have some marriages. Wonder, who it is!

Fayetteville we hear is soon to have a Populist Paper. A combination will take the Gazette outfit and run an Alliance Paper.

Mrs. J. O. Gordon who has been spending some time with relatives and friends at Nashville, N. C., returned home Monday.

The young man Marshal Bales, who held for illicit distillery, was tried by Commissioner Holland and released as no evidence could be produced against him.

Geneva J., the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Barefoot, died Friday night at 7.30 o'clock, she was sick only a short time and passed away at the tender age of five years.

Mr. Nathan Barefoot of Sampson, showed us three pumpkins of his raising which weighed 278 lbs. The heaviest one weighed 115 lbs. He sent them to the State Fair.

It is said, keep ever lasting hammering will bring success. So we have to keep asking our subscribers who are behind to come in and pay up. THE TIMES are tight and what each one owes us helps, and we need it.

The White Caps in Alabama and Mississippi are doing a great deal of mischief, burning gins and cotton houses, belonging to the farmers. They say people must hold their cotton until it reaches 10 cts. a pound.

Judge Avery and Mr. John Nichols of Raleigh, seems to have had some misunderstanding, from which a little difficulty arose, but explanations have been satisfactorily made since and both parties are now sorry over it.

Mr. O. J. Carroll and Mr. Carter of Raleigh, spent Friday and Saturday of last week in town. Mr. Carroll is the hopeful candidatt for U. S. Marshal of the Eastern District, who our people will be glad to see appointed at an day.

Poor Items.

The weather is cool and bracing now.

Mr. Claud H. Dollar of your town spent last Sunday in this community.

The wind on Friday the 13th, was severe and did considerable damage to crops, and especially to cotton.

One of our young men seems quite exhausted from a trip he took last Sunday. We hope he will soon recover.

The Prolific Literary Society at the Academy is making rapid progress and the members are almost getting to be orators.

The school keeps growing, new students arrive almost every week. Prof Campbell and his assistants know how to get plenty of work out of their students.

The Lecture at the Academy on the evening of the 16th by the Rev. I. T. Newton of Wake Forest College, was a success, and enjoyed by all who heard him. Our school returns thanks for his presence with us.

Turlington Items.

The nights are cool and little frost is making appearance.

The road overseers had to call in hands and cut the fallen trees out of the roads after the storm.

Mr. D. A. Stewart had the misfortune to lose a fine mule one night last week from colic.

This is the season for corn-shuckings and they are now in order, as the crop is rapidly being housed.

The storm last Friday did considerable damage in this section, hurt crops, blew down fences and timber, upset the telegraph wires along the Raleigh and Fayetteville road, but so far we have heard of no loss of life.

The suggestions are, that one of the boys at the Cross Roads will, ere long, take unto himself a better half.

The Storm Last Friday.

This section was visited last Friday about half past two o'clock by one of the most severe wind and rain storms our people ever witnessed, from what we gather from other points it began about the coast of Florida the day before and followed the Atlantic Coast of the Carolinas as far Wilmington, when the wind shifted in a South Easterly direction and blew terrible for a short while, all along in the pathway of the storm great damage was done. Ships were wrecked on the coast at Jacksonville, Charleston, Wilmington, Southport and other points. Much property was destroyed in these cities by the high waves and wind, 3 children were killed near Clinton, by the house blowing down, lives were lost in other sections, where the storm passed. In our town no serious damage was done more than blowing down trees and some out houses, shelters and such. The tin roof was blown off Mess. Young Bros. store, the Jackson Hotel chimney was blown down, also a stove chimney on the dwelling of Mr. Eldridge Lee, through the country where we can get reports it was very damaging, swept a great deal of timber, took the fences flat and injured crops of all kinds, besides killed in stock in various sections.

Communicated

Warren, Pope.
Mr. H. Warren was married to Miss S. J. Rape the 8th inst. at 9 o'clock a. m. Rev. Robert Jackson performing the ceremony. After a little chat and nice music on the organ by the bride and company, the lovely couple and their guests drove over to Long Branch Church, where they heard an able sermon by the Rev. Robert Jackson.

From the Church the crowd drove to Sampson to Mr. W. T. Warren's, the groom's father, where there was one of the best dinners waiting for us we have ever seen. We wish to return thanks to Mrs. Warren for her kindness.

We wish the new couple all the success life can give them.

Hard to Beat.

The Falcon Economist says that one of the hunters of that section, makes this assertion and can prove it by plenty of witnesses. That Mr. Rice on one occasion this fall started out hunting at 7 o'clock and came home by 11, and brought one hundred and ten opossums, which were caught in the hunt, at that rate he caught one about every two and one half minutes for four hours. Wonder where is the man, who killed all black-birds at one shot? Will the snake man please come again.

I Have Come.

On one occasion I was down on the river fishing and while looking after my fish I heard a slight noise in a pile of brush near by and on examination, to my utter astonishment there were two large rattlesnakes all coiled around each other and I stood still and watched them a moment, to see what they would do, and after a short while they began swallowing each other and I watched them very closely and they kept on swallowing until they had swallowed each other and there was no snake left.

NO ONE ASKED HIM.

An exchange tells the story of a boy who was sent to market with a sack of roasting ears and after lingering around town all day came home without selling them. When his mother asked him why he did not sell the corn, he said no one asked him what he had in the sack. The merchant who does not advertise is very much like the boy who waited for some one to find out what he had to sell.
