

The re-election of the old Board of County Commissioners by the Board Magistrates on the first Monday was presciently wise and proper. These gentlemen in the midst of every adverse circumstance...

The Harriet county court house—no, we mean the big safe for the court house—is still here awaiting shipment across and along the sunny stretches between this point and Lillington. It weighs about 7000 pounds...

We clip the above from the Jonesboro Progress. We don't reach out to despise it when it was written, but we assure our friend that if he intended to cast any reflection upon or belittle Harriet county in the manufacture of having two Court Houses destroyed by fire in the period of one year, he does not reflect the feelings of the people of Moore; but whom no power, nor more liberal minded people live in this broad land.

The following advertisement appeared in the Fayetteville (Tenn.) Express, in 1881. The advertiser was paid for by Mr. Johnson, who is whose still in the business at the same old stand:

Friends:—Having opened in Fayetteville several years ago a commodious shop for the sale of liquid fire. I embrace this opportunity to inform you that I have commenced the business of making drunkards paupers and beggars, for the sober, industrious and respectable portion of the community to support. I shall deal fairly and justly, which will induce men to deeds of riot, robbery and blood, and by so doing diminish the comfort, augment the expenses and endanger the welfare of the community.

I will undertake, at short notice, for a sum, and with great expectation, to prepare victims for the Asylums, poor houses, prisons and gallows.

I will furnish an article which will increase the amount of fatal accidents, multiply the number of distressing diseases, and render those which are harmless memorable.

I will deal in drugs which will deprive some of life, many of reason, most of property, and all of peace, which will cause the fathers to become fiends, wives widows, children orphans, and all mendicants.

I will cause many of the rising generation to grow up in ignorance, and prove a burden and nuisance to the nation.

I will cause mothers to forget their offspring and cruelly to take the place of love.

I will sometimes even corrupt the masters of religion; subvert the Gospel; belie the purity of the Church, and cause temporal, spiritual and eternal death; and if any should be so impertinent as to ask why I have the capacity to bring such accumulated misery upon a comparative happy people, my latest reply is: MONEY. The spirit trade is the wise, and some professing to be Christians give it their cheerful countenance.

I have a license, and if I do not bring these evils upon you somebody else will.

I have purchased the right to demolish the character, destroy the health, ruin the lives and ruin the souls of those who choose to honor me with their patronage.

I PLEDGE MYSELF TO DO ALL I HAVE HEREIN PROMISED.

Those who wish any of the evils above specified brought upon themselves or their dearest friends, are requested to meet me at my bar, where I will for a few cents furnish them with the certain means of so doing.

Common salt is one of the most valuable remedial agents the world contains. Used as a tooth powder, also or with a little prepared chalk it whitens the teeth and makes the gums hard and rosy. It is a good gargle for sore throats, and, if taken in time, will benefit, if not cure, diphtheria. It will stop bleeding of the mouth, and if warm water is a good emetic, a remedy against several poisons. There is no thing better for sore feet or hands than salt and water, and for ordinary sore eyes, though a painful application, will often effect a complete cure.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The utterance of ex-Speaker Reed on silver and the tariff, coming way back from London in the shape of the authorized interview in the Foreignly Review, has become the topic of the hour at the Capitol. It is regarded by politicians who are particularly interested in national affairs as one of the most significant utterances which have recently attracted attention. The plan suggested by ex-Speaker Reed, in advocating the free use of silver, provides for an equalizing national bank to use silver and to discriminate between nations not using the metal. Mr. Reed is, however, not the first prominent republican who has recently associated the silver and tariff questions with the suggestion that the two should be considered together. Mr. Lodge, in his speech on the tariff bill, conveyed a similar idea and Mr. Cameron, in a speech, which has attracted more attention among Senators than a little public, advocated free silver and protection as indivisibly associated.

But everything that Reed says of silver is regarded as the utterance of a man of an aspirant to the presidency, and is considered upon with that view. The Maine man unquestionably has his eye on the presidential nomination. It is doubtful whether giving an interview to a foreign journal considers his bearing on his political future. He has, however, upon a subject which is regarded by the leading men of both parties in Congress as one of the most vitally important to the next campaign for the presidency. As for the men who make the free coinage of silver an article of faith, they confidently predict that with a tariff bill passed and silver sold during this Congress, especially a bill that does not equidistant protection the tariff question will be a dead issue in 1896, and one all who agree on silver can come together on a free coinage platform, regardless of their opinions on other questions and their previous party affiliation. But no one will suspect Reed of abandoning the well established financial policy of his party. He is not a free silver man and there is no danger of his becoming one. Yet it is held by politicians that if he can consistently, with his principles, present a plan looking to the demonetization of silver, it will be a big stride for him toward the presidential nomination.

The Senate has at last declared against the Hawaiian policy of the administration. It turned off the tariff long enough to pass a resolution, by a vote of 55 to 0, disclaimed against any interference on the part of the United States in the internal affairs of the islands. This verdict in the great Hawaiian case leaves the road to annexation wide open. Seekers after decent government for Hawaii need no longer fear the possibility of armed interference by this country in behalf of President Cleveland's great and good friend, the widow Dominis. The corps of monarchombers who wallow in the skirts of Mrs. Liliuokalani will be out of a job as soon as the people of Hawaii find out what was done by the Senate, when it was decided that it will be permitted to work out its own way its political salvation. And the organizers of the Hawaiian republic may now proceed with their endeavors, confident that the big sister on this side of the Pacific will not throw any obstacles in the path of their progress.

Members of Congress are discussing a rumor that another issue of bonds will be made by the commencement of the fiscal year. It is said that Mr. Canale will not haggle with Congress for authority to make the issue, but will proceed on the line laid down when he was before the Senate Finance Committee prior to the last issue, namely that he could not wait for the authority from Congress, if the gold reserve should again fall below $70,000,000. The gold reserve has now reached $75,000,000, and more bonds will become necessary.

dominish the supply of the Treasury gold. In the tariff fight in the Senate, the remarkable thing is the self-commend of Senator V. Ornes. Except that he answers to his name when the roll is called, he might as well be at the bottom of the deep blue sea. With the long and trying experience of last summer still only too fresh in his memory, Senator Voorhees had no stomach for another prolonged and tedious battle, and has reached the stage where he would rather dwell within the tents than go forth with the army to battle. So it has been, therefore, that while the contest has raged all around him in the Senate he has never lowered his lance nor have all the slings and arrows of our gossamer fortune—otherwise known as the Republican side—been able to arouse him from the lethargy into which he seems to have fallen. All day long he sits quietly in his seat, his head thrown down upon his breast, his impassive face absolutely free from any trace of emotion.

Senator Harris has moved for night sessions to hasten the tariff bill. He says that sessions until 3 or 9 o'clock will do at present, but that if reasonable progress is not made he will make an effort to extend the time of adjournment to midnight or later.

Buncombe Cabbage. A Fraud Being Practiced—Look Out For It. J. W. Vandover's Sons, have been advertising in our columns for the past few months, and seeing in the Asheville Citizen that a fraud is being practiced upon them, we append the following which will explain:

EDITOR THE CITIZEN: We herewith enclose letters from parties in eastern part of the State, making complaint of the spurious seeds sold by the "Junaluska Seed company," "Junaluska, N. C." There is no such place in the State and no such seed company to the best of our knowledge. The whole affair is a swindle, and they are living off the reputation we have made for the Buncombe cabbage seed. We would be glad to have you expose the swindler in your paper. We also enclose letter from Dr. H. Battle in regard to the same matter. J. W. Vandover's Sons, Weaverville, N. C. May 25.

J. W. Vandover's Sons, Weaverville, N. C. Gentlemen:—Information has been received at this office that a party traveled in the Eastern part of the State, in Robinson and other counties, selling garden seed, all of which have proved of no value, whatever, and many of them contained noxious weeds. The following is a copy of one of the packages: "Jave Buncombe cabbage. Recommended by the United States agricultural department as the best cabbage of the Southern States. Grown and warren'd by the Junaluska Seed Co., Junaluska, N. C. Price 10 cents."

There has never been and is not now, to my knowledge, a postoffice in the State by the name of Junaluska. Knowing your interest in the sale of "Buncombe Cabbage," I beg to ask whether you know anything of the whereabouts of the man or the company he represents. Unfortunately, my informant did not learn his name. I propose to advertise the fraud, which publication of course will place your seed in a better light before the people, because, as it is, "Buncombe Cabbage," has received a hard knock. Thanking you for this information, I am, very respectfully, H. B. Battle, director.

Poe's. Rev. Geo. T. Simmons, of Dunn, filled his regular appointment at Pleasant Plains, last Sunday and Sunday. Mr. John Whitten, of Thurston, spent Sunday in these parts. Mrs. Florence Shaw, of Fayetteville, is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Byrd. Messrs R. B. Crowder and W. P. Byrd were called to Raleigh last Thursday to attend the trial of Mr. J. M. Stewart. Mr. Stewart got clear we are glad to state; there being no case against him, so said the Judge. B. F. Shaw, Esq., and wife, of Lillington, spent Saturday and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. A. J. Byrd. Miss Abba Green spent Sunday with uncle John A. Green, of Lillington. Several of our young people attended the Commencement at Dunn last week. All report a nice time. Mr. Joseph Cook, of Dunn, spent Sunday in this section. Mr. Robert Carrel is very sick at his father's near Bereasville. Mr. H. H. Poe spent last week in Raleigh, attending the U. S. Court. Prof. A. E. Shaw, of Fayetteville, spent Sunday in this community.

The corn crops in this section are looking well, but cotton is not doing so well as it has been too cold for it. Success to the TIMES. Prof. J. A. Campbell and Mr. J. S. Pearson are attending the Wake Forest Commencement this week. We saw in the Times a few weeks ago that some one had informed the editor that the Duke's Creek Academy boys backed down and would not play the Dunn boys in the match game of Base ball that was to have been played on the 24th of May. We say he was mistaken. We could not play on that day as the boys here had to leave on the morning of the 24th. We will be glad to play the boys of Dunn next session. Snooks. We suppose our correspondent meant that our informant was mistaken instead of us; at any rate, it seems that the plea which our correspondent advances would have been considered before the idea being advanced by the Duke's Creek line.
