DUNN, N. C., MARCH 18, 1896.

OUR NEXT PRESIDENT.

One year from now will be seated in the President's chair our next President, and it is hoped that he will bring about a change of policy that will put an end to gold raids on the Treasury and corporate influences in the White House.

The selection of the next Chief Magistrate should be made by the masses and not by corporations who have interests to serve. He should be a man free from the entangling alliances born of long practice either as a corporation counsel or their representative and advocate in Congress, and his efforts should be directed toward relieving the public from corporate burdens instead of making them heavier. Such a President would surround himself with a Cabinet of kindred spirits—those who would give his administration popularity because of its impartiality and fairness.

The experience of the past three years has demonstrated that a man can have too much ability to become a successful President. A public man to be really great cannot set himself up as the arbiter of popular sentiment, nor must he entirely ignore the demands of the people to whom he is indebted for his preferment. The greatest of our Presidents have proved their worthiness in the face of adversity by listening to the appeals of the public, and in giving ear to the counsel of unprejudiced advisers. At no time have they manifested a desire to overrule the will of the public, and instead of being obstinate, unapproachable and wrapped up in a sense of their own grandeur they have rightly interpreted the best of the national heart, and have made themselves popular accordingly.

A President like Washington, or Jefferson, or even a patriot of less distinguished ability, would soon bring order out of the political chaos which seems now to be everywhere, and restore the country to its old-time prosperity. It does not require a man of iron will or bull dog obstinacy to straighten out our muddled national affairs, but he should be able to command public confidence, and when that is done the people themselves will do the rest.

Let such a President be placed at the head of this government a year from today.

The people cannot find this man in McKinly, the man who the Republicans now think of nominating. McKinly means to the people of the South depression and high-way robbery.

WHITHER are we drifting? Justice Montgomery thinks all the editors are for sale; Dr. Cy Thompson thinks the church an enemy of liberty; Judge Russell wants to nominate Wilcox, the Radical murderer for Governor, and Person Republicans want to elect Satterfield, convicted by a jury for the enrollment of the assignment act which never passed, for State Auditor. What's the matter with the people when belief in all men's villainy, disbelief in the church, or actual commission of crime are regarded on helps to public favor?—News and Observer.

Carnelia Dots.

We are having cold rain this week.

Our farmers say that they are perfectly willing to stop work and let their fields be watered.

Mr. E J House of Wade has put in a full stock of general merchandise. We predict a successful career for Mr. House in the business circle, as he possesses that busin-ss instinct which few possess.

Messrs. William Henry Gregory and J L Hall who recently opened business at Wade are making many friends.

We attended church at Antioch Sunday. The pastor, Rev. W R Johnson, delivered an excellent Sunday school address. At eleven o'clock Rev. G A Bain preached on true religion, and as usual his sermon was full of gospel truth.

The sweet and bewitching Miss Susan Godwin, of near Dunn, one of the rarest and brightest little jewels in the casket of humanity, for she is the embodiment of every charm, the perfection of every grace and the synonym of all that is beauty, kindly favored the people of Antioch by attending church Sunday morning also by spending the afternoon at the home of Isaac Strickland Esq Come again Miss Susan.

"Snooks" "the insurance agent" returned to Wade Monday evening. He looked like you had bucked him. Just as he entered the city on the sand his horse took fright and ran across the railroad and down Person street, but "the agent" succeeded in taking him up near the Denning House. We are pleased to say that "the agent" did not receive any serious injury he is now gone to Lumberton to spend a few days, says he is going back to Harnett soon.

Mr. Alex McAllister is repairing his Grist mill near Wade, hopes to have it in running order soon.

There was religious services at Mr. Isaac Williams' Sunday night, ably conducted by Elders J F Coats and W C Turner.

Mr. B R Taylor of Fayetteville was at the Cross Roads Monday looking after the turpentine business.

SOLON.

WHILE Maj. Guthrie was arguing a case in the Supreme Court at Raleigh the other week, he said in his speech to the Jury that "with a million dollars four fifths of the editors of the State could be bought," when Judge Montgomery, a Populist on the bench, sung out, "and pray tell me where would you find the other fifth?" We suppose they would be off watching the rascality of those people who are trying to gain high positions in life by fooling the people. It is true that the average newspaper man has but little cash, and much of his work is never appreciated, but tell us which is more valuable, money or principle? The Judge and Maj. may rest assured that all the editors have their eye on the public men of North Carolina, and most of them are not afraid to speak their convictions. Perhaps men that have been bought know how much men sell for. There is a difference in true men and traitors.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY!

The times are hard, but here is a good show. In the last month I have made $175 selling Climax Dish Washers. I never saw anything take like they do. When any women see me wash the dinner dishes, clean and dry them in one minute, they buy one right away. Anyone can make $6 a day right at home easy. I have not canvassed, so anxious are the people for the Climax they send for them. Write to the Climax Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio, and they will send you circulars. It is easy selling what everybody wants to buy. I will make $3,000 this year easy.

"THE FLY AWAY NIGGERS."

Saturday morning the 7th a great throng of darkness in Atlanta swarmed to mountain where they expected to be caught in a cloud and be carried to the land of rest. After they had waited for some times they all decided to postpone the trip for five years, and returned to the city. We understand that some of the darkies in Dunn expected to get aboard the same cloud but it failed to pass or they slept too late one or the other, none of them got off.

Such superstition as this is ridiculous and we think the darkies ought to know better than to think the Lord will take them to heaven in a body for he knows their nature better than we conse quently it would not do to take them by droves, for such kicking has never been seen as would then be done. The Augusta Chronicle says:

The excitement among the negro assentionists grows more intense as the day of their expected departure approaches. They hold nightly meetings in a little shanty in the southeastern part of Atlanta. They confidently believe that they will "be caught up" next Saturday morning, March 7, "American time."

I went out there one night last week and found a large crowd of whites and blacks in and about the place of worship. Two policemen were there to keep order. The house was crowded with worshippers, each holding a Bible and reading as the "teacher" directed. He paraphrased each verse. The belief of these people is based on a litoral interpretation of such verses in the Bible as "If a man keeps My sayings he shall never taste death;" "He that believeth in Me shall not die, but shall have eternal life," and "he that hath faith in Me shall not see the grave;" "I give unto them eternal life and they shall never perish."

The teacher, a stout negro who once was a good laborer in a lumber yard, challenged his audience to bring him a passage in the Bible where it stated that any believer in Christ should die.

"Christ come a healin' of us," said the teacher. "He didn't come to show us how to die, but how to live and to escape death and the grave. He come as a healer—not a word healer like you see at 'lection times who gets $2 a day and a bottle of whiskey, and mighty mean whiskey at dat—no, not dat kind of a healer, but a great Doctor."

"Healer like Yellowstone Kit?" inquired one in the audience.

"That man he healer 'long side ourn," retorted the teacher in disgust.

In reply to questions the leader, John Smith, explained that he and his co-believers expect to be "out up" in the clods next Saturday morning. There they expect to join a multitude of the redeemer, and to float around in an airy sort of way for five years, when they count on returning to the earth, which, in the meantime, is to be burned off by fire from heaven.

My individual opinion is that next Friday night the teacher will disappear and probably never be heard of again in this part of the country. If he remains he will be in an embarrassing position about during the forenoon of Saturday. It is said that some of the women are making their ascension robes. The women got a large quantity of summer goods at a Monday morning bargain sale, and their outfit will not be expensive.

This leader does not appear to be working his followers for money, but to bedeluded himself. He would not consider any proposition to either hasten or postpone the ascension, saying that it was beyond his power.

Some years ago there was a craze among the coast negroes. A white crank named Bell got together a band who believed that on a certain date in August they would start off on a march to Canaan." They had a most absurd idea that the "promised land" was about six days' journey north of the Savannah river. I offered the leader half a dollar to postpone the date of departure for ten days. He was a worldly minded prophet with an eye to business, called the bluff and took the coin agreeing to postpone the march as I requested.

The march never has started. Bell has been in the Milledgeville asylum for several years, and his followers have long been back in the rice field and turpentine woods.

THE NEW YORK WORLD says that McKinly of Ohio will be the Republican nominee for President. It gives him 534 votes, sure, 900 is the entire delegation. It takes 455 to name the man so if the World's figures are correct McKinly will be the man who the Republican Convention will name as their standard barrier in the city of St Louis in June. Yet he is one man who has robbed the country out of more than any one man we know.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P.
