Enthusiastic Reception at Bridgeport. Yale Boys Act Like Toughs.

Bryan opened his campaign in this State last Thursday, and the first stop was made at Stamford, where several hundred persons surrounded the car and cheered time and again for the nominee. The train stopped but a moment, but in that time Mr. Bryan had a chance to say a few words. . .

The crowd at South Norwalk was about the same in size and the enthusiasm was as great as it was at Stamford. Mr. Bryan told the the people he was trying to save his voice, and he thought that they would agree with him that it needed saving.

The most enthusiastic reception of the day was that accorded by the citizens of Bridge-port. When the train rolled into the station. a number of carriages were in waiting. In these Mr. Bryan and party were taken to Washington Park, in the heart of the city. where Mr. Bryan spoke to crowd of severa

At New Haven five hundred students, assisted by a band of the First Regiment of the National Guards of Connecticut, broke up the address of William J. Bryau.

A platform had been erected on the historical "New Haven Green" and about that platform for more than an hour before the minee arrived from 10,000 to 15,000 people had surged to and fro. To the right of the stand the students had congregated, awaiting the arrival of Mr. Bryan. At 2:15 the crowd to the platform. Immediately all was confusion in front. The students broke forth in their college cheer of the "Frog Chorus" from Aristophanes, following with three long Yale nine "rahs" for "Yale and McKinley." The crowd surged to and fro in McKinley." The crowd surged to and fro in front of the stand and a dozen policemen fought it from the platform.

There were cheers for the rominee, but from the right of the stand the students repeatedly broke forth with their yell and for twenty-five minutes it was impossible for Mr.

by an to make himself heard.

Joseph Bargent, the Democratic nominee for Governor, who was to introduce Mr. Bryan, tried to quiet the yelling mobin front, but he could not he heard ten feet away. In vain did Mr. Bryan attempt to restore order, but it was many minutes before anything like quiet was obtained.

Then the crowd began to surge and the police to fight those in front. Women fainted and several persons were taken from the crowd several persons were taken from the crowd overcome by the crush. The police used their clubs, and one of their member, mounted on a spirited horse, forced the animal in front of the stand, nearly creating a panic. Then again Mr. Bryan tried to speak, but he was interrupted by the yells of the students. nutes, and when at last the noise had subsided sufficiently for him to make himsel heard by those immediately in front, Mr. Bryan started to speak. As he proceeded the noise quieted but every few minutes he would be interrupted by the frog chorus. Mr.

would be interrupted by the irog chorus. Mr. Bryan said:

"I am glad that there are students here, because I want to say a word to students. Your college has helped to add fame to your city, and those who assemble here are supposed to come in order that they may better equip themselves for the duties of life. I am glad to talk to you students because, my friends, we have a cause which appeals to students. If the syndicates and corporations rule the country, then no young man has a rule the country, then no young man has a fair show unless he is the favorite of a corporation."

Mr. Bryan then proceeded to speak of the right of the people to govern themselves, but was frequently interrupted by yells from the students, followed by counter applause from

At Wallingford, the next stop, there was a fair-sized crowd walting to hear the nomi-nee, who made a brief speech. There was a large crowd at Meriden when the train pulled into that station. It was expected that Mr. Bryan would stop there forty minutes, and when at the end of three minutes the train moved away there was a disappointed assemblage left behind

A large crowd turned out to see him on his arrival at Hartford and cheered him enthusiastically. He was taken to the hotel, being escorted by a band and citizens in carriages.

In speaking of his reception at New Haven,
Mr. Bryan said that ne did not attribute it to sober-minded citizens of New Haven, but to the younger members of Yale College. He said he thought the boys were out on a lark and did not represent the sentiments of the university.

The day was brought to a fitting close with two big meetings in this city, both of which were addressed by Mr. Bran.

Bryan Keeps on His Way.

W. J. Bryan, after delivering speeches at Wilmington, Del., left for Chester, Pa. where he addressed a ringing speech as fol-

"I shall not keep you standing long in the rain. I simply desire to appear before you to assure you that if elected I shall to the best of my ability carry out the policies se forth in the Chicago platform (Cheers. voice: "That's what we want.") Your chairman introduced me as the nominee of great political party. I am the nominee of three parties all agreeing that the money question rises above all others and must be settled first. We have reached a must be settled first. We have reached a crisis in monetary affairs, where our financial policy has been run by a few syndicates in their interest, and the question now is, whether the people shall take charge and run the government in their interest. The Republican platform declares in favor of the present financial policy, and that means the manner in which it has been maintained. The present system means hard times.

manner in which it has been maintained. The present system means hard times. All those in favor of continuing hard times will vote for my opponent. I am satisfied to have them do so, if those opposed to hard times will vote for me." (Applause.)

At Philadelphia a crowd of about 500 greeted the future President and he was driven to Lafayette Hotel. Awaiting in front of the hotel were multitudes of people. After luncheon he was taken by boat over to the New Jersey side of the Delaware river where he addressed a large assemblage of admirers. In the afternoon he returned to the city where he addressed a large audience at the Academy of Music.

Savages in the Phillipines.

A dispatch from Hong Kong says thee steamers which arrived there from Manilla the capital of the Phillippine Islands, brings the announcement that Cavite is occupied by 15,000 insurgents. Over a hundred monks have been murdered in the islands since the breaking out of the insurrection. Many of the victims have been fastened to trees, their clothing soaked with kerosene oil and then ignited and burned to death. Bich natives are being arrested daily. Documents have been setzed by the authorities in which are given the names of the president and the various officials of the proposed republic.

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

VARIOUS TOPICS DISCUSSED BY THE PHILOSOPHER.

People and Affairs of the Day Handled In Vigorous Style.

One time there was a generous, bighe, rted man by-the name of Colon Griffin living at Gainesville, Ga., and his heart's desire was to see peace on earth and good will among men. His hand was open as the day to charity, but his chief delight was to reconcile those who were at enmity and make peace between nabors. He worked diligently along this line for several years and was called the peacemaker, but in course of time he seemed to lose his influence, and if he succeeded in smothering a quarrel it broke out again. Politics got rampant and church members got at outs, and it took a good deal of his time visiting around and pleading for peace. At last he pon-dered over the matter and, like old Rip Van Winkle, he "swore off," "I can't do it, judge," he sadly confessed to his old friend, Judge Lumpkin, "I can't do it. I thought I could reform mankind; but I can't. They get worse instead of better. Society is like a mill dam. It is always springing a leak, and as fast as you stop one hole it breaks out at another. Nothing but the grace of God can keep peace among the people, and even that does not seem to circulate in this region, and so I have quit."

The judge comforted him and told him not to despair, but Griffin retired from the contest a sadder and a wiser man. The strife and slander and backbiting went on, and it took peace warrants to keep the peace. No one man can reform society, and with many reformers it is soon discovered that they need a little reforming themselves. Henry Ward Beecher was a great preacher and a reformer of social conduct, but he fell from grace just as Solomon did. Most of these reformers are in earnest, but they are cranks and are righteous overmuch. Parkhurst brought schism and discord in his church by excessive zeal. Tom Dixon is doing the same thing by dabbling into politics. A respectable minority of his members are silver Democrats, and his pulpit talk has insulted them. When a preacher assumes to know it all he loses his influence. Humility is the best credential a man of God can have. Vanity and conceit may not be sins, but they are traits that nobody forgives. Political preachers may get office, but they make enemies and that is a bad sign. Drawing crowds and creating a sensation is one thing, but saving souls through the power of the gospel is another. I wish that every preacher would let politics alone, for when he abuses the Democrats he makes them mad, and it does not reconcile them if he abuses the Republicans and the Populists, too. It is as if he said: "Everybody is a rascal but me." Of course we all get more or less excited about politics and let our prejudices get the better of our judgment, and at such times it becomes the preachers to be calm and serene and tolerant and to keep the peace. I see it charged in the northern press that we have no fair elections in Georgia. I deny the allegation and defy the allegator. I have been on the watch for years and have had no reason to suspect that any man, black or white, has been defrauded of his vote in my county. I believe that men have voted who were not entitled to vote, but it was no part of a scheme by the officials or managers. and was wholly unknown to them. I believe that the elections in Georgia are as fair as in any state in the Union. The defeated party always cries fraud, but never proves it. Slander is a cheap solace, but is hard to undo, and the further from home it travels the deeper it settles in the public Intolerance is the bane of society. both in church and state. I was reading today some bitter things against women riding bicycles, and in the same paper a temperate sensible article in defense of the sex. It was written bya woman-a lady-and I concured in all she said. I can see nothing immodest in a girl riding if she is modestly dressed in skirts and deports herself modestly. A fast girl will be fast, whether she rides in skirts or bloomers, or don't ride at all. There is more immodesty in promiscuous surf bathing and in the round dances of the ballroom than in riding the bike, even in bloomers. A few years ago I was shocked at the idea of any decent girl riding the wheel, but my prejudices have passed away. It now seems a graceful thing to do, and I admire the poetry of their motion. My wife is in love with the wheel, and says that if she could call back forty or fifty years she would have one. Two of her grandsons came over from Rome on their wheels, and one moonlight night she remarked that if there was nobody to see her she would go mper tyrannis!" I exclaimed, "You could'nt ride if you would and you should'nt if you could, and you shan't even think about it. Now, there," and I departed those coasts and walked out in the hall to let my choler down. Pretty soon the boys came out on the veranda and I heard her laughing and telling them how she aroused my indignation. So I came back and made out like I was funning, but I wasent. She wants me to take a round just to see me fall off, I reckon, but I'm not going to try it.

My time is past for athletics. I can chop wood and roll the unicycle and ride in the quadricycle, but this double spinning wheel business don't suit an old man with a very high center of the great danger to health in the varying gravity. It doesn't suit a woman of gravity. It doesn't suit a woman of temperature, cold storms, malarial germs that kind, either. But after all, the and prevalence of fevers and other diseases. bike is rather an expensive toy. The boys say that a good one will last about two years, and in the meantime the repairs will average a few dollars a year, and so I don't see that it is any cheaper in the long run than a horse. But the price is entirely too high. A man who knows told me that the actual cost of a hundred-dollar bike was about $35. I know a broker who sold forty-two in three months and his com-sion was $17 on each and a bonus of $300 extra when his sales amounted to 23,000. Our people are buying thousands of them, and our money just pours into their hopper like it always does for everything they make and put at us. If it is not a Chicago exposition it is something else, and they keep us poor all the time. But Cobe says: "That's all right, major, for everything is adopted, and the world is obleeged to have poor folks to keep rich folks in money. If there wasent any chickens there wouldent be any hawks. If there wasent any rate there wouldent be any cats, for everything is adopted." "And if there wasent any girls there wouldent be any boys to fool 'em," said I. "Jes so, adzakly so," said Cobe and he shifted his tobacco to the other

But I can still work around the house and the garden. The flower pit was dilapidated, and my wife called my attention to it several times. And so yesterday I repaired the broken glass and then got my can of red paint and gave the sash a new coat. It looks fine and I was proud of it, and luxuriated in advance upon the praise she would bestow upon me, but when I came into her august presence she discovered some paint on my pants and vest. "Was there ever such a man in this world; painting in his best clothes—the only decent pants you have got," and she looked afar off and sighed. "Well," she continued, "take them off right now before the paint dries and let me work on them. I never can get you to change your clothes when you are going to do dirty work." So I changed them and she got the benzine and perfumed the room with it, and in half an hour my garments were cleaner than ever. . "What makes you do that way?" she said. "Why, my dear, I thought I could paint and not get a drop on my clothes, and I feel so much like a gentleman with my best clothes on that I hate to take them off, but I won't do so any more.' In course of time she got over it, and I got some praise after all. Things are now calm and serene. - BILL ARP in Atlanta Constitution.

Bryan received a large ovation in Brookyn, N. Y., last Wednesday. Fully 8,000 heard him at Clermont Rink—the majority being laboring men. Just before the speaker arrived the large audience sang "You shall not press the crown of thorns upon the toiler's brow." The meeting was presided over entirely by labor organizations and the stage contained a representative from each local

When the meeting was called to order every aisle and every corridor was crowded, and when letters of regret were read from Eugene V. Debs and John W. Hays, secretary of the Knights of Labor, there were vociferous cheers. Debs said in his telegram: "The millions are for Bryan, and will place him in the chair Lincoln accepted in spite of British toryism and corporation coercion.

Resolutions were adopted commending the work of the Chicago convention and pro-"We believe the present contest to be much

The Ins and Outs of It.

If you get best wear out of a coat, best work must have gone into it. You can't get good bread out of poor flour.

Moral: You can't get the best out of anything, unless the best is in it; and the best has to be put in before it can be taken out. Now, we have a rule to test those sarsaparillas with a big "best" on the bottle. "Tell us what's put in you and we'll decide for ourselves about the best." That's fair. But these modest sarsaparillas say: "Oh! we can't tell. It's a secret. Have faith in the label." . . . Stop 1 There's one exception; one sarsaparilla that has no secret to hide. It's Ayer's. If you want to know what goes into Ayer's Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor to write for the formula. Then you can satisfy yourself that you get the best of the sarsaparilla argument when you get Ayer's.
