Of making many pills there is no end. Every pill-maker says: "Try my pill," as if he were offering you bonbons! The wise man finds a good pill and sticks to it. Also, the wise man who has once tried them never forsakes

..Ayer's Cathartic Pills..

For Young Married People to Try.

Try not to look at richer homes and covet their costly furniture. Try being perfectly independent from the first and shun debt in all its forms. Try to avoid the too common mistake of making an unwise effort to "begin where the parents ended." Try going a step further and visit the homes of the suffering poor when secret dissatisfaction is liable to spring up. Try to be cheerful in the family circle, no matter how annoying may be the business cares and the housekeeping trials. Try to co-operate cheerfully in arranging the family expenses and share equally in only necessary self-denials and economies. Try buying all that is necessary to work with skill, while adorning the house at first with simply what will render it comfortable. Try to remember that it matters but little what "people think" provided you are true to yourselves, to right and duty, and keep your expenses within your means.

Washington Overby, of Co. "E," 14th N. C. troops died at the Soldiers Home in Raleigh Saturday night.

The Raleigh Correspondence of Wilmington Star in Friday's issue says: A peculiar case was tried in the Mayor's Court today, Mary Hass, a white woman, attempted to pour oil on her husband, John Hass, and set him afire, because he wanted to move near his work. Seeing that her husband was determined to move she set fire to her bed and the fire company had to extinguish the flames. The Hass woman objected to moving for the reason that it would break up her four setting hens. She declared that she cared more for her hens than her husband.

A BRAVE WIDOW.

She Had True Convictions—WARNING ON A TOMESTONE.

Out in Oak Hill Cemetery, the fashionable burying-ground of this city, a marble shaft towers far above its neighbors. It is colossal in size, white as the driven snow, delicate in proportions, exquisite in design, airy and graceful as a spire of the Cathedral of Milan when viewed from far away. It is the observed of all those who visit the beautiful cemetery and who tread the flower-lined and shadowy avenues, and they linger at the granite base to admire the delicate carving and ponder upon the strange and suggestive inscription chiseled upon its polished surface:

At last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder.—Prov. 23:22.

This unusual and unique monument marks the grave of a once prominent citizen. He was prominent in business, prominent in politics, prominent in social affairs. He was the personification of business integrity, a leader in public enterprise, the exemplar of the young men of the community.

By and by, even as some insidious disease takes possession of the human body, an appetite for strong drink took possession of this business man, this political leader, this social lion, this model for young men. It came about like this: First, the glad New Year's happy greeting; then the convivial cup at the camp-fire and the club; then the public reception and the cordial entertainment of the city's honored guest. His history is simply the old, old story. He fell from his lofty pedestal, from his high estate, from Heaven to hell.

Prosperity, political standing, social influence, everything was swept into the great vortex wherein sooner or later are engulfed all that has been or is of him who looketh upon the wine when it is red. He died and was buried. The people, a great multitude, stood uncovered by the side of his open grave and listened, reverently, to the words of the preacher, who recounted the many good things the man, now dead, had said and done when living, though some marveled much at his neglect to "adorn a tale and point a moral." And long lines of civic societies, with their plumes nodding in the breeze and their rich regalia, a picture of beauty, threw over the rich casket "the broad mantle of charity," and cast into the open grave the emblems of immortality.

The man had lived and was dead and buried, and the great world, forgetting his faults and frailties, remembered only his excellencies. But the widow! She remembered—even she did not remember the virtues of her husband—the cursed cause of ruin. And one day by her orders, the imposing monument above his grave was erected, and around it, from apex to granite base, the sculptor had chiseled from the inanimate marble a snake of many coils, whose forked tongue, ever protruding and stony eyes, never closing, are a constant warning to all who look upon it and read the strange device upon the polished surface of the granite base that "At last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."—Kansas City Times.

L. F. Farley conducts a large mercantile business at Liberty Hill, Ga. He says: "One application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieved me of a severe pain in my back. I think it O. K." For lame back, rheumatism, neuralgia, swellings, sprains, bruises, burns and scalds no other liniment can approach Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is intended especially for these diseases and is famous for its cures.

Governor Russell has offered a reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of the unknown parties who murdered J. F. Baker, a negro, at Dudley.

At the meeting of the State Board of Pharmacy in Raleigh last week twenty-two applicants applied for license. Only 12 of the number stood the examinations successfully, among them being two colored graduates of Shaw University.

On the public highway near Reidsville Saturday an elderly gentleman was found with his throat cut. He could not talk but wrote on a piece of paper that he was a school teacher and his name Preston. He had been attacked by two young men who cut his throat when they found he had no money.

Mr. John Peterson, of Patotville, La., was very agreeably surprised no long ago. For eighteen months he had been troubled with dysentery and had tried three of the best doctors in New Orleans, besides half a dozen or more patent medicines, but received very little relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, having been recommended to him, he gave it a trial and to his great surprise, three doses of that remedy effected a permanent cure. Mr. Wm. McNamara, a well known merchant of the same place, is well acquainted with Mr. Peterson and attests to the truth of this statement. This remedy is for sale by McMillan & Pittman, Rowland, N. C.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui has demonstrated ten thousand times that it is almost infallible FOR WOMAN'S PECULIAR WEAKNESSES.

Irregularities and derangements. It has become the leading remedy for this class of troubles. It exerts a wonderfully healing, strengthening and soothing influence upon the menstrual organs. It cures "whites" and falling of the womb. It stops flooding and relieves suppressed and painful menstruation. For change of life it is the best medicine made. It is beneficial during pregnancy, and helps to bring children into the world healthy and strong. It invigorates, stimulates, strengthens the whole system. This great remedy is offered to all afflicted women. Why will any woman suffer another minute with certain relief within reach? Wine of Cardui only costs $1.00 per bottle at your drug store.

For advice, in cases requiring special attention, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Rev. J. W. SMITH, Camden, S. C., says: "My wife used Wine of Cardui at home for falling of the womb and it entirely cured her."
