GREAT AMERICAN HERB CO., Washington, D. C.

Dear Sirs:—
I am an old man and have been a great sufferer with Rheumatism for years. Your Mr. Utter in his very agreeable manner explained your great medicine, Indian Herbs, to me. I had no faith in your medicine but knowing Mr. Utter as I did I purchased a box and to my surprise I am able to be about my pains which were very severe, especially in the back, are now easy and I feel so much better that I am bound to help to advertise your great Indian Herb cure in some way. Buy Indian Herbs if you wish to be cured.
Thankfully yours,
JACKSON JONES

Wealth of the Klondike.
The steamer City of Topeka arrived at Seattle, October 11, from Juneau, Alaska, bringing several miners from the Klondike regions and $300,000 in gold. Among the passengers was John F. Maloney, of Juneau, who came out from Dawson City with the Galvin party. He stated that the previous accounts of the wealth of the Klondike were overestimated. He also stated that one claim would produce $1,000,000, and that over $2,000,000 would come out of the Klondike region this fall. Patrick Galvin, who is recognized as one of the bonanza kings of the Klondike and who has been engaged in mining for three years, said: "There are 461 claims which have been operated sufficiently to prove their richness. There are 280 claims staked out, but not developed. Taking these claims and figuring out their cubic contents and making a conservative estimate, I do not see why the output from these claims alone should fall short of $50,000,000."
In a letter from Lake Lindermann a newspaper writer says that there is chaos on the Dyea trail. Thousands of people are struggling hopelessly on with damaged outfits and thousands with no outfits, clothes, food or shelter are beating back against the storm, trying to reach Dyea. For eleven days the storm has raged, the wind blowing a gale and the rain falling in torrents. To the 800 or 900 people cooped up between the mountain lakes, high above the timber line, the past has been a nightmare. Baking powder is held at $5 per pound; horseshoe nails being 25 cents each. One man at Crater Lake went back over the trail and gathered up 500 nails from the hoofs of dead horses and sold the lot to one man for $65. A stick of dry wood the size of a man's arm sold readily for $4, and green wood sold at the rate of $1,000 a cord.

"I can't see how any family lives without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says J. R. Adams, a well known druggist, of Geneva, Ala., in a letter inquiring the price of a dozen bottles, that he might not only have it for use in his own family, but supply it to his neighbors. The reason some people get along without it, is because they do not know its value, and what a vast amount of suffering it will save. Wherever it becomes known and used, it is recognized as a necessity, for it is the only remedy that can always be depended upon for bowel complaints, both for children and adults. For sale by N. B. Hood, Druggist, Dunn, N. C.

A Letter Around the World.
Mr. James Allen, one of The Orton's popular clerks, has a curiosity in the shape of a letter that went the rounds of the world and turned up a year after it had been mailed in Wilmington. It followed the person addressed throughout Europe and several countries in Asia, and is covered all over, on both sides, with stamps and inscriptions, and among the stamps on it, it is observed that it was in the East Indies, and one stamp shows that it went to Bangkok, Siam, and was sent to some other country, and failing to reach the man to whom it was mailed, it was returned to the writer. The letter contained a photograph, and was sent by a brother in Wilmington to his brother abroad. Three of Uncle Sam's postage stamps carried it around the world.—Wilmington Messenger.

Educational News.
On the 8th day of October more than 10,000 students were on the rolls as members of the first Freshmen class of the Cosmopolitan University. The confusion into which the plans regarding the Cosmopolitan's educational work were thrown by the retirement of President Andrews in order to meet the urgent wishes of his friends at Brown University, has been met by the acceptance of the Presidency by Dr. Eliphalet N. Potter. President Potter has been at the head of two great colleges for nearly twenty-five years, and brings to the work exceptional talents as an organizer and man of broad culture and common-sense ideas. He is already at Irvington engaged in organizing his staff of professors. The work of the University has been grouped under fifteen heads, covering the various branches of knowledge. Each of these will be in charge of a professor. As soon as the task of selection is complete, the students will be assigned their work and the largest Freshman class in the history of the universities of the world will begin its studies.
The extraordinary dimensions of the class thus formed has opened the eyes of the public to the importance of the gap in educational facilities which the Cosmopolitan has undertaken to fill. Knowing that the appropriation made by the Cosmopolitan is a limited one and that the entries are far beyond the most sanguine expectations, embarrassing the work by their proportions, many professors and other prominent men have already made the offer of advice and assistance without pay.

"Many have said their children would have died of croup, if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had not been given," write Kellam & Ourren, druggists, Seaview, Va. "People come from far and near to get it and speak of it in the highest terms." This is equally true of this remedy in every community where it is known. Buy a bottle at N. B. Hood's drug store and test it for yourself.

Millions Wasted.
When will the farmers of the South realize that they lose millions of dollars a year by sending their cotton to market in such wretched condition? The Macon Telegraph estimates that the tare which will be exacted on the present cotton crop will cost the South at least $12,000,000. This is not extravagant estimate, as 5 per cent., or 25 pounds out of every lb. 500 bale is taken out to compensate for the defects of baling which subject our cotton to so much damage. At 6 cents a pound this makes the farmer pay a penalty of $1.50 a bale for the slipshod manner of packing cotton in the South. Instead of improving our system of baling cotton it grows worse. It is hinted that unless a reform is instituted in this matter the insurance companies will take action which will still further increase the loss which falls on the farmers because of their own foolish policy. It is impossible to understand why the present shabby methods of preparing cotton for market are not abolished and a decent system of baling substituted.—Atlanta Journal.

FOR ALL WOMEN
NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.
McELEE'S Wine of Cardui
Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefited by it.
For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Topeka, Kas., says:
"My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her. I bought it for my mother through the Change of Life."

Musn't Kill the Neighbor's Chickens.

Quite a peculiar and amusing case is published in the last volume of the North Carolina Supreme Court Reports. It is an indictment against a man for "cruelty to animals"—for killing a neighbor's chickens which were in his garden scratching up his peas. The defendant was convicted before a justice of the peace, and on appeal to the Superior Court was convicted there, and on appeal to the Supreme Court his conviction was affirmed.
It seems foolish for a man to incur so much cost in fighting so frivolous a case, but we suppose his "blood was up" and that he was fighting mad. The opinion of the Supreme Court, delivered by Judge Clark, is quite a long and able one, as well as humorous. The court declares that a man has no more right to kill his neighbor's chickens, which are scratching up his garden, than he has to kill his cattle that might be trespassing in his field. His only remedy is "to impound" them till damage is paid. That is, catch them (without hurting them) and keep them until the owner pays for whatever damage they may have done.—Chatham Record.

Caught in Revolving Wheels.
Brevard Special, 19th, to Asheville Gazette.
At the mill of Mont Glazener, near Eastatoe ford, about nine miles above Brevard, a few days ago, a young man by the name of Wash Whitmire met a tragic death. The unfortunate man had gone to the grist mill of Glazener to have his grist ground. The proprietor was met on the way and told Whitmire to proceed to the mill and put it in operation and do his own grinding and to leave one-half of the customary toll. Whitmire followed these instructions, went to the mill, a small tub mill, placed his grain in the hopper and started the mill to work. By some unaccountable means, Whitmire became involved in the shaft, his coat being caught in the machinery, and he was carried around with the stones. There was no one with him at the mill and his death was not known for several hours, when a woman passed by the mill and found him still entangled in the works, with life extinct and the body badly mutilated. When the woman reached the scene the wheels were still revolving. She stopped the mill and ran for help. The proprietor when he reached the scene extricated the body. His feet, coming in contact with timbers, were beaten into a pulp and the body must have revolved with the wheels for three or four hours, but it was impossible to tell just how long the man had lived after he became entangled with the wheels.

A fire at Windsor, Nova Scotia, Sunday, burned over 400 buildings and left about 3500 people homeless. The fire was supposed to have originated from a barn being struck by lightning.
