Ray Never Said It.

THE PROGRESSIVE FARMER MISQUOTES MR. JOHN E. RAY—JIM YOUNG'S FULL POWER.

The first editorial in this week's Republican organ, the Progressive Farmer, contained an article on the management of the institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind which contained the following purported interview with Prof. John E. Ray, principal of the institution.

"The law provides for a board of trustees of seven members to manage the affairs of the institution over which I have the honor to preside as principal is divided into two departments, white and colored. These departments are in separate buildings, on opposite sides of the city of Raleigh, nearly a mile apart. In selecting the board of trustees to be confirmed in March, 1897, James H. Young was selected with the view of having a colored representative on the board to give special attention to the colored department. Young was confirmed with the others. Of course he met with the board, and it was his privilege to vote on all questions. He generally voted with his party friends, otherwise he avoided interference with the management of the white department. He never came there except to attend the board, meetings, more than two or three times. Then he saw me at my office, politely transacted his business and retired. He never served on any committee of inspection of the white department. To me he seemed to studiously avoid doing or saying anything that would in the least embarrass any lady. He has always been respectful to me, both in my official and personal dealings with him. He resigned about June 1st, and has not attended a board meeting in three months. There is not now a colored representative on the board."

The above was shown to Mr. John E. Ray, principal of the institution, and he was asked: "Did you make the statement contained in the above article?" "Mr. Jim, Denmark called upon me last week and asked me certain questions which I answered," was the reply.

"Did you say that Jim Young was selected with the view of having a colored representative on the board to give special attention to the colored department?" "I did not," said Mr. Ray. "I said that James H. Young was selected by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. I did not say why he was selected. I do not know. I was not consulted about his appointment and I have never been consulted about the selection of any member of the board." "Did you say it was Young's privilege to vote on all questions?" "I don't remember exactly what word I used, whether 'privilege' or some other." "What are Jim Young's rights on the board?" "The same rights that all other members have." "Did he not have the right as a director to inspect every department of the institution?" "Legally, he did."

"Were you present at the meeting of the Board when Jim Young, desiring to break a quorum for the transaction of business, called to Tonnofski and said 'Come on George?'" "Yes I was there. I don't remember the circumstances. I do not recall the words he used. I simply know that he and Tonnofski went out and their going out broke the quorum and the board adjourned because there was no quorum."

"Did not Jim Young actually make an inspecting tour in the white institution?" "Not to my knowledge. The house-keeper told me that one day he was in the store room in company with President Meserve, another director. I was away from the institution at that time. The only three I recall that he was on the grounds—except at Board meetings, were when he came with the other members of the Board to be present when the new building at the white institution was staked off. I think he was present when the corner stone was laid, and one morning he came to see me at my office in white building on some matter of business connected with the institution."

"Did you say that he never served on the inspecting committee at the white institution?" "I said that I did not recall that he ever did. That was my language."

"What date did Young resign?" "I have his letter. It was between the first day of June and the regular time for the meeting of the board on the second Monday night in June. There were two vacancies at that time. Since then two new members have been appointed. There are now two vacancies. I do not know whether successor to Young has been appointed or not."

"In what part of the building is the corner stone of the new institution for the white blind?" "It is at the south east corner of the building."

"Is there not a marble slab fronting the street that will stand forever showing under whose administration the white blind institution was built?" "Yes."

"What names are chiseled in that marble?" "C. T. Bailey, chairman, R. C. Rivers, Chas. E. McNamara, James H. Young, (col.), and Geo. L. Tonnofski, — Tonnofski's name coming after Young's. Then the names of the principal, architect and contractor appear. On the other side are the names of the members of the State Board of Education."

"Young usually attended the Board meetings?" "Yes."

"Where were they held?" "In my office."

"Where did Jim sit?" "Jim Young took his seat at the table with the others."

"Does he vote on matters connected with the white institution?" "Yes. I know of no exception at all."

"Could he not, when backed by Rivers, Tonnofski, and McNamara control the election of every teacher and employe in the white institution for the blind?" "Four members of the Board constitute a majority and voting together can control the election of teachers and all other employes in the institution."

"Cannot they also control the course of study?" "That usually has been left to the principal and teachers."

"In case of any misunderstanding or difficulty between the principal and teachers, does not appeal lie to the Board of which Jim Young was a member?" "I can discharge. The other parties have the right to appeal to the Board and the Board can reverse me if they desire."

"Had Jim Young equal voice?" "Jim Young, when a member of the board makes an appeal, would have an equal voice with other members of the board, in settling such differences."

"Do you think Jim Young, Tonnofski, and McNamara are fit men to compose the board?" "Don't ask me questions of that kind."

"Who appoints the inspecting committee?" "The chairman of the board. Under the Democrats the members served in rotation. There is no fixed custom in the board as now constituted."

"What are the powers of that committee?" "They are required by Article 4 of the by laws to visit each department of the institution twice each month and make a written report to the Board as to their condition."

"Has Jim Young ever been appointed on the inspecting committee?" "Yes, but so far as my memory serves me he has done inspecting at the colored institution only."

"How was it then that your house-keeper remembers that on one occasion Prof. Meserve, a director, and Jim Young, a director, were together on an inspecting tour in the store-room?" "I was not present and do not know about that."

"At what date was Jim Young appointed a member of the inspecting committee?" "The records show that he and Prof. Meserve were appointed on the 12th of April, 1897."

"Was it not in pursuance of that appointment, in the discharge of the duty of inspecting that Prof. Meserve and Jim Young visited the store-room of the white institution, as recalled by the house-keeper?" "I was not at the institution when this visit took place."

"On what other committees in connection with the white institution did Jim Young serve?" "On April 19th, he and Prof. Meserve were appointed a special committee with reference to having the Orchestra attend the Teacher's Assembly at Morehead City. On May 10th, 1897, he was a member of the Building committee, on the first of June he was made a member of the Executive committee, and served on the committee on Buildings and Grounds and was a member of the committee to see the State Council about a special appropriation. On Nov. 8th, he was appointed on the committee to draft resolutions upon the resignation of Mr. James A. Briggs. On the 14th of March 1897, he was appointed as a member of the Building committee to erect the four buildings, two for white blind children, and two for the colored deaf, dumb and blind children. On May 11th, he was appointed on the committee to prepare for laying the corner stone of the new building for white blind children."

"You say that Jim Young was appointed on the committee to prepare for laying the corner stone of the new building for white children. Do you mean the building of which the corner stone laying was done by the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of North Carolina in May last?" "I do."

Mr. Ray, it should be stated, was in no way desirous of having the institution made the occasion of a political discussion, but could not decline to answer the legitimate questions of a taxpayer.—News & Observer.

Advise Straight Ticket.

After due notice being served, the Republican Executive Committee of this Third Congressional District of North Carolina, met in this city yesterday, a quorum being present. The following counties were represented, Bladen, Cumberland, Jones, Onslow and Craven.

After deliberation and discussion a convention was called to meet at Fayetteville, on Thursday, September 29th, for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate for Congress for this district. Resolutions were passed unanimously to the effect that while the committee recognized the authority allotted the Central Republican Committee at Raleigh, yet the committee advised that the Fayetteville convention nominate a straight Republican, and the contest be made on that basis. No candidate was named or suggested by the committee.—Newburn Journal, Sept. 2nd.

A Straight Ticket.

REPUBLICANS GETTING DISGUSTED, AND SICK OF POLITICAL TRADE.

We clip the following from the daily press showing that Republicans too are beginning to realize there is no principle in political trades with Populists. The following is from the resolutions adopted by the Republican convention that recently nominated Dr. Wilcox for Congress against Romulus Z. Linney:

"5th. That we do most heartily condemn the resolutions passed by the late Republican State convention, which provides that the State Executive committee shall have power to take down any Republican nominee for judicial office, which we allege is subversive of the rights and liberties of the people, and in direct violation of the fundamental principles of the Republican party."

"16th. That we each and every one pledge our faithful and hearty support to the nominee of this convention. To show the dissatisfaction in the Republican camp, the following resolutions unanimously adopted by the Republican convention of Perquimans county are appended:

"Whereas The Republican party has for three successive campaigns furnished four fifths of the votes for Populist candidates, for Congress in this First Congressional district of North Carolina, and with a fair, just and honorable division as understood in 1894 and 1896, the Republican party would be entitled to the candidates for the next thirty years."

"Therefore resolved by the Republicans of Perquimans county in convention assembled that we demand of the convention to be held in Edenton on next Thursday, the 25th instant the nomination of a good Republican as candidate for Congress in this district and we hereby declare that we will not support any man for Congress who is opposed to the wise and patriotic administration of our worthy President, Wm McKinley, and who does not stand square on the Republican National platform as adopted at St. Louis in 1896, and our delegates this day elected to represent us in the Republican Congressional convention to be held in Edenton, N. C., on next Thursday, the 25th instant, are hereby instructed and commanded to cast the vote of Perquimans county for none but a true and tried Republican as our candidate for Congress in this district for no other can receive our support."

A Base, Malicious Life.

The recent defamatory editorial in the negro daily, The Record, of August 18th, in which poor white women were slandered, was such a blow to the "Fusion" cause that Senator Butler's paper, "The Caucasian," in desperation endeavored to bamboozle its populist readers by saying the democrats inspired the article. Some of the populist leaders have also tried to offset the effect of The Record article by saying democrats hired the negro editor to write the article for campaign purposes. These monstrous and debased liars get it rubbed into them by the following, head and all, which appeared in the negro paper of yesterday's date:

"A MALICIOUS LIE REFUTED"

The enemies of The Record, not being content with trying to damage our business, are now seeking to assail our personal character by stating that we were a party to an intrigue with democrats for the purpose of defeating the Republican party in North Carolina. To all such we unhesitatingly say that the statement is a base, malicious lie, born in the brain of some worthless coward who dares not face us with their lying slander. The puerile resolutions of that executive committee has brought them into disgrace with every honest negro, by their evil statement that we were not defending our race. We never have had, do not now, nor never intend to have any understanding with democrats on any account politically.—Wilming ton Messenger.

"I think DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the finest preparation on the market for the piles." So writes John C. Dunn of Wheeling, W. Va. Fry it and you will think the same. It also cures eczema and all skin diseases. Hood & Grantham.

Storm at Tybee.

Co. A. 2nd Reg. N. C. V., Camp Graham, Tybee Island, Ga. Sept. 3, 1898.

EDITOR COUNTY UNION,
Dear Sir:—Last Tuesday night a storm visited Tybee Island, Ga., that will be classed with the great storms of eighty-one, ninety-three and ninety-six. The wind blew for awhile at the rate of nearly a hundred miles an hour. But two reasons for the island's not being flooded and the loss of life greater were the storm came at low tide, and the wind was not a regular north easter. None of the N. C. volunteers were lost or injured. However they had little warning of the storm. In fact cottagers had but little time to move their families to Savannah.

About three o'clock in the afternoon signals were run up by the weather station, and later news came that we might look out for the storm to approach at twelve o'clock. Some remained awake till the storm struck their tents. When the storm came a few minutes after twelve o'clock the men of Co. E. and Co. A. broke from their tents. Some lay down, others made for cottages, and some for the port. Immediately after the first wind came, it changed around in nearly an opposite direction. This last South wind is the one which demolished cottages, hotels and wrecked three barques lying off from shore.

The only lives lost were Lieut. Morgan and four privates of the battery. Their boat was capsized in an effort to rescue the crew of an Italian barque wrecked at the mouth of the river.

The soldiers of Co. A and Co. E are doing well with the exception of the results of the storm. The question "when do you think we will be mustered out" is asked by every one spoken to. North Carolina soldiers are of the fighting class. Now that peace is declared they are fully as anxious to be disbanded as they were to enlist to go to Cuba.

Truly,
E. L. LEE.

A CRITICAL TIME

DURING THE BATTLE OF SANTIAGO.

Sick or Well, a Rush Night and day.

The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba were all Heroes Their Heroic Efforts in Getting Ammunition and Rations to the Front Saved the Day.

P. E. BUTLER, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago de Cuba, on July 23rd, says: "We all had diarrhoea in more or less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, for it was a case of rush and rush night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we were able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact, I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect saviour of our army, for if the packers had been unable to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrade and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in four cases it absolutely saved life."

The above letter was written to the manufacturers of this medicine, the Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa. For sale at N. B. Hood's Drugstore, Dunn, N. C.
