

A DAY OF GREAT SORROW.

The Obsequies of the Murdered Empress Elizabeth Beautiful and Impressive.

VIENNA WRAPPED IN THE GLOOM OF DEEP MOURNING.

The German Emperor Placed a Floral Wreath on the Casket. Impressive Funeral Mass Held in St. Matthews Catholic Church in Washington--The President and Many Diplomats Present.

VIENNA, (By Cable).—Emperor Francis Joseph, at 9 o'clock a. m. received the special representatives of foreign sovereigns. An hour later he received the visiting sovereigns, with the exception of the King of Saxony, whom he personally greeted at the railroad station. Emperor Francis Joseph, Prince Hohenzollern, the German Imperial Chancellor, Baron von Bulow, the German Minister for Foreign Affairs, received Emperor William at the railroad station. The Emperors shook hands and kissed each other's cheeks three times. They then proceeded to the church, where Emperor William, in behalf of himself and the Empress of Germany, deposited on the casket containing the remains of the late Empress of Austria a floral wreath which His Majesty had brought from Germany. The aspect of the city was more sombre than upon any day of the week of mourning. Hardly a house was without black draperies and the entire populace seemed to have poured out into the streets. The street lamps were alight, shining dimly through coverings of crepe. The funeral train, with its glowing flames over the royal casket in which the remains of the late Empress have lain in state.

At 3 o'clock the tolling of bells announced the starting of the procession. The route from the Hofburg to the insignificant church of the Capuchins, whose vaults entomb the Hapsburgs, is so short that only a small proportion of the populace was able to crowd into the adjoining streets. While the procession was being formed, the church was filled with the foreign Princes, who arrived without ostentation in closed carriages and who were conducted to the front pews. Even the rafters and floors of the church, in the center of which stood the catafalque, were hidden with black draperies. Outside a company of distinguished generals and staff officers were aligned. A detachment of cavalry led the procession, followed by a single Hussar, a court officer, attired in a Spanish costume, the highest officers of the guards and a squadron of horse guards, followed by a detachment of yeoman, all gorgeously uniformed, preceded the colossal eight-horse funeral car. On either side were four footmen and four pages with lighted tapers; but the minute escort of the car was composed of six stalwart gentlemen of the Arch Guard, eight yeomen, six Hungarian Life Guards and eight mounted Life Guards. Following the car were several bodies of infantry and cavalry.

A large number of priests in canonicals, met the procession at the Augustine church and proceeded with it to the church of the Capuchins. The clergy there marched down the aisle before the coffin and united in intoning prayers. After the last benediction had been pronounced in the name of the Most Holy Trinity, the High Chamberlain handed the key of the vault to the Capuchin who is the guardian of the imperial mausoleum.

It was announced at the war department recently that there will be no more troops mustered out. In general the plan of reorganizing the army consists in reducing the volunteer army about one-half and then redistributing the remaining forces, and among those in attendance were President McKinley and the members of his cabinet, the ambassadors and ministers of foreign governments in their brilliant diplomatic uniforms, representatives of the United States army, navy, and Supreme Court, and a large gathering from private life.

WINE OF CARDUI FOR ALL WOMEN

NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui. Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefited by it.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says: "My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her and also helped my mother through the Change of Life."

WINE OF CARDUI. The New Home Sewing Machine. Charles Lowery of Portland, Me., at the age of seventeen years enlisted with his father and five brothers for the civil war, and all seven served through that conflict. At the time of the Virginia affair he again enlisted, and in the present war he has been a sailor in the blockading fleet off the south coast of Cuba.
