LOCAL DOTS.

—Cotton is selling to-day at 6¢ to 6½¢.

—Vaccinate against the spread of small pox.

—The public school in this district closes this week.

—The farmers are hauling a good deal of guano these days.

—Our merchants are beginning to receive their Spring stock of goods.

—The town aldermen are having some needed work done on the streets.

—The price of cotton took a considerable tumble Saturday and fell thirty points.

—Some of our young people enjoyed a few hours in a dance at Hotel Divine Monday night.

—Some of the trees are beginning to put forth buds showing signs of Spring.

—The Jno. A. McKay Manufacturing Company are preparing to burn two large kilns of coal near the tool factory.

—The dwelling occupied by Mr. D. H. McLean is being re-painted and a nice vine fence is being put up around the house and garden.

—Few farmers will be ready to plant corn this year on the 25th of March—a time that many always commence planting in this section.

—Some of our citizens are suffering with the mumps. We learn that there are a few cases of roseola in the community also.

—"Don't touch my arm" is a popular salutation now. The vaccine virus is getting in its work.

—There was so much water in the river last week that the fishermen could not run their nets to much advantage and few shad were caught.

—A considerable quantity of telephone poles is being placed on the railroad yard here for shipment. The sap is rising in the junipers and the poles look very nice after the bark is taken off of them.

—Fayetteville's board of health has ordered compulsory vaccination of all the inhabitants of that city and the aldermen have appropriated funds for free vaccination to those not able to pay for it.

—Several of our business men and merchants sent carts and hands out to Black River this morning to work on the Lillington road there. This road there has been in very bad condition. The farmers through that section are helping and they hope to improve the road considerably to-day.

—We try to get all the local happenings of each week into print but some of them escape the vigilance of the argus-eyed driver of the quill, and others that he does not jot down at once he forgets to mention. Such was the case last week. We failed to announce the marriage of Mrs. Lovie Harrison to Rev. G. B. Cashwell, on the evening of the 8th, at the residence of Mrs. Erasmus Lee, mother of the bride, in this city, Rev. Mr. Goff officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Cashwell took the train here next day for the home of the groom's mother near Clinton. They have our best wishes.

People and Their Movement.

Mr. E. F. Young returned yesterday from a visit to Wilson.

Miss Julia Duncan, of Clinton, is visiting her brother Mr. W. H. Duncan, in this city.

Miss Addie Byrd, of Little River Academy, spent last week in the city, the guest of Mrs. J. H. Pope.

Mr. M. T. Young returned last week from Newbern and Wilson where he had been for some weeks.

Mr. A. L. Pearsall, of Fayetteville, spent several days here last week with his sister, Mrs. R. M. Pearsall.

Messrs. W. H. Lane, C. M. Grantham and G. K. Massengill spent Sunday in Smithfield.

Hon. D. H. McLean went up to Raleigh yesterday to argue a case before the Supreme Court.

Miss Nellie Pearsall, of Clinton, is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. M. Pearsall.

Mrs. Malloy, of Fayetteville, is visiting Mrs. J. C. Cowell on Broad street.

Mr. C. E. Pope of The Union force, spent Sunday night in Fayetteville.

Miss Ross Smith, of Little River Academy, and Miss Sallie Purdie visited Mrs. J. C. Clifford last week.

Mrs. J. A. Culbroth, of Falcon, is quite sick at the home of her father, H. N. Bizzell, Esq., near town.

Messrs. D. Ralph Shaw and W. J. Washburn, of Lillington, spent last night in the city.

Rev. F. M. Summerell filled his regular appointment at the Disciple church Sunday morning and night.

Mrs. S. J. Hooks and children left Saturday for Matthews, N. C., their former home. Mr. Hooks will remain here for some time yet.

—Work on Mr. V. L. Stephens' new residence has been commenced. When completed he will have one of the nicest and most convenient dwellings in town.

—Read the new advertisement of the Lee Cash Hardware House in this issue. This firm buys for cash and sells likewise, therefore you can naturally expect bargains when you call there for hardware, harness etc.

—We learn that Rev. T. H. Leavitt, who is well known here, has accepted the pastorate of the West End Baptist church of Raleigh and moved there to live. He has been re-instated in the Baptist church and ordained to the ministry.

—A good many cotton seed are shipped away from this place every winter and spring. It is said that the meal from a bushel of cotton seed is worth as much for fertilizer as the seed before the oil is taken out. We notice that some of our farmers are exchanging seed for meal, but do not know in what proportion the trade is made. If it were not for the oil trust, an oil mill here would be a good investment.

—On April 18th there is to be a large gathering of bankers and investors of the Northern States at Southern Pines in Moore county. The board of trade of Southern Pines has issued circular letters to all the boards of county commissioners and Mayors of towns in this section of the State asking them to send a representative from their county or town to this meeting and meet these Northern capitalists and present the advantages that their community or section presents for manufacturing interests and the investment of capital. Harnett county has many natural advantages and we think that our town and county would do well to send a representative to this meeting.

—The crossing at the depot is getting to be a dangerous place. Recently there have been several narrow escapes there from being run over by trains. Most of the fast trains and through freights pass here at rates of speed greater than is allowed by our town ordinances. We think that if the trains are to be allowed to go at such speed through the town, the railroad company should be required to put up arms and have them thrown across the street while the trains are passing at this crossing especially, as the warehouse obstructs the view on one side, and box cars, generally, on the other. Unless some measure is taken some one will be caught there some of these days by a train.

—We are requested to announce that Evangelist B. H. Erwin, of Nebraska, will begin a meeting in this town on April 28th. He will have a large tent under which the services will be held.

—Messrs. Gainey & Jordan have recently added a new feature to their business, that of manufacturing picture frames. They can fit you up any size and style of frame desired. See their business local.

—The Dunn Brass Band has under consideration a call from Goldsboro to furnish music for the memorial exercises in that city on the 10th of May. If they accept we are sure they will do credit to the Band and also to our town.
