An Orphan's Acre.

We want to make suggestion to our farmer friends and readers. Merely a suggestion and we leave you to act according to your own sense of duty. It is just this: That you select this year a rich spot on your farm, plant it in what you think can be raised most profitable, tend it carefully and conscientiously and send the proceeds of the produce to aid in the support of the two hundred and fifteen orphan boys and girls in the Oxford Orphan Asylum, or the children in some other orphanage in North Carolina. This is done in other states and I know the farmers in our own state are as charitably inclined as any that the sun shines upon.

We are all wholly dependent upon our Heavenly Father for food, for rain and for all the blessings of life—for life itself. From Him must come the sunshine, the rain, the fruitful season, the abundant harvest. It is from His bounty that all must be fed.

You could not bestow your loving labor where it would yield a greater harvest of redeemed lives, than by following our suggestion.

If you could get your son interested in this "orphan's acre," it would teach him a valuable lesson of unselfishness, of generosity and of service to others.

In the sweat of your brow you toil hard for your own loved ones. May you always be given the strength and the opportunity to provide for them. But never overlook these little, unfortunate children, bereft of father, of home, of support, dependent upon our charity. Feeding an orphan child will never take bread from the mouths of your family. We have God's word for that:

David declares after a long life of varied experience and close observation: "I have been young and now an old; yet I have not seen the righteous forsaken nor his seed begging bread. He is ever merciful and lendeth and his seed is blessed."

Solomon says: There is that scattereth and yet increaseth; there is that withholdeth more than is meet out to tendeth to poverty."

Read in Ecclesiastes: "Cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days."

Again we have the promise: "Blessed is he that considereth the poor; the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble."

Farmer friend, sit down and think over the prime importance of this work for the destitute, orphan children of our state—a state highly favored of God in fertile soil and bountiful harvests.

If you give the matter serious consideration, I believe you will plant this year a little garden of "orphan's acre," and that, next year, if you are permitted to live, you will plant another, that you will continue the practice from year to year and thus materially aid this cause in North Carolina and be blessed in giving.

A Mind Healer's Fee.

Some years ago a young friend of mine went to a mind healer for a lark. There was nothing in the world the master with him, but he pretended to be the victim of terrible headaches. The wonderful healer asked no questions as to the cause of the ailment. He did not care about that, for he had one panacea which soothed for every ill. Said he to the young investigator: "Go home, and whenever the headache comes on sit down quietly and put your whole mind on it, thinking with all your might that you have not got a headache. Then you will not have it and will be cured."

"That's easy," said my young friend. "What is your fee?"

"Five dollars."

"Well, sir, you put your whole mind on it and think with all your might that you have that $5. Then you will have it and will be paid."

English Sparrow Nuisance.

The sparrow nuisance dates far back of 1850, when Nicholas Pike, of Brooklyn, imported eight pairs of what are falsely called "English sparrows" to this country. The bird is not native to the British Islands, but is found all over Europe. Our short-sighted and almost callous career with the feathered denizens of the woods and fields began in their wanton shooting for sport. The example set by the fathers was copied by the boys, until the New England woods became almost songless and the fields were turned over to the worms and bugs. Finally the pests which the native birds had formerly destroyed became so threatening that as a last resort we, in 1850, began to breed, on a small scale, the birds which are now charged with being the worst pests of all, and which Europe has been trying to exterminate for half a century. Certainly we ought to profit something from the penalty we are paying for long years of folly and cruelty.—Boston Globe.

Silk From Gelatine.

Artificial silk is manufactured from gelatine by an English process, a reservoir containing the gelatine being kept at the proper temperature to liquefy it. Numerous small openings are provided through which the gelatine oozes in fine streams. An endless chain of linen cloth receives these filaments, and before it has traveled far it is dry and presents a fine uniform thread, ready to be wound on spools. The whole apparatus is so simple that a single operator can oversee ten machines, producing about 470,000 yards of thread per day.—Exchange

MORTGAGE SALE OF LAND.

By virtue of a mortgage deed executed by J. J. Wilson on the 24th day of April 1836 and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Harnett county, N. C., in Book "O" No. 2, pages 213 etc., I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, at the Court House door in Lillington, Harnett county, N. C., at 12 o'clock M., on Monday, the 17th day of April, 1859, the following described tract of land lying in Harnett county, N. C., in Asbury township, adjoining the lands of Sally Jones, Lamb Wilkins and others, bounded as follows: beginning at high water mark in a branch, Lamb Wilkins' corner, and runs north 72 west 23 chains to head of a ditch; thence with said ditch north 68 west 7.60 chains to a stake; thence north 30 east 8.50 chains to a stake; thence south 72 east 12 chains to a stake, near house; hence south 44 east 18.60 chains to the beginning, containing twenty-five acres or less. This March 14, 1859.
