That single vote elected Daniel Kelso State Senator from Switzerland county, Ind .- a fact which appears in .the official records of the year 1843.

The burning question at that ne before the county was the lmission of Texas into the Unm. The South favored it, for would increase the slave area amensely, and for the same ason the North bitterly opas certain that if the step was tken it would bring on a war ith Mexico. The fire was nouldering and required but a light fanning to break into ncontrollable flame. Our neighbor was determined obtain possession of Texas nd would not agree to the oundary line claimed by her, a which claim she was upheld by the United States. Texas laimed that she owned the teritory as far south as the Rio trande, while Mexico maintaind that her ownership ceased at the Neuces. Many unprejuliced persons claimed that, at est, the admission of Texas would prove of doubtful advantage, since the word "Texas" was only "Taxes," with the letters in different positions. It may be well to note here the half-forgotten legend that, after l'exas became ours, our government asked Mexico to name the bonus which she would accept for taking her back, and Mexico shook her head and replied, "Nay, nay." But that was a joke.

called upon to choose a United States Senator. The regular Democratic candidate announced himself as opposed to the admission of Texas. This so exasperated Kelso that he bounced out of the caucus, taking with him a friend, and swore that he would hold out till the crack of doom before casting a vote for Victor Hugo said that a few the disloyal candidate, his
