DUNN, N. C., Oct. 1, 1902.

Trusts.

Every one knows that our people are opposed to trusts, and that nearly every State in the Union has upon its statute books laws that distinctly declare that no combination shall be formed for the purpose of controlling any article of trade or commerce, and the Republican national platform declares that if that party was elected it would destroy all monopolies.

There may be some McKinley Republicans here. If so, I want to call their attention to the fact that in his inaugural speech he declared that if the present laws were not sufficient to prevent monopolies, he would ask Congress to enact others for said he, "These huge combinations, usually called trusts, are dangerous conspiracies against the people and should be abolished."

President Roosevelt is the President who says that trusts are good things and only require publicity in order to be effectually controlled.

The Democratic party, said the speaker, places man above dollars and says it is wrong to shoot men as the Republican party is now doing in order that a few coal operatives may mine their coal at starvation prices.

Our party has placed itself on the side of right, and there it will remain.—Claude Kitchin at Wilson.

What has become of Marion Butler and Hal Ayer, two Populist chairmen? We never hear them out crying for the "dear people now." They have gotten all they could out of the party and let them go. Butler is now an attorney of a syndicate of capitalists and is reputed to be almost a millionaire, while Ayer is a Wall street broker in New York. It was not the people they cared for, but the "pie."

The Two Parties.

When the Democratic State Convention met in 1898 the people were confronted by the two records, one the record of the Democratic party, during its twenty-three years of ascendancy prior to 1894, and the other the record of the Fusionists during the four succeeding years. In that campaign we had only to point to those two records as object lessons and invite the people to compare and consider them. The confidence which we had from the beginning of the campaign in the result of the election of that year was predicated upon the conviction that the people of North Carolina possessed sufficient intelligence to distinguish between good government and bad government, and sufficient virtue to prefer good government to bad government.—F. M. Simmons at Greensboro.

True.

The Democratic party stands for a clean, upright judiciary, for the protection and care of the unfortunate insane, for the education of the deaf dumb and blind of the State, for a longer school term than has ever been known in the history of the State, for the maintenance of the unfortunate and decrepit Confederate soldier, for the protection of the weak against the strong, for justice to all mankind.—J. M. Guder at Robbinsville.

The Republican Campaign Text Book says:

"The Republican party has never been influenced by hysterical impulse, but has resisted that tendency in its own ranks. Probably the G. O. P. will call the Iowa and Idaho declarations for tariff revision hysterical impulses, and when they successfully smother the righteous demand for tariff revision within their own ranks, they will 'point with pride' to that as another instance of successfully 'resisting the tendency to hysterical impulse' in its own rank."

A Runaway Match.

"A Runaway Match" at the Opera House last Friday night was a side-splitter. The mix-ups were ludicrous, and made everybody laugh whether they wanted to or not. You forgot your troubles and thought of nothing but how they would get straight. The specialties by the members of the company were all good and added a great deal to the amusement of those who attended.

The next on the programme is a play entitled "Reaping the Harvest," which is highly spoken of by the press of the State. Abundance of wit and humor and a sufficiency of sentiment and pathos, telling a story of the heart, all of which is the work of a finished writer, whose ambition is to please and never offend, will be presented next Tuesday night, Oct. 6th.

Mrs. Fowler Dead.

Mr. Thomas Fowler died at his residence in Dunn last Saturday night after an illness of several months. She had a complication of diseases and it had been evident for some time that she was fast nearing the end. She was a noble Christian and had a sweet assurance of the hereafter.

The interment took place Sunday at the Old Field cemetery near her birth place, among many relatives and friends. She leaves several brothers and sisters to mourn her death. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones in their hour of sadness.

Henry Huggins Dead.

Henry Huggins, the negro who was shot in Fayetteville some months ago by constable Goddard, while in the act of trying to escape, died Monday night at 8 o'clock. It will be remembered he was tried under a charge of robbery and bound over to court. He gave bond and "leaked out." The coroner summoned a jury and after examination decided that the shooting was justifiable.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing under the name and style of Gainey & Jordan has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. M. F. Gainey of the above named firm will assume all accounts of the sewing machine and bicycle department and will conduct a general business along this line in the building formerly occupied by the Merchants and Farmer's Bank. Mr. J. W. Jordan will assume all accounts of the jewelry and repairing department and will continue business at the same old stand on broad street.

Sept. 6, 1902.
M. F. GAINNEY,
J. W. JORDAN.

B. C. A. Dots.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pearson, of Dunn, spent Sunday here.

Hon. B. R. Lacy and Hon. J. Bryan Grimes spoke here last Thursday night.

Mr. Sandy Stewart, accompanied by Miss Olive Daniel of Dunn, spent Sunday here with relatives.

Messrs F. H. Taylor and L. A. Ferrell made a business trip to Raleigh Saturday.

Mr. W. H. Upchurch has returned from the northern markets where he purchased his fall stock of goods.

Mr. W. P. Byrd and the writer took a trip to Raleigh Saturday where we heard Senator Pritchard and the Hon. Locke Craig speak Saturday night.

Miss Myrtle Shaw of Lillington, is spending this week here with her aunt, Mrs. A. J. Byrd.

Miss Mary Whitley, of Wake, is visiting relatives here this week.

Mrs. Florence Shaw left Tuesday to visit relatives in Durham.

We are pleased to note that Miss Leah Matthews, who has been sick for some time, is able to be out again.

Rev. W. C. Barrett, of Durham, has been conducting a series of meetings here for the last ten days. There is a great deal of interest in the meeting. Several have professed faith in Christ.

Madam Rumor, who is ever on the alert, says we will have a wedding or two to report ere long.

We are sorry to note that Mr. C. R. Stewart is quite ill this week. We hope he may be out again soon.

The school districts No. 1 and 2 of this township have been consolidated. They are now building a large school house at Pleasant Union.

Snooks.

The mere fact that the Republicans and Populists are going to hold their Senatorial convention here on the same day is conclusive evidence that they expect to work together in this campaign to defeat the Democratic nominee. This is too thin. They cannot fool the good people of this district any longer.

NOTICE.

I wish to announce that I have bought the stock of goods formerly owned by W. D. Thornton & Co., and will conduct the business at the old stand on Broad street next to Wade Hardware Co. Will sell this stock of goods at the lowest cash prices and ask for a share of your patronage.
