

THIS IS ELECTION NEWS.

IT'S ALL ONE-SIDED—ALL DEMOCRATIC.

There is Nothing to Take Back as the Democrats Continue to Gain All Along the Line.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The Tribune, (rep.) figures give the standing of the next state legislature in joint ballot as follows: Republicans, 102; democrats, 99; farmers' alliance, 3. The Inter-Ocean, (rep.) makes it republicans, 101; democrats, 101; farmers' alliance, 2. The Daily News, (ind.) figures it, republicans, 101; democrats 100; Farmers' alliance, 3. The Times, (dem.) adds the Farmers' alliance men to the democratic list with the following result: Republicans, 100; democrats, 104. The Herald (dem.) has it: Republicans, 101; democrats, 102; Farmers' alliance, 1. The full official returns will probably be necessary to determine the exact standing of the legislature.

South Dakota—Alliance. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—Latest returns from South Dakota show result to be an alliance victory and that Loucks is elected governor. The legislature will also be alliance, the republicans conceding the defeat of Senator Moody.

THE CITIZEN presents herewith Friday's political reports. Complete returns from every county in Pennsylvania foot up the plurality for Pattison, democrat, for governor, of 16,933, a democratic gain as compared with the vote for governor in 1886 of 59,584. The rest of the state ticket is republican.—Seventy-one counties in Nebraska give the following vote for governor: Boyd, democratic, 65,142; Richards, republican, 61,040; Powers, alliance, 59,594.—Oklahoma territory went republican.—Indiana is democratic by about 20,000. The democrats elect 11 out of thirteen congressmen. The legislature will be democratic on joint ballot by 68.—The Colorado legislature will stand on a joint ballot: republicans, 49; democrats, 29, a democratic gain of 14. This insures the re-election of Teller, (rep.) to the United States senate.—In Michigan the whole democratic state ticket is elected by from 6,000 to 16,000 plurality. The legislature is also democratic.—The First, Second, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Tenth congressional district have gone democratic.—The New Hampshire legislature is very close, and neither party will have more than three to five majority on joint ballot.—Returns from sixty-six Minnesota counties give Merriam, republican, for governor, 74,069; Wilson, 72,043; Owen, alliance, 48,244—a plurality of 3,826 for Merriam, with fifteen counties to be heard from. It looks as if Merriam is elected.—The Connecticut republicans have a majority on joint ballot of eight or ten. The legislature will have to settle the governorship.—In Wisconsin the entire state democratic ticket is elected.

Nebraska. OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 6.—The returns are still meagre but they indicate the probable election of Boyd, democrat, for governor by a small plurality. The alliance candidates are looming up strong in the interior and the republican candidates are alternating between first and second places in the country towns. Complete returns may possibly elect either of the three gubernatorial candidates, but the eastern end of the state gives Boyd the best chance. The democrats gain one congressman, McKeligh, surely and probably another. Treadwell, democrat, is elected. The election of Dorsey, republican, in the third district is not yet certain.

Ohio—Foster Defeated. COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 6.—Meagre returns received at the republican and democratic state headquarters indicate the election of fourteen democratic congressmen. This estimate includes the defeat of McKinley in the Sixteenth district and Foster in the Eighth. Foster concedes the election of Hare, his opponent, by 100 majority. Both parties claim the Sixteenth district.

Ohio—McKinley Defeated. CANTON, Nov. 6.—McKinley concedes Warwick's election by about 300 and this will be verified unless the vote of precincts in Holmes county, which are estimated show unexpected gains for McKinley.

Illinois—Almost Democratic. CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Tribune (rep.) finds the result in the state legislature to be as follows:

Table with 2 columns: REP and DEM. Rows include Senate, Joint Assembly, and Farmers' alliance.

This would make a tie vote on the joint ballot if the Farmers' alliance men should vote with the democrats, or give a majority of four should they vote with the republicans.

Virginia—Democratic. RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 6.—Further returns from election in this state leave no doubt that ten democratic congressmen are elected. Democratic gains were 11,612; republican gains 1,306.

Minnesota. ST. PAUL, Nov. 6.—The latest figures from the fifth district indicate the possible election of Halverson (alliance) over Comstock (republican) and Whitman (democrat).

Michigan—Democratic. DETROIT, Nov. 6.—The indications are that the democrats have elected their governor by about 10,000 plurality.

New York State. ELMHURST, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Haza H. Rockwell (democrat) is elected representative in congress in the twenty-eighth district by less than one hundred plurality.

Arkansas—Breckenridge Elected. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 6.—Democrats claim Breckenridge election by a handsome majority. All democratic counties show heavy gains for Breckenridge.

Missouri—Very Democratic. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—The democrats send a full delegation to congress with one exception; they elect the state ticket and will have a joint ballot in the legislature by a large majority.

Iowa. COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 5.—Complete returns from every county in the district show the election of Bowman, dem., over Keel, rep., in the ninth district by 2,105 majority.

Colorado—In Doubt. DENVER, Col., Nov. 6.—The official returns will be required to determine the result of the election in this state. The democrats claim it.

Connecticut. HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 6.—The republican majority in the legislature on the joint ballot is eight or ten. The legislature will have to settle the governorship.

Massachusetts 10,000 Democratic. BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The Globe says with only half a dozen towns to hear from in Massachusetts, Russell (democrat) is leading by over 10,000 votes.

Pennsylvania—10,000 Majority for Pattison. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 6.—Revised figures indicate that Pattison's plurality for governor over Leamanier will exceed 10,000.

THE NEXT SPEAKERSHIP. Roger Q. Mills Announces That he is a Candidate.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The Associated press is in receipt of a dispatch from Roger Q. Mills, in reply to an inquiry whether he would be a candidate for the speakership of the next house of representatives, replying in the affirmative. W. D. Bynum, J. H. Blount, A. B. Hotel, Representative in congress and Benton McMillen are also candidates.

BIG FIRE AT OWENSBORO. Hotel Guests Jump for Their Lives—Five Persons Missing.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Nov. 7.—Owensboro was visited last night by the most destructive fire in her history, and when the debris is cleared away the conflagration will probably be found to have been attended with loss of life. At 1 o'clock the fire had destroyed property to the amount of $250,000 and was still burning. At that time it was believed that at least five persons had met their death under falling walls, while others were seriously injured in jumping from the burning building.

The fire originated in a pantry in the basement of the Rudd house, a handsomely modern hotel which was filled with guests. The guests ran out into the streets in their night clothing while many, crazed by fear, jumped from the windows of the hotel. Among these were two ladies and a child, both of whom are badly injured. William H. Holm jumped from a third story window of the Rudd house, fell on his back and is fatally injured.

Five guests of the Rudd house are missing and they are believed to have been burned to death while sleeping.

Charles Lubek, a traveling salesman from Philadelphia, and Charles Bareford, of New Albany, had a narrow escape and were badly burned.

A high wind was blowing at the time the fire originated and after the hotel had been swept away the flames reached the Bank of Commerce building, next door, and that, with the building occupied by Marks and Deane, grocers, and Quicksilver & Co., merchant tailors, was soon in ashes.

In a few minutes the fire spread around the corner and burned the buildings occupied by Marks and Dolan Smith, butchers; Williams, furnishing goods; John Reinhardt, furniture; A. J. Wadley's five store building and D. A. D. Evans' livery stable.

A GREAT STORM. Rain and Gales All Around the English Islands.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A heavy storm prevails throughout Great Britain and Ireland and much damage has been done. Rain is falling incessantly and in many sections the country is flooded. The downpour is accompanied by a high wind and reports have been received of many houses being unroofed by the gale.

The storm is especially severe off the shore. Telegrams from various points along the coast state that a number of coasting vessels have been wrecked.

Advices from Belfast state that a report has been received there that a yacht founded in the Belfast lough and that its owner, a Scottish nobleman, was drowned.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 25, 1890. Kadam's Microbe Killer Co., Nashville, Tenn.

Gentlemen—In reply to yours, inquiring of my health at the present date, I will say: I am well, having had but one spell of illness since my last treatment of 1889; that was bilious fever in Aug. I had quit taking Microbe Killer for about five months, having had no need for it. I broke up my fever and started to work the first of September and have not lost a day from illness of any kind. I now feel as though I was entirely cured, but through fear of another attack I continued the use of it through this disagreeable weather. My lungs are surely in good condition as I play first b. flat cornet in Baxter's First Tenth Regiment Band, and feel no bad effects from it. Any one knows it requires power from the lungs to use this instrument. I cheerfully recommended it to all of a weak constitution like myself. I have used fifteen jugs and have experienced nothing but the best of results, and can safely say it is not injurious to the system, but on the other hand gives tone and vigor.

CLOSE CALL FOR INGALLS.

HE MAY NOT BE RETURNED TO THE SENATE.

The Republican Ticket Beaten in Kansas by the Farmer's Alliance With the Possible Exception of the Candidate for Governor.

TOPEKA, Nov. 6.—The official count will be necessary to decide whether Willets, the alliance candidate for governor, or Humphrey, the republican candidate, has been elected. The vote is very close with indications in Willets' favor with most of the western counties where the farmers are in a majority to be for him.

The Farmers' alliance has elected beyond doubt W. A. Baker, its candidate for congress in the Fifth district, and contributed to the election of Moonlight, democrat, in the First, whose election is conceded by something over 1,000 majority. The alliance seems reasonably sure of electing at least one other congressional candidate—Simpson in the Seventh district. The district is composed of thirty-seven counties, mostly in the western part of the state and Simpson is running Hollowell, republican, very close, and it will take the official count to determine who is successful. The Fifth district is also conceded to be very close.

In the tight between Davis, the Farmers' alliance, and Phillips, republican, seven counties out of ten in that district have reported. Of these Davis has carried four and Phillips three, majorities in all cases being very small and one county may change the result as it now appears to be.

The republicans have elected Thurston and Kelly beyond a doubt in the second and fourth districts respectively. An element of doubt still exists in the fourth district where Clover of the Farmers' alliance contests the re-election of Perkins, republican.

The third district is also in doubt. Clover, state president of the Farmers' alliance ran ahead of his ticket in the counties heard from. Perkins, (rep.) who is up for re-election, has very small majorities in four out of the seven counties heard from. Clover has carried three counties.

Latest returns indicate almost the positive election of Ives, the Farmers' alliance candidate for state attorney general over Kellogg, (rep.)

The democratic and re-submission vote was very heavy, but not so large as anticipated. Robinson, democratic candidate for governor, was scattered for Willets, and the Farmers' alliance voted for democrats on the county offices.

The Farmers' alliance will have a strong delegation in the state legislature. The republicans claim only twenty-four on the joint ballot. The majority of the districts are still to be heard from, but Ingalls' re-election is not believed to be jeopardized. Chairman Chase, of the Farmers' alliance state central committee of Kansas, claims the election of Willets for governor beyond a doubt and estimates his plurality at 25,000.

Now—The republican central committee concedes the election of the entire Farmers' Alliance ticket with the possible exception of Willets, candidate for governor, who may be defeated by Humphrey by a small majority. The committee concedes the opposition to Ingalls in the legislature, but thinks he will have a majority. The election of six opposition congressmen is assured.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 6.—The latest returns show Case, Bradrick, republican, for congress from the First district, over Col. Moonlight. Moonlight concedes his defeat.

GAIN AN U. S. SENATOR. A Democratic Successor to W. M. Everts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The associated press reports show the election of sixty-eight democratic assemblymen in New York state and sixty republicans. As the democrats have thirteen senators against nineteen republicans, the former will thus have on a joint ballot eighty-one votes, against the latter's seventy-nine which ensures the election of a democratic successor to Senator Everts. Moreover, the democrats claim that two assembly districts credited to the republicans—Dutchess county and Montgomery county—belong to them.

A MODEL TOWNSHIP. The Solidest Democratic Stronghold in the United States.

W. L. Henry in Progressive Farmer. ACTON, Buncombe Co., N. C.—We have one of the strongest lodges (563) in the county. We have the solidest democratic township in the county, in the State or in the United States. We have more freeholders to the number of voters; more men that can read the own ballots; more churches and the best churches (according to our wealth); more good school houses, according to population, than any township in the state; more general intelligence and less lawsuits than any township of our population; fewer renters, or men without their own homes, less bickerings and no paupers. We have an intelligent colored population and every man of them can read, and only one or two families but that own their own homes. This looks like boasting, but every word is true.

Our crop tobacco is curing very well, corn and grass are simply first rate; our potato and cabbage crop good. We live near the city of Asheville, which furnishes a good market for all our products, and pay for our extra labor. An electric railway will be laid to Sulphur Springs, (Carrier's springs), five miles from Asheville, within the next 60 days.

Wasting a Word. Editor (to reporter)—"Mr. Penniba, I must caution you to avoid tautology." Reporter—"Have I used a tautological expression, sir?" "Yes; in this article you speak of female shoppers."

Had Taken all Masonic Degrees. LOUISVILLE, Nov. 7.—Hiram Bassett, past grand master of masons, died at Millersville, Ky., to-day of paralysis at the age of 70. He had taken every degree known to the order.

THREE WEEKS A SULTANA.

An Irish Girl in an Eastern Harem.

From the New York World. The visit of an English theatrical troupe to Cairo not long after Ismail's promotion to the throne was quite an event in Egyptian society, especially as the physical drama was then in the earlier stages of development, and its living illustrations were still comparatively youthful. Ismail went and saw and was conquered, more particularly by the attractions of an actress known by the stage name of Clara Knollys. Clara, whatever her real name might have been, was of Irish origin, and had temper as well as good looks. The offer made in behalf of Ismail might have dazzled a more scrupulous woman, and she consented to be added to the indefinite list of royal wives.

At first she was given to understand that she would be permitted to enjoy some of the liberties according to her sex in western countries, but Ismail was of too selfish a disposition for this to last, and one day Clara's black attendant brought her a peremptory order to confine herself to the harem. This was too much for Clara. After the command had been translated to her the attendant thought for a moment that she was going into a fit. But she wasn't—at least it was only a fit of temper. Brushing aside the sabb shulow she darted from the women's apartments, and into the hall where Ismail was just then giving an audience, fortunately for Clara, to the British envoy. The Khedive was seated cross-legged on a divan and the envoy near him, both talking confidentially.

Suddenly a vision in female dress rushed in and Ismail felt himself seized by the beard. "I'll teach you, you old reprobate, to try to make an Egyptian mummy of an Irish girl!" yelled Clara.

The attendants dashed up with drawn swords and Clara would soon have been carried but for the prompt interposition of the British officer, who saw that the woman was fellow-subject of the Queen. She was permitted to go unharmed and is possibly still exhibiting her charms upon the variety stage. She was a sultana just three weeks.

Pullman's Pretty Daughters. Chicago News, New York Letter.

Two dashing young women these. They are the Misses Pullman of the world. I say of the world, because while their home is in Chicago, they know as many people in Boston, New York, London, Paris, and Vienna as in the Lake City. They walk as gracefully as gnomes' guards. They are superbly dressed, but their clothing is not in any sense loud. They are both tall, average height, nearly six feet in height; have rose cheeks, clear skin, and constitutions made strong by judicious work in the gymnasium. They are seen very often at the opera in this city, go to the theatre frequently, and are known in many of the best houses on Fifth avenue. They spend their time at the Windsor hotel, and whenever they visit this city their society is eagerly sought by young men of the best families; and why shouldn't they be sought, for they are independently wealthy, as well as beautiful, and some day will be worth their weight in gold. They are both cultured, speak a half dozen languages with fluency, and have something else to do in the world besides dress, although they are admirably gowned. In addition to their other accomplishments they are expert horsewomen, and on these bright October mornings are often seen galloping through Central Park. The world goes very well with them.

A Sarcastical Telephone Girl. From the Lewiston Journal.

A "telephone girl" who knows suggests these rules for people who use the telephone: If you have a telephone in your office or store, ring up "central" and then go and wait on a customer. Always speak in an undertone, in order to make "central" ask you over your own wire. If she does not hear you, tell her to "wake up" or "take the cotton out of her ears." Put your "plug" in before a storm, and be sure not to take it out again, but go around to the central office and offer to lick the whole telephone company for neglect of duty. Take your time in answering your bell, or, what is better, do not answer it at all, but in about half an hour ring up and ask who called you, and get mad if "central" has forgotten who it was. She has nothing else to do but remember. Allow everybody who wants to, to use your telephone. Hang the receiver big end up, as in this way it gets full of dust, which makes another cause for complaint. Bang on the transmitter with a lead pencil, as though you intended to knock it through the wall. This invariably makes it talk better. Refuse to pay toll messages, and if you are on a line with some one, always listen to their conversation, and be sure to want to use the line when they are doing so. Whenever you see the manager, tell him that if he cannot give you a better telephone or get that one fixed you will throw the whole thing out of the window. When the inspector comes, deny that you have ever complained of the telephone, and say that it works like a charm.

Paste this in your telephone for future reference.

Victoria Wettin! From the St. Louis Republic.

How many readers can give the surname of the royal family of Great Britain? Nearly every one that thinks himself well informed will say Guelph, but this is not true. When Victoria married Prince Albert she dropped her own family surname and took that of her husband, just as any ordinary woman in a lower station in life would have done. This is a fact seldom taken into consideration. The family name of Prince Albert was Wettin, and so is that of all the kings of Saxony.

Perfectly Satisfactory. From the Filigende Blatter.

"In heaven's name, children, come and help me hunt for baby. I don't know what has become of him. He is not in the room where I left him." "Oh, he's all right, mamma; we are having a beautiful time playing the finding of Moses with him. Just come and see how lovely he looks in his basket floating on the river."

ONLY FIRE WAS LACKING.

A LOCOMOTIVE CRASHES INTO A SLEEPER.

No One Killed, but Several Badly Injured, and the Wonder is That Any Survive the Accident.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—An almost miraculous escape from death by the occupants of the Jacksonville, Fla., sleeping car on the Cincinnati Southern road happened at Junction City at 3:38 o'clock this morning.

The Louisville and Nashville railroad crosses the Southern road at this point. When train No. 8 of the Southern road reached the station this morning on schedule time and stopped at the usual place the middle of the sleeper stood directly across the track of the Louisville and Nashville. On the latter road a heavy freight was coming from the west. It should have stopped two hundred feet from the crossing until the track was clear, but it did not stop. It is said the brakes would not work and that the grade was too steep.

At any rate the train struck the sleeper in the middle, the engine plunging through and breaking the car to pieces and throwing the occupants right and left on either side of the track. The engine left the track and crashed into the baggage room of the Louisville and Nashville depot.

Fortunately the wrecked car did not take fire and no one was killed outright. The injured are: Herbert F. Tinsley, Belvidere, Ill., concussion of the brain; Mrs. S. W. Wheeler, Milwaukee, knee cut slightly; Jennie R. White, three years old, Milwaukee, injured about the head.

There are at Junction City, Ky., under medical treatment: D. J. Wheeler, Findlay, O., slight scalp wound; bruises on neck. Fred A. Shaver, Findlay, O.; slight bruises. David D. Shaler, Findlay, O.; compression of chest. These three are able to travel and will reach this city this afternoon: W. T. Harder, Jacksonville, Fla., general freight agent Savannah, Florida and Western, badly injured about the spine. B. N. Austin, assistant general passenger agent Northern Pacific, St. Paul, Minn., badly injured internally.

A sad feature of Austin's misfortune is that he had gone to Jacksonville, Fla., to take home the body of his mother who had recently died and her body was in the baggage car at time of the accident.

McLean, conductor of the sleeper, was slightly injured, as was also the engineer of the freight train. Mr. E. D. Northrup, of Elbertsville, New York, a passenger on the wrecked sleeper, said he could not account for the escape of anybody on the car. The engine crashed through it with such force that the whole car was in ruins and the sleeping passengers were thrown promiscuously among the debris. The delayed train reached Cincinnati over three hours late a little after 10 o'clock to-day.

ANTIMIGRAINE.

NEVER FAILING CURE FOR HEADACHE.

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

ABSOLUTELY SAFE, PERFECTLY SURE AND ALWAYS SPEEDY.

Cures Every Variety of Headache AND NOTHING ELSE.

Has earned for itself the enviable reputation of being the finest, most effective and reliable article in the market for the speedy relief and cure of every variety of that common trouble, HEADACHE. The immense favor which has greeted it from all quarters, proves its true merits and acceptability to the public. It is something which almost everyone needs, and those who have once tried it, will never be without.

For its curative powers it does not depend upon the subtle influences of such poisonous drugs as ANTHRYNE, MORPHINE, CHLORAL AND COCAINE.

Since it does not contain an atom of either of these. It is absolutely free from injurious chemicals, and can be taken by young and old without fear or serious results. It is a Cathartic, does not disarrange the stomach, and contains no noxious or sickening ingredients.

The peculiar advantages of Antimigraine consist in its being thoroughly reliable as a cure for any kind of headache—without respect to cause—leaving no unpleasant or annoying after-effects, as in the case of other so-called "harmless" remedies. These qualities make it the most popular and saleable article in the market, wherever known.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. The dose for an adult is two teaspoonfuls in a wine glass of water. Dose for children in proportion, according to age. In either case the dose can be repeated every thirty minutes until a cure is effected. One dose will always drive away an attack of Headache, it taken when first feeling the premonitory symptoms; but if the attack is well on, and suffering is intense, the second or third dose may be required. Usually a greater number of doses is required to effect the first cure than is needed for any succeeding time thereafter, showing that the medicine is accumulative in its effects, tending toward an eventual permanent cure.
