K. v. RUCK, M. D., Observer. Prescott and McLean.

The following is from the New Orleans

Picayune, of the 14th ult: Picayans, of the 14th ult:

"Mr. McLean last night played "Virginius," and gave an excellent representation of his part. He was graceful and casv in the early portion of the play, and rose to the requirements of the character in the stronger scenes. In the act where he sacrifices Virginia and where, a madman of many fancies, the recognition of Appins in prison, causes the thought of his wrong to struggle through his wandering mind, and impels him to strangle the tyrant with his last strength. He acted with nice discrimination, avoided the temptation to overdo, and controlled the temptation to overdo, and controlled voice, gesture, and facial expression, with praise-worthy skill.

praise worthy skill.

Miss Prescott is a good actress, and it goes without saying, that she made a comely and capable Virginia.

The entire company handled itself well, and the cast, costumes, etc., were much better than of other stars, who have presented the tragedy in this city.

Another Railroad.

It is a fact not generally known, that a new railroad project is under conside ration. A wealthy syndicate from New York City has lately been negotiating for a charter for a railroad leading out from Asheville. It will be a matter of gratification to citizens of the county, to know that the chances are that a survey of the route will be begun inside of thirty representative of this company, which states that work will be commenced by the 1st of March.

New Buildings Going Up.

Bostic, Blanton & Co. will commen in a few days the erection of two fine lences in Lincoln Park. They report the traffic in real estate increasing, and that values of property on the street car line are going up in valuation.

What is said to be the finest train of cars on earth was dispatched from Pullman a few days ago to the City of Mexico, to be run regularly between that place and New Orleans. The train besides being a model of elegance and comfort contains everything to befound in a first-rate hotel. It has a kitchen, smoking rooms, parlors, library, reading room, parber shop, and bar-room. It is lit throughout with electricity. It is a vestibule train, and marks another great tride towards absolute perfection in
