Editor Citizen:—In the issue of THE CITIZEN of the 22d inst. appears an article headed "The Public Building," which does injustice to two of the distinguished does injustice to two of the distinguished representatives of our State in Congress. Whatever may be implied as a compliment to Senator Vance and others in connection with the public building in Asheville, from which I will not detract, that which is honestly due Senator Ransom and Mr. Johnston should be accorded.

The bill which secured us the building is not due "chiefly" to Mr. Johnston, as stated, but to him entirely, as through his special efforts the bill passed the House. Senator Ransom had prior to Mr. Johnston's election to Congress, by his own efforts, secured the passage of three bills through the Senate for a public building in Asheville, and had introduced his fourth.

When Mr. Johnston's bill, which passed the House by his unaided efforts, reached the Senate Senator Ransom Iaid aside his own bill, had Mr. Johnston's taken up, and secured its passage by that body. This bill went to the President who all avg. lowed it to become a law without his of Senator Ransom and Mr. Johnston by urging Mr. Cleveland not to veto it, if he could not approve it.

I make this statement, Mr. Editor, be cause your article of the 22d suggests the passage of the bill which secures a public building for Asheville was "chiefly" through Mr. Johnston's efforts in the House—when it should have said altogether—and—that it was passed the Sen gether—and—that it was passed the Sen-ate by the efforts of Senator Vance "aided occasionally by Senator Ransom," when was done, as the Record will show by Senator Ransom Respectfully,

R. M. FURMAN. [The statement as it appeared in THE CITIZEN was made, it is confessed, without sufficient knowledge of the legislative record, but without motive to detract from Senator Ransom's activity in the matter. The supposition of the reporter who wrote the account was that Senator Vance as the Senator from the West was the spokesman of the bill in the Senate. The Record is not at hand, but we dare say that Senator Vance did not vote against it, although it is highly probable that his active influence was not required when Senator Ransom undertook it all by himself as Mr. Furman assures us he
