

THE DAILY CITIZEN.
The Citizen is the most extensively circulated and widely read newspaper in Western North Carolina.
Its discussion of public men and measures is in the interest of public integrity, honest government, and prosperous industry, and it knows no personal allegiance in treating public men.
The Citizen publishes the dispatches of the Associated Press, which covers the whole world in its scope. It has other facilities for the advancement of journalism, gathering news from all quarters, with every thing carefully added to keep up the smallest circulation. Copies of any edition will be sent free to any one sending their address.
Terms—Daily, 25 cents per copy; 50 cents for one week; 1.00 for one month; 3.00 for three months; 5.00 for six months; 10.00 for one year. Carriage will be delivered free to any part of the city to subscribers, and particulars will be placed at the Citizen's office.
Advertisements—Reasonable, and made known on application at this office. All transient advertisements must be paid in advance.
Reading notices ten cents per line. Obituary, marriage and society notices fifty cents each (not exceeding ten lines) or fifty cents per line.

SOCIAL RECREATIONS.
There is no picture in the pages of social and religious life more doleful, more painful, and more instructive than that presented by the Puritanism which, at times, has dominated society in all its phases, in government, in religion, in morals and in literature, in some respects with lasting beneficial influence, but in all cases, except the first, blighting and destroying more than it was able to recreate. For in his relation to religion and morals, the Puritan assumed that he was serving a hard, relentless Master, who had no tolerance for the infirmities or the tendencies of the human heart; in whose eyes cheerfulness was profanation, and who was only served and propitiated with groans and mortification. It was hard construction of Divine attributes, but one not unnatural under the conditions which originated it.
Indiscriminate censure must not be visited upon Puritanism; it was the earnest protest against the views of the age, and an effort to bring man back to the decent observation of Christian duty. The error was the attempt to do so by intolerant moral forces; and when they obtained accendency, to rivet them by the enactments of legal tyranny, agencies that inevitably produce resistance and violent reaction. It is the mistake of reformers to judge human nature from their own standpoints, to make no allowances for differences of temperament, and to conform all, if possible, to one precrustanted of measurement.

We think the Creator understood these things much better than these reformers do; that, in fact, He made man with direct reference to the enjoyment of the very many objects of pleasure He had spread for his enjoyment; and that He accepts as worship the use of these pleasures with as much satisfaction as the groans, the austerities, the sour vianges and the inwardly rebellious hearts that are subjected to unrelaxed rigidity of service, because He knows He has made man with cheerful temper, with disposition to drink in the delights that make the world a beautiful resting place, with rapturous sense of enjoyment of the music of the birds, the fragrance and brilliancy of the flowers, the varied, changeful pictures of the landscape. To close the eye and the ear to these is to close the very avenues he has opened to approach to His temple.
Yet asceticism, or false construction of Divine teachings or narrow views of human nature and human duties, would have man look out on the beauties of nature through a smoked glass, and muffle his ears to its sweet sounds, lest he fall into temptation. Now, this is in direct antagonism to the Divine purpose, because a suspension of all those faculties of will, reason and faith with which He has endowed man for his guidance.

And the same principles must control man in his relations to society. He has his imperative duties to perform, it to be discharged with earnestness, fidelity, and obligation to the laws of morality and religion. But man is a cheerful being, he is a social being, and he must have relaxation for the healthy operation of his mental, moral and bodily functions, all interdependent. He cannot safely be held up always under tight rein; he cannot always be held up to the rigidity of ascetic exaction.

In other words, he must have his recreations, his amusements, his hours of leisure and his hours of pleasure. It is the proper wisdom of those who hold to a high standard of pleasure to make its attainment sure, by guiding, not obstructing, these virtues; to encourage, not denounce, rational amusements such as are consistent with good morals and religion, both of which are safer and more healthful when left the liberties of a rational freedom. No more painful spectacle was ever presented to human view, none more humiliating, none more disastrous to moral and religious concerns, than the sudden break down of Puritanism at the accession of Charles II. The barriers, founded by insincerity in the cause of religion and morality, but built upon by hypocrisy, gave way under the unnatural accumulation imposed upon them.
Society, morals, religion, were flooded almost destroyed by the mass gathered through long years, and unable longer to be kept under enforced and unnatural restraint. We have had lately a stupendous instance of the penalties of violation of physical laws, and neglect of the principles which guide and control them. The analogy between the physical and moral laws is complete. Both are to be guided and directed in their proper channels.
Force and suppression are fatal in both.

Fifty christianized Chinese called on the President the other day, and all went well until they opened upon him with a concert of songs, tom-toms and other instruments of Chinese musical torture.
The President had stood with fortitude the assaults of numberless political delegations, but his nerves gave way under this assault. The President's dog set up a desponding howl, and if the President and others did not, the music was incon-tinently stopped, to the chagrin and surprise of the performers.

Gideon L. Pease, of East Wilton, Me., who was a sergeant in the Black Hawk war, is thought to be the only living United States soldier of that war.

EDITORIAL POINTS.
Mr. Harrison finds the heat too much for him in Washington and has gone to Cape May to cool off.
A new Boston idea is the formation of classes for the political education of women. A club of ladies take up text books on political history and economy, study them carefully, and discuss the topics at their meetings.
The losses occasioned by the Pennsylvania floods are estimated at anywhere between sixty millions and seventy-five millions. The rainfall was on the water shed which divides the Gulf and the Atlantic systems, and both shared equally in the ravage in loss of property, though not of life.

Dr. Jasper, the famous negro preacher, prophet and astronomer, of Virginia, boasts a knowledge not given to most men, because he has a way not possessed by all. He says: "I am near to God, and it is through inspiration these things are known to me." There are many that desire to stand on these blessed relations here; there are very few who, even humbly, believe they do so.

Charleston hit upon the happy idea of retaining kindness "in kind." In grateful memory of the kindness extended to her in her earthquake and cyclone afflictions, she made quick response to the appeal of Johnstown. In doing so she contributed liberally in money, and also, with rare good judgment, sent eight carloads of clothing and provisions—articles more immediately available than money.

There is one man in Boston who holds out that a great charge of electricity is not always sure to kill, because a force of fifteen hundred volts passed through him, and he lives to tell the tale. But he is the only one ever surviving such experience, and it is safe to conclude that the legal mode of killing by electricity is as sure as hanging, and much less revolting.

We learn from the Messenger that the seaside resorts near Wilmington are all as pleasantly accessible as they were last summer, and we suppose in better condition to minister to the comfort and pleasure of their guests, houses then unfinished being now complete. It is a proud reflection that North Carolina has resorts so elegantly situated, so pleasantly provided, and so admirably provided.

The thunder storm in and around New York City on the evening of the 11th, was one to be remembered. Several persons were killed or injured by the lightning, others were killed by the falling of houses and several buildings were burned.
Among these was St. James' Roman Catholic Cathedral in Brooklyn, a factory in Newark burned down, and St. Aloysius' church in the same city struck by lightning.

In his interview with the anti-Mahone delegation from Virginia, the President did the only thing it was possible for him to do in the embarrassment of his position, called upon to decide between two angry warring factions. He said he would decide between neither, and intimated that they must fight it out among themselves. The anti evidently have their bristles up, and will have no more of Mahone in their.

DON'T
Be humbugged. Talk is cheap but "the proof of the pudding is the chewing of the string." Bostic Bros. & Wright's is the place to buy and thousands of well pleased customers will tell you the same if you will only take the trouble to ask them. They have the goods and they sell them at bottom prices. They have received this week their second stock of Dress Goods, Notions, Hats and Shoes for the Spring and Summer trade. Some of them bought under "mud-sill" prices and are now going like hot cakes. They have this week made a reduction of 25 per cent. in many goods and are now offering unheard of bargains in special lines.
Their store is filled with customers every day and none go away without being waited on, for their salesmen are polite and attentive to the trade and are always ready to give you the worth of 100 cents for every dollar you leave with them. Go and see their new goods and you will be surprised at the low price and beauty of the same.

The man that said "Money is King" will have to learn that Pluck and Politeness will go farther in a day than money will go in a lifetime, and if you don't think so, go to No. 11 Public Square and you will see that we are taking Cleveland's advice and are "telling the truth" when we say Bostic Bros. & Wright are selling Oil Calicoes at 5c., Gingham at 7c., and Satines at 8c., Outing Cloths at 12c., Crazy Cloth at 15c., and the pretti-

7c., bought at Headquarters for cash, and they invite your careful inspection of the same.

A CARD.
Having sold my Jewelry business to Mr. Arthur M.
Field, I desire to say to my friends and patrons that it has been my care that all the best features be retained that have made my business so successful, and I am sure Mr.
Field will meet all wants and demands, as I have tried to do.

MISCELLANEOUS.
SMALL STOCK.
The smallest stock of goods that has ever been seen in Asheville has just been received at W. H. LEA'S, 17 North Main street, and so pretty and cheap, too. It will make the hair rise on your head when you see those pretty Dress Goods, such as Satens, Gingham, Challies, Lawns, and Dress Goods of all kinds. And oh, my! just see those pretty Beaded Wraps. They are perfectly exquisite. And you must see our pretty Black Hose in Lisle thread, and some of the best Corsets you ever saw, such as Warner's Abdominal, Good Luck, Sunrise, Coraline, Four-in-Hand, Health, and many other kinds too numerous to mention Ladies' Lawn Tennis Shoes and Caps to match.
The best Glorinah Silk Gold Head Umbrella at $1.25, $1.50 and $1.90 offered in this city.

All I want is for you to come and see them and judge for yourself, and if you don't say that they are pretty and cheap I won't ask you to buy a cent's worth.
Yours very truly,
W. H. LEA,
SPOT CASH STORE,
17 N. Main St.

OUR MR. REDWOOD IS NOW sending us a number of bargains, the result of a somewhat quiet spring season in New York, with the June stock taking near at hand.
Where the quantities of some lots would be too large for either the Richmond house or ourselves, together we can use them easily and avail ourselves of the closing prices.
Special to-day: Lawns, Muslins, Checks and Challies.
