BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

Private Board.

For first-class boad, at reasonable terms, apply to Mrs. F. B. Breese, corner College and Spruce streets.

White Ghost has signed and the Sioux treaty now stands more than a ghost of a show.

Terrible Forewarnings.

Cough, in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the first stages of consumption. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee.

Persons advanced in years feel younger and stronger, as well as freer from the infirmities of age, by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla. For sale by F. L. Jacobs.

Gossip reminds us of a high building. Only one story out of a dozen rests on a foundation.

Ladies will find it to their interest to buy fine goods below cost at Whitlock's.

Scissors grinders do not complain of dull times.

Nasal Catarrh

Is a dangerous disease. From its tendency to extend to the throat, bronchial tubes, and finally to involve the lungs in consumptive diseases, it should be promptly cured, that these grave dangers may be averted. So confident are the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy of their ability to cope successfully with this very prevalent disease, that they have for years offered, in good faith, $500 reward for a case of catarrh, no matter how bad or of how many years standing, which they cannot cure. Remedy only 50 cents, by druggists.

Robert Browning's verse always was queer, and now he gives us Fitz in his poetry.

All goods must be sold to make room for clothing. Corsets, underwear, buttons, zephyrs, hosiery, handkerchiefs and gloves will be sold, regardless of cost, at Whitlock's.

The confectioner is the fellow who can be relied upon for candied criticism.

Give the Children a Chance.

There is something radically wrong with the health of a child when it seems listless, has poor or no appetite, eyes sunken and with dark skin beneath. In most cases showing these symptoms the child has worms, and all that it needs is some simple remedy, such as Hart's Worm Cream, to expel the worms, and the child will soon be in perfect health again. Parents, try it and let your little ones have a fair chance for life.

Just now the pugilists who took part in the late prize-fight are giving blow for blow.

No liniment is in better repute or more widely known than Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment. It is a wonderful remedy. For sale by F. L. Jacobs.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. ### Eupepsy.

This is what you ought to have, in fact, you must have it, to fully enjoy life. Thousands are searching for it daily, and mourning because they find it not. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by our people in the hope that they may attain this boon. And yet it may be had by all. We guarantee that Electric Bitters, if used according to directions and the use persisted in, will bring you Good Digestion and oust the demon Dyspepsia and install instead Eupepsy. We recommend Electric Bitters for Dyspepsia and all diseases of Liver, Stomach and Kidneys. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at F. L. Jacobs' drug store.

The man with badly formed limbs should learn the art of padding before he attemps to wear knickerbockers. Otherwise the girls will not leave him a leg to stand upon.

"The letter board of life goes up,
The letter board of life goes down."

Up and down, up and down—one day a millionaire, next day "dead broke"—one day buoyant in spirits, next day gloomy as a frog—one day in seeming perfect health, next day "laid out" with a bilious attack or your stomach "on a strike." This is the way the world wags nowadays. If you are bilious, melancholic, dizzy headed, dyspeptic, want appetite or have torpid action of liver, kidneys or bowels, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless; one a dose.

A ship goes down when it strikes the rocks; a business concern when it doesn't.

A Bohemian Hashery.

"What is a Bohemian restaurant?"

The question was asked in my presence by a fair young girl whose knowledge of restaurants was confined to Delmonico's and the Savarin, with, perhaps, an occasional dinner at the Brunswick. Her companion proceeded to explain. He was a clever writer on a morning paper, and had been doing newspaper work for a number of years. He had experienced the usual ups and downs of such a life, and although he is now making a handsome income, he clings to his bohemian habits, and haunts certain restaurants where he is sure of finding some congenial friend with whom he can enjoy his dinner and bottle of wine. Somewhat amused at this artless question from a woman not many years younger than himself, he proceeded to explain that such a restaurant would probably not be found on Fifth avenue, and his favorite haunts were not even on Broadway. When she had fully digested this he further remarked that he had never met any of the so-called "Four Hundred" at any of these places. She was curious to know in what street such delectable resorts were located, and what class of people frequented them. He must have drawn an attractive picture, for she expressed a desire to penetrate into one of them—a desire so eager that he was compelled to promise that it should be gratified.

And so, a few nights later, the bohemian habitues of a certain little basement restaurant, in an unfashionable street downtown, were startled by the appearance of a group of ten gay men and women, who occupied the largest table and had the jolliest time of any group assembled there. The men wore evening dress, and the girls and their chaperone wore gay dresses and new spring bonnets. Of course, a little something extra was ordered for the dinner by the enterprising newspaper man, and it was voted an exceedingly good dinner.—New York Star.

Chinese Horrors.

The Peking Gazette gives a horrible story from the official report of the governor of Yunnan of the burning to death of a farmer of that province for stealing an ear of corn. It seems that during the Yunnan rebellion a law was passed making thefts of corn fruits in the field an offense punishable by burning to death. The victim's relatives were required to sign a document declaring they agreed to the penalty, and were forced to light the fire to bar them from bringing a damage suit. This horrible practice the authorities have tried to extirpate, but vainly. A few months ago in harvest time, a farmer named Peng Chao Sheng, while going to watch his field, plucked an ear of corn from a neighbor's field. He was seen and being shouted at dropped the corn. The matter was referred to the owner of the field, and he, with his tenant, seized Peng and demanded the death penalty. Peng's taother offered to make restitution by forfeiting all her property, but this was refused. She was forced to give her written consent under threats of death, and was actually made to light the heap of brush wood and witness the terrible dying agonies of her son. As soon as she could escape she reported the crime to the authorities. The two men were arrested and tried. The landlord was punished by the lingering process—that is, his flesh was hacked with knives until he slowly expired in awful torment, the farmer, who lost the ear of corn, being beheaded. There is no question of these facts, as the report is official.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Sagacity of Oxen.

Oxen do not in an ordinary way give one the impression of possessing any great degree of intelligence, but my correspondent, "Ex-Colonist," tells me that in one respect, at least, the trek oxen, so largely employed at the Cape as a substitute for horses, have the inestimable advantage over the latter of not requiring to be hobbled when turned loose at night for grazing; and that if, as is sometimes the case, they stray away from camp to the distance of a mile or more, their drivers can easily recall them the next morning when it is time to get under way, by the simple expedient of a few good sounding cracks of their enormous stock whips. "Having regard," my correspondent adds, "to the trouble I have before now experienced in capturing a thoroughly wideawake pony who is allowed to be out at grass during the summer, and is only taken up when he is wanted to do a short journey to the station or elsewhere, I have often earnestly desired that his intelligence was equal to that of a trek ox." My correspondent seems to ignore the fact that the pony is probably by far the cutest of the two. He thinks it out, I take it; the trek ox's intelligence does not soar so high.—London Sporting News.

Monkeys and Snakes.

It is a curious fact that monkeys, who have an intense instinctive dread of snakes, would seem from experiments in zoological gardens to be strangely attracted to them. An American observer, A. E. Brown, coiled a dead snake in a newspaper, so as to be easily capable of coming loose, and set it on the floor of a cage containing a great variety of monkeys. It was instantly carried off by a leading spirit, but in a few seconds the paper became unfolded and the snake was exposed. The monkey instantly dropped it and went away, but with a constant look behind. The other monkeys, perceiving the snake, approached step by step and formed a circle around it six or eight feet in diameter. None approached it except one Macaque, who cautiously made some snatches at the paper. At this moment a string which had been attached to the snake's tail was gently pulled; the monkeys fled precipitately, with great chattering and screaming. Some time after they gradually returned to their former position, and they continued this procedure for some hours, showing both intolerable fear and a strange attraction.—Murray's Magazine.
