

THE DAILY CITIZEN.

The CITIZEN is the most extensively circulated and widely read newspaper in Western North Carolina.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1889.

VICE IN HIGH PLACES.

We know nothing of the scandals that now agitate London society; we do not wish to know what they are; but they appear to be of a nature so gross as to have furnished a new sensation even to those living in the very swirl of moral depravity.

The depravity in the higher circles of society is no new fall in human nature; it is as old as the hills, and it is not confined to any people, nation, or era.

We in no position are in no position to cast stones at our British brethren. Wealth and luxury have flowed up in portions of our country with a rapidly overwhelming volume that in its moral influences is naturally threatening.

Whether luxury of both the fires at Lynn and Boston is the real cause, almost in difference, with which the great sufferers seem to bear their losses.

When New England resolved to discontinue slavery within her borders, or rather, when the laws forced her to do so, she cleaned her skirts of the foul imputation of holding human beings in bondage.

Produced from the laxative and nutritious juice of California figs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constipation.

of those to whom custom and hereditary right have serenely consigned all the care and control of public affairs.

We regret to learn that public sentiment in Eastern North Carolina does not appear to sustain the legislation to foster and protect the oyster industries of our oyster section.

Another one of those reputed instances of immediate divine punishment for blasphemy is related as having occurred in Cottestown, Pa. A man named John Chima, died recently after long prostration from paralysis which it is asserted struck him down in the midst of strong physical vigor while terribly cursing his Creator.

The Chicago Tribune, one of the most libelous of Southern newspapers, in its issue of the 27th inst., containing the Southern Review, publishes a scathing article on the subject of the "vice in high places."

THE RACKET COLUMN.

We haven't changed our "ad." in THE CITIZEN for some days; not because we had nothing to say, but just because we haven't had the time.

Our store has been full of people every day, our trade has never been so large, and we are glad to be able to say that notwithstanding the influx of new stores, and the large stocks of goods, the "Big Racket Store" retains all its old friends and adds new ones daily.

The reason is plain and easy of understanding. We warrant everything we sell to be as represented, or we give you back your money.

We underbuy anybody in Asheville, and can easily undersell anyone. We sell more shoes than the Shoe Store because we sell them cheaper, and we sell as good shoes as any store in the city.

We sell clothing cheaper than a Clothing Store, and more of it. Tinware at half prices, glassware and household things so much cheaper than others that people wonder how we get them.

That doesn't matter; we have them, and they are yours with a good title when you bring the cash. Ribbons, Tips, Birds and Wings, we have always sold at less than half of Millinery Store prices, and carry three times as large stocks.

While our line of Dress Goods is not as large as some, what we have has been bought at such prices that we can easily sell them lower than others, and still make some money on them.

Hats, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Stockings (just black and cheaper grades), Quilts, Blankets, Showers, Mats, Rugs, Trunks, Valises, Hand Bags, Hoods, Caps, Furs, Curtains, Poles, Shades, are among our leaders.

No well posted citizen of Asheville buys any of these things without pricing ours, and we would have the country people and those who live in near-by towns enjoy the same privilege.

We sold more Christmas goods, presents, etc., last Christmas than any other store in Asheville, and shall be fixed for a large trade this year.

We shall have a big line for you to select from, and shall be able to fit goods to any pocket book from a nickel to as high as you want to go.

Don't buy ANYTHING until you have been to the "Big Racket Store." No trouble to show goods, and we don't get mad if you don't buy.

We want you to see what a complete "Department Bargain Store" the "Big Racket" is. Our variety of goods and the size of our stock would do credit to a city of 25,000 inhabitants.

Come and see us, and if prices and goods don't suit you, don't buy—but be sure to come.

Very respectfully, GEO. T. JONES & CO.
