THE WAR IN THE HOUSE IS WILL ON.

Scene From Yesterday's Congressional Battle—The Oulocast of the House Makes Another Exhibition.

WASHINGTON, January 31.—HOUSE.—That the public at large understood that the war in the house was not ended by yesterday's republican victory was made manifest by a glance at the galleries this morning. Half an hour before noon every nook and cranny was filled with spectators; and the corridors outside the gallery doors were crowded with expectant throngs, patiently awaiting an opportunity to be admitted.

Spectators began to arrive at the capitol as early as 8 o'clock this morning. On the floor there was an air of subdued excitement, especially on the democratic side, where Mr. Carlisle was surrounded by a number of leading members of his party, consulting as to the course to be pursued.

In his prayer, the chaplain said: "Grant us, O Lord, that we fall not into any sin, neither into any kind of danger, but that all our doing, being ordered by thy government, may be righteous in thy sight."

The clerk proceeded in the usual manner to read an abridged journal, omitting the detailed vote.

M. Bland, of Missouri, demanded the reading of the journal in full, and this was ordered by the speaker.

The clerk was ordered to read from the records the detailed votes of yesterday, when Mr. Outwater, of Ohio, objected and demanded that the reading should be from the original document. The speaker said that the clerk was reading from the record as a matter of convenience; but if a member objected, he might have his way, and he instructed the clerk accordingly.

The reading of the journal was not completed until 12:50, and immediately Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, moved that the journal be approved, and on that motion the clerk read the report of the committee. Mr. Springer introduced a motion to adjourn, saying that he did so, to enable the committee on rules to bring in the code of rules.

The speaker—The gentleman is not in order, in speaking on the motion to adjourn.

Mr. Springer—There are no rules for the house.

The speaker—There are rules for the house.

Mr. Springer—Where are they?

The speaker—The rules that govern parliamentary assemblies, and those rules distinctly declare that no member of the journal is not debatable, of which the gentleman is perfectly aware.

The motion to adjourn was lost by a vote of yeas, 135; nays, 162. The question recurring on the demand for the previous question, the yeas and nays were ordered, and the yeas were 135 and the nays 162.

The democrats again pursued their policy of not voting; and the speaker once more pursued his method of jotting down the names of members present and not voting.

The vote having been taken, the speaker directed the clerk to read the names of the members present, but not voting.

Mr. Bland immediately arose and demanded that the vote be announced before the names were read; but the speaker calmly ignored him, and proceeded to call the names, without hesitation, in which he declared that the speaker might drop his appeal, but that it was on account of the tyranny that this house was getting sick and tired of.

The speaker paying no attention to Mr. Bland's indignation, the clerk entered the names of the following members on the journal as present and not voting: Messrs. Barnes, Bland, Breckenridge, of Arkansas; McCrae, McCrea, McMillen, Oates, O'Farrell, Outwater, Price, Suyter, Stewart of Georgia, Stone, Keeney, Tillman and Turner of Georgia.

He then declared the demand for the previous question carried; yeas, 160; nays, none. Amid the loud protest of the democrats, the speaker calmly said, "The previous question is ordered, and the question is on the approval of the journal."

Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, moved to adjourn; but the speaker declined to recognize him, and again put the motion on the approval of the journal.

Mr. Bland demanded the yeas and nays, which were ordered, and pending this the speaker directed the clerk to read the names of the following members on the journal as present and not voting: Mr. Springer, who called forth the declaration from Mr. Springer that this was a tyrannical, simple, unadorned; and the further declaration from Mr. Bland, that it was an outrage and that the house could not be in a more demoralized condition than the speaker charged it was in, and that the house caused by a vigorous protest from Mr. Bynum, in which he vigorously attacked the speaker, calling for cheer after cheer from the democrats.

The speaker refused to entertain Mr. Springer's motion to adjourn, and stated that he would not entertain any ordinary parliamentary motions if they were used with a view to obstructing business.

Mr. Springer appealed from the decision and demanded to be heard; but Mr. McKinley was recognized to move to table the appeal. Mr. Springer protested wildly, and was recognized by the entire democratic side. A tremendous uproar ensued.

Mr. Perkins, of Kansas, taunted the democrats with disgraceful conduct, and a number of democrats responded in kind.

The speaker directed the roll to be called and the clerk proceeded to do so. Mr. Springer, meanwhile, denouncing the speaker's action and continuing to shout out his remonstrance and defiance as the roll called proceeded. Before the clerk had gotten through the list, however, Mr. Bland's voice was exhausted into his seat amid the jeers of the republicans.

All is now proceeding in at least partial order, while the democrats are consulting earnestly in groups.

The democrats again refrained from voting, but the speaker sat coolly glancing over the democratic side, now and then checking off a member whose name was called, and who refused to respond. The vote resulted, yeas, 162; nays, none. The appeal was tabled and the speaker's decision was sustained.

Again the speaker refused to recognize Mr. Springer to put a motion to adjourn and Mr. Dabell was recognized to call up the election case. Mr. Crisp endeavored to raise a question of consideration,

THE SIOUX RESERVATION.

Preparations for Another Wild Rush of Boomers.

PORT PIERRE, S. D., January 31.—Port Pierre is somewhat excited waiting the proclamation opening the reservation. Large companies of boomers have organized across the river, preparatory to making a grand rush when the time comes. Preparations have been made for the immediate organization of several parties, even going so far as to determine on their officers; and owing to the fact, that there are several organizations, some counties will be favored with two sets of officers. Every conceivable scheme is being resorted to by the Pierre boomers to capture the town site Fort Pierre, and an attempt on their part to have squatters' rights on the "mile square" have proved futile. Most of the reservation boomers are parties who have been at Pierre for some time, and are principally township boomers and county officer-seekers. Since the date of opening the reservation will probably be set about next week, it is expected that there will be a boom here.

The officers in charge of the company of soldiers here have received orders not to molest the squatters on the "mile square," but to prevent any further settlement thereon, except on the basis of the following is a copy of the orders published:

To whom it may concern: The instructions of the war department in regard to the intrusion on the Sioux reservation have been duly received, and are as follows: "The word 'instructor' used in said instructions refers in particular to persons who enter upon the Indian reservation for the purpose of occupying grounds or making claims to the same. The mere fact of entry within the reservation does not constitute an intrusion, or a violation of the laws, unless the same is by the military force. In cases of persons going to Cheyenne agency on proper business, etc., no interference will be made; but the military authorities will keep themselves informed as to persons who may enter the reservation; and so that a person may successfully be interdicted with squatters, may be kept off. The 'mile square,' so-called, is in the Indian reservation, and awaits the final determination under the recent act of congress and report of the commission here on the 'mile square' or of Fort Pierre have been the same time, and were there prior to August last, when orders were issued to keep intruders off, and have been tolerated by the interior department. Such persons will not be disturbed on orders received from the military force, or by other white intruders on a part of such ground will not be permitted."

NORTH CAROLINA NOTES.

Franklin Press: The body of the colored boy mail carrier that was reported missing about six weeks ago on the route between Cleveland and Ducktown, Tenn., has been found lodged on a rock in the Okeechiee river. The horse and buggy were found soon after the accident.

Charlotte News: Col. L. L. Polk, who recently moved to Washington City, is reported to be very ill. A telegram from Washington yesterday says: "Col. L. L. Polk, president of the National Farmers' and Laborers' Union, is here and is very sick. He is receiving careful medical attention. Some of his friends speak of the possibility of his going to the States for some weeks prior to this attack."

Lexington Dispatch: The growing importance of Lexington is illustrated by the fact that the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company has decided to sell coupon tickets at the railroad station here. A letter from Mr. W. A. Turk, division transportation agent, to Mr. J. W. Boring, states that a coupon office will be opened at Lexington, and that three hundred or three hundred and fifty coupons will be placed on sale, covering all important points north and south.

Tuckasegee Democrat: The floor in our corner of the Kaolin factory gave way Monday, under the weight of a very large quantity of dried kaolin, notwithstanding the fact that the sleepers, supporting the floor on which the clay was piled, were 12 inches wide, three inches thick, and placed at most three hundred inches apart. Such an accident was altogether unexpected and necessitates the stopping of the machinery till repairs can be made. Mr. Jarrett estimates the loss at one hundred dollars.

Morganton Herald: On the "Quaker Meadows" farm on the Catawba river near Morganton are two small lakes which have been in existence from time immemorial. They are situated in what is called "second bottom" about one-half mile from the river, and apparently have no outlet and no streams flow into them, yet the water, we are told, is always of the same depth. They are elevated considerably above the level of the river and are plentifully stocked with fish. One of them is a shallow while the other is about seventy feet deep.

Wilmington Messenger: Asheville will soon be highly favored by one of the most accomplished and scholarly of living North Carolinians, President Henry E. Shepherd, of the College of Charleston, S. C., will deliver a course of three lectures before a class in English literature, beginning on the 6th of February. No one in all South and West Carolina is better qualified to instruct and entertain in such discussions, for no man among us has cultivated the rich and responsive field of English literature with more of critical insight and sound taste than this able scholar and thinker.

Hendersonville Times: A street car line for Hendersonville is a foregone conclusion. We are informed that the preparations are now being made, and that work will commence in a short time. A new railroad, waterworks, street-cars, and then a large hotel. Herald of Hendersonville: The following is the vote by townships for and against the proposition to subscribe $50,000 to the French Broad Valley Railroad:

	For.	Against.
Hendersonville,	419	29
Mills River,	128	54
Crab Creek,	11	50
Bowman's Bluff,	35	25
Green River,	1	150
Edneyville,	301	1
Clear Creek,	69	6
Hooper's Creek,	7	83
Blue Ridge,	115	60

A Long Unique Procession.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., January 31.—The first west bound train released from the blockade since the 24th inst., arrived yesterday at 1:35 a. m. It consisted of six cars exclusively of mail. The seven other delayed trains are following in procession at half an hour intervals.

A FEW NEWS ITEMS.

Count Andrassy, the Austrian Premier, is ill, and his situation is pronounced critical.

There were seventy suicides in Berlin during December, among whom were several children.

The steamship Lake Superior, on her voyage from Halifax, N. S. to Liverpool, had 335 head of cattle washed overboard.

A municipal campaign is now in progress in Salt Lake City, and is a very exciting one. The Gentiles expect to carry the election by 2,000 majority.

A railroad to connect Loando, the chief port of Portuguese Angola, on the west coast of Africa, with its interior Africa, has now sixty-two miles running order.

The British bark Norman, at Queens- town, passed a number of head of cattle and a quantity of wreckage supposed to have belonged to the missing steamship Erin.

Some Americans in Mesopotamia have unearthed the Niffer tablet and found a bell—the oldest in the world probably—tablets and inscriptions bearing dates of 3,750 years B. C.

During a trial in Chicago the other day while a witness was showing how a pistol, with which a murder had been attempted, had been handled by the assassin, a sudden gust of wind blew the pistol down close to the head of the judge and that of State Attorney Neely.

The energetic Portuguese explorer, Serpa Pinto, whose daring advancement of his country's flag into the British possessions in East Africa originated the trouble between Portugal and England, is said to be coming to America for the benefit of his health.

An eagle was caught near Holman, Ind., which is said to be the largest ever caught in the United States. It measured 7 feet 4 inches from tip to tip, and weighed 104 pounds. The stretch of its wings was 78 inches, and the claws were 1 1/2 inches long.

Mary Donahue, aged 35, is still living in Philadelphia, though she broke her neck last August by a fall from a tree while gathering cherries. To reset the fracture was impossible, but her head is kept erect by ingenious appliances. The woman retains general good health.

A man in Easton, Pa., was so tormented by a guilty conscience for embezzlement of $50 from his employer, that after months of mental torture he surrendered himself at police headquarters. His conscience works on the small things, but does not trouble the big ones.

Lawyer Max E. Eller, of Brooklyn, was arrested charged with swindling a merchant of $9,000 by means of forged mortgages. When arrested he tried to kill himself with a revolver, which was wrested from him after a hard struggle. He confessed his guilt.

Ascheme for the establishment of large works for the manufacture of cars in Atlanta, Ga., is taking form. A company is being formed with a capital of $250,000, with the power of increasing it to $1,000,000. A considerable amount has already been subscribed, and leading home capitalists are taking hold of the enterprise.

A man in New York undertook to enter a car on an elevated railroad after the train had started. He grasped the rear of the train and ran along till he came to the end of the platform and fell to the street below. Fortunately his fall was broken by some obstacle, and though he fell on his head, was not killed though badly cut and hurt.

The snow blockade in California has had a disastrous effect on trade. The banks cannot receive their usual checks from the East, and are embarrassed to meet calls from China and Europe. The Southern Pacific by stoppage of operations, lost $75,000 in the month of January, with the power of increasing it to $1,000,000. It will take the next few months earnings to repair the damages of washouts and landslides.

The Indians on the Colombia coast, occupying the San Blas reservation, have raised the American flag, and driven away a force of soldiers who were sent there to break up trade with the Americans. It was the carrying on this trade that led to the seizure by the Colombian gun-boat La Popa, of several American fish schooners. The tribune means about 30,000, and command a coast line of 140 miles.

A tragedy very like the Southworth-Pettus incident occurred in Troy, N. Y., on the 29th, when Mrs. Minnie Warnecke, of Chicago, shot Edwin Firth, of Troy, on Broadway, with a revolver, the ball entering his head and making a wound which must prove fatal. It is the sad story of man's wickedness and woman's weakness. Mrs. Warnecke was induced by Firth to abandon her husband and children, and put herself under his protection in Troy. Then came desertion, despair and revenge. The woman was as cool after the shooting as Mrs. Southworth was, admitted very candidly her act and quietly surrendered herself.

J. S. GRANT, Ph. G.,
Of Philadelphia College of Pharmacy,
Apothecary, 24 South Main St.

The Old Year has drawn to a close, and with the beginning of the New Year we wish to thank the public for their patronage and recognition of our efforts to do our full duty. We are fully conscious that it is to them that we owe the unexpected success of the past year, in which our business has been more than doubled, and we can only regard it as a new evidence that our business maxims are such as to cause our customers to have confidence in us and attract those who are cautious in dealing with any Pharmacist until they have become fully assured of the nature and extent of his business principles. In our dealing with the public we realize that the most scrupulous care and honesty are paramount in importance. If these are virtues in all ordinary business transactions, they become sacred duties in Pharmacy, and without them no one can be a true Pharmacist. The health, maybe the life, of those dealing with the Apothecary depends upon them. We consider it our most sacred duty to shun adulterations and spurious as well as inferior drugs. They constitute an evil from which Pharmacy suffers no less than the public. The evil is not a new one, inaugurated in late years; it has existed as long as there were men whose cupidity was stronger than their sense of justice, and it will doubtless continue as long as there may be men with conceptions of business so vague that they expect to purchase gold for the money value of dross. There are no other moral principles required for transacting a Pharmaceutical business than are necessary for any other business. Unwavering integrity that remains unshaken by the visions of gold along the road of questionable or deceitful practices is the only foundation for success that is worthy the name; it is so in every pursuit, and more particularly in Pharmacy, where as a matter of necessity it must be combined with constant vigilance in all directions, so as to secure all possible safeguards.

These are the principles which we have endeavored to live up to, and to which we trust our increasing success is due. We hope our former patrons will show the same kindness toward us in the future that they have in the past, knowing that no action of ours will ever make them regret a continuance of their favors. Yours truly,
