THE NEW CODE OF RULES BEFORE THE HOUSE.

Mr. Springer Wins a Victory for the Democrats—The Rules to be Discussed Until Friday—Some of the Views—The Senate.
WASHINGTON, February 11.—SENATE.—Among the bills introduced for reference was one by Mr. Pierce, to create an agricultural commission to investigate the present condition of the agricultural interests of the country.
Mr. Hoar introduced a bill to prescribe in part the manner of the election of members of congress, and it was referred to the committee on privileges and elections.
It provides that in all the States of the Union representatives to congress shall be elected in and for the districts now prescribed by law, until the apportionment of representatives shall be made by congress, according to the census to be taken in 1890, any law of such States he entered for the next congressional term, notwithstanding. Mr. Hoar stated that the fear had been expressed in various quarters that there would be an attempt to make new representative districts (to take effect at the next election) and to gerrymander some States in the interest of one or the other party before the next apportionment be previously made shall take place in existing districts.
The bill appropriating $100,000 for a public building at Burlington, Ia., was passed.
The senate at 1 o'clock resumed consideration of the bill to provide a temporary government for the territory of Oklahoma, the pending question being an amendment, offered yesterday by Mr. Plumb, to comprise No Man's Land within the limits of the proposed territory.
The bill was discussed until 2 o'clock and then went over till to-morrow with out action on the amendment as to No Man's Land.
The senate then took up the educational bill and Mr. Blair continued his opening speech in support of that measure, and read from an article in the New York Mail and Express, to justify his assertion as to the failure of the Northern States to provide sufficient school facilities, and reiterated sincerely to the N. Y. Evening Post as maintaining a bureau of mendacity to spread abroad misrepresentations in regard to the bill.
Mr. Frye again questioned Mr. Blair as to whether the State of Texas with a surplus of over $3,000,000 and 6,000,000 acres of public lands, making a grand total of $63,000,000, that could be used for educational purposes required any help from the government to educate their children?
Mr. Blair declared his disbelief in Mr. Frye's statement, and said that it did not represent anything like the actual condition of Texas. He did not know what the State of Texas might best do, but he did know that not more than one half of the children of Texas attended school at all. Without concluding his opening speech, Mr. Blair yielded to a motion to proceed to executive business, and after a session for that purpose the senate at 5:10 adjourned.

HOUSE.—Upon the journal of yesterday's proceedings, containing the yeas and nays vote, upon which the speaker counted a quorum, the democrats would not by their usual acquiescence, and a roll call was rendered necessary. It was approved by a vote of yeas, 150; nays, 1 (Mr. Buckalew), the speaker counting a quorum.
Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, called up for consideration the proposed code of rules and he offered a resolution providing that the general debate shall close at one o'clock to-morrow, and that after the debate, under the five minute rule, the previous question shall be considered as ordered at 4 o'clock to-morrow.
Mr. Springer immediately claimed the floor, but Mr. Cannon insisted that he yield it. He proposed either to lose the previous question or at least get some indication at what time this year the gentlemen on the other side were willing to close the debate. He demanded the yeas and nays for the previous question, but not a sufficient number of members arose to enforce this demand, and amid approval from the democratic side the speaker so announced.
Mr. Cannon then yielded the floor, recognizing, as he said, that his colleague, Mr. Springer, was in charge of the resolution. (Laughter.)
The democrats were jubilant over their victory, and as Mr. Springer rose to make a motion he was greeted by many of his colleagues as being in charge of the proposed new code.
Mr. Springer then offered a resolution providing that the general debate shall proceed until 12 noon to-morrow, after which the code shall be considered under the five-minute rule until 5 o'clock Friday, when the previous question shall be considered as ordered.
This resolution was adopted without objection, and Mr. Cannon good naturedly crossed over to the democratic side and congratulated his colleague upon his success.
Mr. Grosvenor declared the rule permitting the speaker to count a quorum, and criticizing the action of the minority in breaking a quorum by refusing to vote. Every member of the house had been guilty of this action; he confessed that he himself had been guilty of joining in this method of preventing legislation on many occasions, and he was ready to stand here and say, as his colleague Mr. McKinley had said, that he had done it, and he would not be the action of the majority that he had not felt that he was guilty of an unjustifiable and almost unpardonable breach of duty to his constituents. In his opinion the rights of the minority were ended when that minority had expressed its opinion against a measure, had recorded its vote against it, and had protested to the country. He knew of no other God-given or constitution-given right of the minority. He contended that the proposed rules instead of vesting power in the speaker would prevent the one man power from ruling over the house as it had been the case in the Forty-Ninth and Fiftieth Congresses, when the speaker had de-

Seven Youths Drowned.
NEW ORLEANS, February 9.—A sad accident occurred this afternoon in Carrollton. Eight boys all residents of the upper city, secured two pinnaces and jumped into them and started out to take a ride on the river. Their course led them between two empty coal barges, lying at the head of Octavia street. The heavy strong current running at the time and despite their efforts the pinnaces were hurled by the current against the barges, causing both boats to upset and seven of the eight unfortunate youths were thrown into the river and were drowned. Their names were Frank Landry, aged 17; George Simpson, 16; Willie Winters, 16; Martin Perrie, 18; Louis G. Folds, 16; Alvie Falls, 15 and Eddie Knecht, 13. Weldon Boly, aged 7, was the only occupant of the boats who escaped. He saved himself by catching on to one of the overturned boats. None of the bodies have so far been recovered.

Investigating Duckworth.
AUGUSTA, Ga., February 11.—Two postoffice inspectors and one United States marshal are now at Sharon investigating the postoffice trouble there. It is asserted by the citizens in Sharon that the Duckworth case heretofore been a democrat, turned republican for the sake of office. In a card to the Chronicle, which will be published to-morrow, N. C. Edwards, Duckworth's friend, against whom the indignation of the citizens was also directed, states that Duckworth crossed over to the democratic side and congratulated his colleague upon his success.

Killed His Wife.
COLAS, S. C., February 11.—A special to the Daily Register says: A fearful tragedy was enacted in Newberry county Saturday afternoon. James B. Clary, a farmer, who lives five miles from here, seems to have determined to exterminate his whole family. He first undertook to kill his daughter, eighteen years old, by shooting her over a pistol, but was thwarted in the attempt by neighbors who were sent for to protect the family. While all were present in the room he managed to get a small axe and before any one could interfere he gave his wife three severe blows on the head which may prove fatal. She was unconscious yesterday, but is thought to be somewhat better now. Sheriff Went, as soon as he learned of the affair, went out Saturday night and brought Clary here and lodged him in jail yesterday morning. Clary has been drinking heavily for several years and possibly was crazed from drink.

MR. MOODY'S WOOD YARD.

A Most Useful Industry to the Citizens of Asheville.

We rode down yesterday afternoon with Mr. E. C. Moody to see the workings of a new enterprise he has recently inaugurated here, and which is now in prosperous operation. It is a wood yard, in which the wood is received, cut up by steam into suitable lengths, split into such sizes as may be desirable and then delivered to customers through the city. The yard, which covers an acre of ground, lies immediately on the railroad track, and the wood is brought from the country along the line of the road and unloaded directly into the yard. Here it is loaded as needed on little cars running on a little tramway, and leading to a little saw mill, where a 7-horse power engine runs a circular saw, which cuts the wood into suitable lengths. The pieces are then thrown out near by a "wood splitter" which is run by steam, and working a wedge moving vertically, and the wood being set on edge on a block is split into fuel or kindling wood with rapidity and completeness. There is something appalling in the remorseless stupidity of this splitter, which, less than any piece of machinery we ever saw, lacks the element of intelligence. It does the work required of it without asking a why or a wherefore. After being split, the wood is loaded on a dump and taken by the tramway where it is sorted into piles of fuel wood, green and dry kindling, and then awaits the demands of customers, to whom it is hauled by Mr. Moody's teams on orders. It is loaded on wagons whose capacity is exactly measured, so that consumers get exactly what they have paid for.

A great public convenience is subserved by this enterprise, which derives additional value from the certainty of its supplies, the excellency of the material, and the exact uniformity in size and measurement.

This is not the first woodyard established near the river. Seven years ago Mr. Pierce, a gentleman then recently from Maine, established one near where the cotton factory now is. He had his wood floated down the river for a distance of five miles and brought to the foot of a tramway, which ran from the river side to the railroad. He cut up his wood by a steam saw as Mr. Moody does. He employed as his rafters a gang of Penobscot Indians whom he brought out. The scheme failed after a few months of experiment. In connection with his scheme, Mr. Pierce had brought here on flat cars a flat bottomed steamboat, about thirty feet long, which he expected to make useful as an excursion boat. In this he was disappointed, and the boat was afterwards transported across the mountains and launched upon the waters of Broad river.

Dismissing Accident.
CORNING, Miss., February 11.—A distressing accident was reported yesterday from Yellow creek in Fishamingo county, near Burnsville, last Friday, during a heavy rain Jim Seals and his family, emigrants from Alabama, attempted to cross Yellow creek in a wagon. The stream was swollen out of its banks, and the wagon went down the current and capsized, drowning four children, aged from two to ten years. The team was also drowned and everything lost, the parents alone surviving. The children were buried Monday at a neighboring graveyard. The parents are left penniless and are almost prostrated with grief.

A FEW NEWS ITEMS.

It is said that the ice crop in New England, so far as the New York companies are concerned, is a good one.

Alice Roberts, a handsome young actress, was found dead in her room on Sixth avenue, New York, suffocated by gas.

On account of the very mild winter, very few visitors have gone to Bermuda this season, and the hotels have done little of their usual business.

The former palace of Marguerite of Navarre, in the vicinity of Paris, was burned on the 9th. It was occupied at the time by the Marquis of Osborne. The loss is placed at $400,000.

Keifer, the ex-speaker, supports the unruly rulings of Speaker Reed as might be expected. But as Keifer's own party set down on him and squelched him, his approval is rather condemnation of the man he sustains.

The Panama canal commission is trying to galvanize the scheme into vitality again. It seems to be as hopeless as an attempt to put life into the ten thousand of corpses that are already strewn along the line of the abandoned work.

The noted Alabama outlaw, Rube Burrows, has been positively located near Milton, Florida, where he has been working a farm hand. He became alarmed, and fled to the woods, and is now being pursued.

Another big steamer for the Hamburg-American company has recently been launched at Glasgow. She is called the Normania, and is 500 feet long, and of 8,500 tons burden. She will accommodate 1,300 persons.

The daughter of editor Rutherford, of Bolckow, Mo., eloped with actor Ed. Torrence. The girl was stage-struck and blind to facts or results. Torrence already has a wife. The indignant father is in hot chase, and threatens to shoot Torrence on sight.

The Planter's hotel, St. Louis, for a long time the finest in the west, built in 1836, was closed on the 9th by the sheriff. It was situated on Fourth street, for a long time the fashionable retail street of the city. The trade moved elsewhere, and the Planter's was left high and dry.

It seems that trouble is anticipated in Brazil when the September elections come off. The army, which now consists of 13,000 men, as it is increased to 23,000, recruited from the dregs of the people. A military despotism is looming up in the future.

A report comes from Birmingham, Ala., that some parties in Marion county tarred and feathered some Mormon elders, and then set fire to their rigging and burned them severely. The tarring and feathering would have been enough, but the application of the other remedy for Mormon iniquity was somewhat heroic.

In Savannah, Wayne county, N. Y., an old sea captain, a whaler, retiring on a small fortune, married at the age of 72, for the first time, a captivating widow, as she represented herself. After living two years together, the "widow's" first husband made his appearance; and the old man having in the mean time turned over all the title deeds to his property to his wife, was turned adrift.

A lad, only 17 years old, named Samuel VanDusen Abbott, and son of an English admiral, shot himself through the head on Saturday night at the house of his grandfather Samuel B. VanDusen, 61 West Thirty-second street, New York, and died soon after. The boy had been surrounded with every luxury, and perhaps had exhausted prematurely all the resources of pleasure.

The lease of the Grand hotel at Chicago, or rather the half of it, was sold on the 8th for $40,000. The hotel was built in 1872 at a cost of $800,000, and a rental was stipulated at eight per cent, upon half the value of half the ground and seven and a half per cent. on the other half, in addition to the rent of the building. Re-valuation makes the value of the ground alone $2,000,000, and the interest on that is more than the lessor can pay; so they get out of their bargain.

A duel, or rather street fight, took place on the night of the 8th at Pearl river station, fifty miles from New Orleans, between two brothers in law, Portevant and McElroy, growing out of family troubles, in which both were so seriously injured that they were taken to New Orleans for treatment. One of Portevant's arms had to be amputated, and McElroy has a desperate wound in the abdomen, besides another in the shoulder.
