For sixteen years I have carried on a Drug and Prescription business in Asheville, striving at all times to buy pure Drugs and sell no goods that are not strictly first-class in every respect. Everything warranted as represented or money refunded. My goods are pure and fresh and my prices as low as the lowest. Prescriptions filled at all hours, day and night, and delivered free of charge to any part of the city.
Mr. J. Taylor Amis is with me, and will be pleased to meet his friends and customers.

THE DOCTRINE OF ROTATION IN OFFICE.
Oliver T. Norton in May Atlantic.
It is the cry of folly, not the watchword of reform. It is an excuse, not a reason. It is the sign and symbol of a preparatory raid, the rallying banner of landless resolute enlistees to an enterprise that hath a stomach in it. Looked at in any way, rotation is a perpetual recurring menace to the stability of our government. It is the prop of a falling party and the instrument of fraud. It is a constant temptation to politicians to use public salaries as a fund with which to pay private debts, thus compelling the people to furnish the means for their own administration in a show of policy a trade of principle an interest. Rotation is not an "essential element to secure the perpetuity of free institutions."

THE DAILY CITIZEN.
FACTS AND COMMENTS.

IT GOES TO WASHINGTON.
THE CONTRACT FOR LIGHTING THE STREETS.
L. N. COX IS BY FAR THE LOWEST BIDDER FOR IT.

The Asheville Light and Power Company and Foster & McNeely Unsuccessful To Burn All Night.
Five thousand dollars for sixty lights per year is what the city is to pay for its street lighting for the next two years beginning with October 1 next. Heretofore forty-two lights have been used and they have cost something like $4,000. More than this they have been run on a moon schedule. That is they have not been turned on on nights when the moon shone. With the new system they are to run every night and all night.

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen last evening to open bids and award the contract for the lighting of the streets by electricity for the next two years did not begin until nearly ten o'clock. One of the members was absent and the Board waited his appearance. The first bid opened was that of the Asheville Light and Power company. It offered to furnish any number of 2,000 candle power lights, to be located at the discretion of the Board for $13.50 a month for each light for a period of two years. The Board were to be the judges of the efficiency of the service. The company also agreed to submit to any equitable reduction in case the contract was not complied with. The only stipulation was that in case the Board should decide to have more than fifty lights they should be given a reasonable time for the purchase of the necessary insulations. It was signed by T. W. Patton and Secretary B. M. Jones.

The next bid opened was that of R. P. Foster and T. C. McNeely. They would light the streets for a period of five years beginning with October 1, with electric lights not less than sixty in number and 2,000 candle power for $5,400 a year. These figures were based on the moon schedule. If the lights were run every night and all night they would charge $8 extra per light. They would also erect four towers of approved design at a cost of $120 each. The remainder of the lights were to be swung from poles to the center of the street. They stipulated that their property was to be free from municipal tax.

Which bid was the lowest and which will be accepted, if it will stand the close scrutiny of the light committee, was that of Mr. L. N. Cox, of Washington. He offered to run sixty lights of nominal 2,000 candle power every night and all night for $5,000 per annum, with $7 extra for each additional light. Mr. Cox also wanted to sell the city an electric light plant. He would furnish the city with two dynamos with a capacity of fifty lights of 2,000 candle power each, in a building to be erected by the city for $6,500. Then followed a list of figures showing how the city could get their lights for almost nothing, but after consideration it was decided to accept his bid to light the city if everything was found satisfactory.

When the action of the board was formally communicated to them he expressed himself as having no doubt but what everything would be found as he represented.
"I think my company will be willing to put in the lights," he said, "and if they are not just what they claim them to be will take them out at their own expense."
HE WAS SUCCESSFUL.
A Prisoner Makes a Pathetic Appeal to the Mayor.
"I'm more of an object of pity than of censure, your honor."
That was the remark made by James Bannett as he stood before the bar in the Mayor's court this morning and begged piteously for mercy. He had been drunk last evening and taken to jail and when he made his appearance in the court room this morning he was a sorry looking object. His clothes were old and torn in many places, and his face wore a beard of a week's growth. When his name was called he admitted his guilt, and at once began an abject plea for his release.
"I have no money," he said. "I cannot work, and if you will let me go this time I will never be up before you again."
"But," began Mayor Blanton, "suppose you get drunk—?"
"But I will not get drunk again," broke in the prisoner. "I will get out of town in two hours. I am a physical wreck. It doesn't matter how I became so but I am I cannot work and I have no money."
For ten minutes he made an urgent appeal for the leniency of the court.
"You ought to be a lawyer," remarked Mayor Blanton when he had finished. "You would have been a good one."
"Oh! there's lots of things I ought to be that I'm not," returned the prisoner, as he settled back in his seat.
After the other cases were disposed of he again took the floor. It ended in his plea's being granted and he limped from the court room.
Died Johnson pleaded guilty of being drunk and was fined $5, and on a second warrant charging him with riotous and disorderly conduct he was fined $10.
Three car loads of paving brick have arrived and are being piled upon South Main street, opposite the Swannanoa hotel. Work on the street will begin Monday.

NORTH CAROLINA NOTES.

The "Deestrick Skule" has struck New Bern. Fayetteville is to have a $75,000 public building. Counterfeit dollars and halves are in circulation at Charlotte. Interest in the Sam Jones revival meetings at Charlotte is by no means on the wane. One hundred and twelve negroes are to be immersed in Taylor's pond near Raleigh on Sunday. Dr. J. M. Atkinson, who has ministered to the Raleigh Presbyterians for thirty years, has gone to Warrenton. While the Rev. C. Rogers, of the Baptist church at Burgaw, Fender county, was preaching, he was stricken down by sickness. The Rev. Frederick D. Thomas, of New Bern, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church in Springfield, Mo. The body of an infant was found in a garden at Greensboro. It was wrapped in a newspaper and a string was tied around its neck, showing that it had been strangled. Miss Frances Coleman, a pupil of the Winston-Salem school, has been awarded the Youth's Companion's silk bag for the best essay. The competition was open to the whole country. There will be thirty delegates from this State to the Southern Baptist convention at Fort Worth, Texas. The full delegation will attend, and most of its members will take a trip into Mexico. It is reported that the Atlantic Coast Line will build a branch line from Society Hill, S. C., to Gibson Station, N. C., where it will connect with the Raleigh and Augusta railway, and that the work will soon begin. It is probable that the Yadkin, Silver Valley and Pee Dee railroad will be built from Thomasville to the Yadkin river, just above Milledgeville, thence down the river to the Narrows, and from the Narrows to Wadesboro. Nothing has been heard of E. D. Walker, who so mysteriously disappeared from Weldon. It has been learned that he is a member of the Brooklyn (N. Y.) press, and an accident policy of $10,000 was found in his papers. The Progressive Farmer, of the Farmers' Alliance in Virginia and North Carolina, prints this week 25,000 copies to circulate Colonel L. L. Polk's speech before the congressional committee on the Sub-Treasury bill. A hundred laborers employed in grading the street railway at Winston-Salem struck for higher wages. They received seventy-five cents a day and wanted $1. Their places were supplied in most cases and some of them returned to work. Northern capitalists are negotiating for the purchase of Bald Head, on Smith's Island, at the mouth of Cape Fear. It is a remarkable place, having the same temperature as Charleston and marks the northern limit of the palmetto tree. A telegram received at Raleigh from New York says that Pierre Battle Cox's conviction is more hopeful. Cox is a young son of General William K. Cox, of Raleigh, and was found Saturday in an arca-way insensible, having fallen quite a distance. The first banquet of the Raleigh chamber of commerce was a complete success. Two hundred and fifty covers were laid Mayor Thompson responded to a toast, "The City Government," and Governor Fowle made a happy speech on the subject. "The Old North State." Governor Fowle has received an invitation to attend the ceremonies at Richmond on the 29th of May. He accepts the invitation and will attend with his entire staff, and also accepts the invitation to make some remarks at the Hollywood memorial, May 30. The clerk of Wake superior court turned over to State Treasurer Bain $15,000, the amount of State tax paid by the Raleigh and Gaston railway for taxes as a result of the compromise between the officers of that road and the legislative investigating committee made last week. The report of the Board of Health shows the general health of the people is exceptionally good this month. There has been little sickness during the winter and spring, save the grippe and its attendant disorders. The grippe is now ending, the last cases occurring in the high mountain section. The cotton factory at Monroe is assured. The company is to be incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000 with a privilege of increasing it to $15,000. The following have been elected directors: H. W. Houston, A. F. Stevens, J. M. Fairly, J. J. Yarr, J. K. English, W. C. Heath and H. A. Shute. A. F. Stevens was elected president. A difficulty occurred between James M. King and Joseph Rawls, at Greenville, about the rent of a mule. Rawls shot at King three times, each ball taking effect. King's thigh was broken. The latter fired at his antagonist after he had fallen and wounded Rawls in the leg. King's wounds are said to be dangerous. Burglaries were committed at the stores of W. G. Davis and James R. Hotch, at Mt. Olive. Detectives were put on the trail of the burglars and Schofield Brown and Willis Jordan, both negroes whose homes are in New Hanover county, have been arrested. Some of the stolen property was found on them and the evidence is clear. They are in jail without the privilege of bail and will be tried for their lives. Two boy convicts have been taken to the penitentiary, to which they are sentenced for life. They are aged eleven and fourteen years, and were convicted of the murder of their sister, aged four years. They beat her to death with clubs, driving splinters into her spine, and then dragged her body to a ravine and hid it. Another brother, aged nine, was one of the murderers, but on account of his extreme youth his punishment was restricted.
