C. C. Porter, of Ulrichsville, Ohio, died this morning at Col. J. M. Ray's, in Ramoth, aged 27. Consumption was the cause of his death. He had been here for three months. Mr. Pearson was the first one called on. He responded in a happy manner. "I am confused, embarrassed and excited," he said "and cannot tell whether I am a host or guest to-night. The papers stated that the purchasers and myself would consider ourselves the hosts of the occasion, and if that is so we will have to foot the bill. "If any of you feel inclined to accuse me of extravagance in pushing the work on Blue Ruin, he continued, I will say that it is your extravagance, for it is with your money that it is done. I take great satisfaction in being the agent. As a matter of fact we have come to a time in the history of real estate when the sellers make money and the buyers make money. We never thought to find a bag of gold in Blue Ruin, but nevertheless in sixty-two days of digging, I have found it and put $67,000 away in my strong box. This seems strange, and a man outside cannot believe it. I believe it can be done any where in town. "The property that was recently purchased for $3,000 per acre sold for $25,000. This proves that the half is greater than the whole. I believe that the property in the hands of the present owners is worth $100,000,000. Col. W. M. Cooke, of Lexington, Ky., was then called for. He told of the increase of the size of Asheville since he first came here in 1865, when it was nothing but a small country village. "Now," he said, "instead of that village I find a magnificent city. Before the war the place was but little known and but few Northerners came here. Now there are great numbers of them here all the year round and Asheville makes considerable money off of 'sick yankees.' The town is yet in its infancy. So long as Asheville stands invalids from all over the United States will come here." Hon. T. D. Johnson was called up and made a short talk: "I congratulate you that all are happy because of having made money," he said, "and I am happy because you made none out of me. I beg you not to build too much on this one event. Do not live on each other too much. I have heard of a transaction within the last sixty days that will bring $175,000 here from foreigners and Northerners soon." Mr. W. E. Breese said: "I can confirm Mr. Johnston's statement. I know of a transaction that will bring in $175,000 from abroad. This will do more than feasting on ourselves. I am glad to see this prosperity, but welcome the addition of the $175,000." Mr. H. T. Collins was called for and he remarked that he was one of the "sick yankees" who came down here. "When the statement is made," he said, "that money has been made, I cannot say anything, for I have not made it. These other men are now rolling in dirt—in wealth I mean. These transfers will awake our neighboring towns, and rivals, Hendersonville and Waynesville, and we will have to include them as suburbs of Asheville." Dr. Taylor started out by saying he was a sick yankee, also. He said: "Although I am not making any money out of real estate, I am making it out of the climate. Some one remarked that Asheville is well known. The future of Asheville is not as a manufacturing or business town, but as a health resort, and we should all join hands to boom it as a health resort. This would be of great benefit to all." Mr. J. P. Sawyer said: "Mr. Pearson is embarrassed because he has made money, and I am embarrassed because I have not. We have been saying that property is too high here, and that the prices would not last. The time has not come when there has been a decline and I hope it will not come. I wish I had bought some myself. The trouble with me is that I have always sold just a little too soon, and I think I will hold what little I have left until it makes me rich." Mr. F. L. Jacobs was called for and responded with a song. As the crowd arose to leave Mr. Pearson moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Capt. Patton. He said: "I saw him bidding on the property to-day where he used to live, and it almost brought tears to my eyes. He was bidding the same amount for one-fifth part of the property that his father had sold the entire tract for, after the war. This means that the property is fifty times more valuable now than it then was. It means that if this son owned the property that his father owned, he would be ten times a millionaire and if he owned the property that his grandfather owned in this town he would be worth ten Vanderbilts.

Mr. Smith was asked to compare the two countries, North and South America. To this he replied: "As for the political, social and church relations, this country is far superior to that. The society there is not so good as that here. There is a great amount of ignorance there. Vast numbers of the people are unable to read and write, and there is no such culture as is met with here. Although there are a great many men who are immensely wealthy, there is also a large opposite class, who live in the greatest squalor. The ladies of the wealthy classes are as handsomely dressed as the ladies of this country, or of any other country. Paris styles are used and the dresses are of remarkably fine material and of the best styles. The men also dress with great elegance. There are very few men who are educated in the special branches, although there are some men of fair culture. We have good physicians and lawyers. "As to my work there," he continued, "I am in charge of the Central Presbyterian church in Pernambuco, and am engaged largely in preparing young men for the ministry. I was sent out by the committee of the Southern Presbyterian church. We now have in Brazil our own synod, independent of the government of the church in this country. In this synod there are four presbyteries and thirty-four ministers, nineteen of which are foreigners and fifteen natives. There are sixty-five churches and 3,000 members in our synod." Mr. Smith is uncertain as to how long he will remain in Asheville.

TWO MINISTERS ORDAINED. Important Business of the Mecklenburg Presbytery. At an adjourned meeting of the Mecklenburg presbytery held at Coopers, W. H. Davis, of Transylvania, was dismissed to the presbytery of Roanoke, Va., to take charge of the churches lately served by Rev. J. P. Gannon, formerly of this city. Licentiate D. F. Sheppard was received from the presbytery of Savannah and a call placed in his hands from the church of Swannanoa. This being accepted by him, his ordination was determined upon, and it was accompanied by that of Licentiate R. E. Henderlite, who has been working in Haywood and Swain counties. They preached their trial sermons and were ordained. Mr. Sheppard was installed pastor of Swannanoa churches.

HONORS TO ASHEVILLE. Brought Back by Misses Rollins and Fagg. Misses Emma Rollins and Minnie Fagg have returned from Salem, where they have been attending school. They were both members of the graduating class, and in the report of the exercises, the Twin City Daily speaks of them as follows: "Idols" was the title of the next essay by Miss Minnie Fagg. She said the instinct to worship something was deeply implanted in the human heart. Each had some idol to worship. Sometimes it was self, sometimes gold, but too soon the worshipped or the worshipper would change to common clay. The valedictory address was eloquently delivered (and when we say "eloquently" we mean it) by Miss Emma Rollins, of Asheville. It was an address worthy of the occasion and highly creditable to the bright and charming young lady who delivered it in so becoming a manner. Before she concluded the tears of affection trickled down the cheeks of nearly all her class-mates—tears which did them honor and evidenced their affection for their valedictorian.

FOR ONLY ONE TRANSFER. A petition has been presented to the managers of the Asheville street railway, asking that they only require one transfer between Camp Patton and the depot and Patton avenue. The petition is signed by forty-eight of the residents in that neighborhood. The signers complain that it is against their interest from a business standpoint and an inconvenience in riding to have to transfer so often in coming to the city and state that strangers always complain. In response the street railway company say that they are always anxious to make the best possible arrangements for accommodating the public and will do so in every way allowed by the city authorities.
