THE DAILY CITIZEN.

FACTS AND COMMENTS.

Geo. W. McCreary died in Missouri Monday. He was secretary of war during the Hayes administration.

It is already apparent that Speaker Reed is sharpening his knife for those silver republicans who went back on him last week.

The census shows the population of the District of Columbia to be 228,160, an increase since the last census of about 29 per cent. About 80,000 of these are negroes.

The great Boulanger, so recently in the months of the world, but of late months out of sight, has sprung into the ring again as the leader of an expedition to establish trading posts from the Congo river to the big lakes in Africa. It might be well for France if this turbulent gentleman should find his six feet of earth on the Congo.

From the latest information concerning the working of the gubernatorial convention in session at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, it would seem as if Boss Quay has not lost his grip upon the republican machine in that State, and if Dalamater is chosen it would seem that the little thieving charged against the senator is not sufficient to prevent him from getting all the endorsement he is looking for.

Genus is proverbial for its freaks, and when woman is possessed of the divine gift, she frequently has most remarkable notions. Sarah Bernhardt has conceived a torrid attachment for Stanley, the explorer, and she declares that if he returns to the Dark Continent she will go too. We imagine the thermometer will reach heights never approximated heretofore in Africa should Sarah carry out her threat—when the new Mrs. Stanley finds it out.

The present marvelous industrial activity throughout the South is in numberless ways of incalculable benefit to this section, but in no one way is more good being accomplished than in turning the minds of the rising generation from politics to business. Too much politics is a curse to any people, and the South has had her full share in this direction since the war. But in the race for material success, no young man should forget that he owes it to himself and his country to keep informed on political matters at all times.

Only seven delegates attended the recent national convention of colored men held in Chicago for the purpose of showing to the nation the wants and needs of the negro. The difficulty was that the convention was held in the wrong town. Washington is the only place fit to hold a convention, according to the negro idea. He wants to talk right in the ear of the administration, and he wants the administration to know that what the colored man wants is office, and that he wants it before he leaves town.

IT LOOKS AS IF "hoodle" might carry the lottery scheme through the Louisiana legislature, in some shape or other. The old original Louisiana Lottery has two competitors, one from Mexico and another from Germany, said to be backed by the Rothschilds. The latter has offered the State $250,000 more per year than the old lottery, and it is said he instructed their agent to raise the offer $250,000 at a jump every time the old lottery antics. The governor will veto any measure that may pass, and a two-thirds majority will thus be necessary, and the luxury, if secured, is bound to come high. It is to be hoped all the schemes will fail.

The dependent pension bill has gone to the President for his signature. It is estimated that its provisions will require the expenditure of over $75,000,000 the first year. In addition to the regular appropriations already in force, this will give the enormous sum of about $200,000,000 in pensions per annum. No patriotic citizen opposes liberal treatment of the veterans, but there are doubtless some who think it unnecessary to impoverish the rest of mankind that they may make money by doing nothing but draw it from the treasury. Their annual lien on the treasury is now greater than the whole income of the government when the war began.

There seems to be a well grounded hope in the breasts of the Southern people that the infamous modern "force bill" known as the Lodge election law, will meet its death in the senate. That such a measure was ever presented in the halls of congress is proof positive that its framers knew nothing whatever of the conditions existing in the South, which it was the object of the bill to correct. No legislation will ever cause ignorance and thriftlessness to rise intelligence and frugality, and the sooner Mr. Lodge and his condottors learn this A B C in politics, the sooner will they receive the consideration of thoughtful people in all sections of this republic.

Officers are Elected.

Battle, vice-president; D. C. Waddell, treasurer; T. C. McNeely, secretary. The board of directors is as follows: W. M. Hazard, W. H. Gwyn, J. G. Martin, A. J. Layman and A. B. Andrews.

TO GO TO-MORROW.

Thomas Corpening Will go on to New York.

The reason Thomas Corpening was not ready to go to New York yesterday with James Scott was because the boy's entire wardrobe consisted of a corduroy pair of pantaloons and a cotton shirt and his parents were ashamed to send him to THE CITIZEN office. This state of affairs was discovered by a CITIZEN representative last evening and of course steps were at once taken to provide the necessary clothing and to-morrow he will go on.

The popular subscription is coming up nicely but more money is needed and the residents of Asheville will see that it is forthcoming; $78.50 have already been raised. The list to-day is as follows:

Cash	1.00
Capt. Carter	1.00
Mrs. Von Ruck	2.00

Assessing the Railroad.

The chairman of the boards of county commissioners of the counties through which the Western North Carolina and the Asheville and Spartanburg railroads run met here to-day for the purpose of assessing the property of those railroad companies for taxation. The Western North Carolina and Ducktown roads were assessed at $5,305.57 per mile, including the rolling stock. This is the same as heretofore. The Asheville and Spartanburg road was assessed at $6,000 per mile, including the rolling stock. This is a reduction of $2,000.

THE SUNNY SOUTH.

A lady in Opahtka, Florida, claims to have used one needle seven years.

The Alabama educational association—300 strong—is in session at Montgomery.

A Nashville couple chose the merrily hour of 5 a. m. to celebrate their wedding.

John L. Sullivan pleaded guilty to the charge against him at Purvis, Miss., and was fined $500.

The body of Lawrence Fortune, who was recently drowned off Norfolk, has been discovered.

Chattanooga has just rented a building for $5,000 a year and the city offices will be located there.

Olin Barrow and John Stone were seriously injured at Columbia, S. C., by the explosion of a cannon.

The city council of Danville, Va., have voted to appropriate $20,000 for a new public school building.

Captain C. O. Boutelle, of the United States coast survey, died at his home at Norfolk, Va.; aged 77.

Danville, Va., thinks that 15,000 is about the way her population will figure up after the census.

Chattanooga is threatened with an ice famine. The demand greatly exceeds the capacity of the factories.

A Knoxville boy named Hugh Kelley was drowned at Chattanooga and his body was recovered three days late.

Bob Gordon was drowned in the Sequatchie river at Jasper. He was 30 years old and leaves a wife and family.

The Danville Daily Register announces a report that the Richmond and Danville will build through to Johnson City, Tenn.

Ex-Congressman General J. D. C. Atkins, of Tennessee, and Miss Flora Crawford were married at Paris, Tenn., on Tuesday.

Ann Alice Hamilton, a negroess 100 years old has just died at her home in Chattanooga. She was the mother of fourteen children.

A reward of $400 has been offered for the arrest of City Marshal Wiggins, who so brutally assaulted Mayor McQuaid at Jacksonville.

Dr. Robert Bolin, of Nashville, Tenn., has been missing since Saturday night. Dr. Bolin is over 80 years old and much fear is felt concerning his whereabouts.

W. C. Hickman, a brakeman on the Norfolk and Western railroad, fell under the wheels of a moving freight train while attempting to board it and was killed.

F. H. Weston, the trial justice who engaged in a pistol fight on the streets of Columbia, S. C., with his cousin, has sent his resignation to the governor and it has been accepted.

Napoleon Levelle, who killed his wife and nearly murdered her uncle at Charleston last February, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang September 5.

A bear weighing 186 pounds was recently killed near Lynchburg, Va., by a man named Leftwich. Interest is about equally divided between the killing of the animal and the man's name.

Huntsville, Ala., has just secured a gigantic cotton mill, the capital stock of which is $100,000. It will manufacture cotton, woolen and fabrics of all descriptions from raw material.

Jim Lawrence, an innocent old negro living near Birmingham, was shot and instantly killed by Bob Smith while talking to his wife in front of his cabin. They had quarrelled over money matters. The murder was the result.

Annie Murphey and Nancy Murray, of Orangeburg, S. C., quarrelled about a mutual lover and the husband of a third woman. The quarrel became heated, and Annie Murphey produced a razor, slashed off her rival's nose, and dangerously wounded her with several other slashes.

Chattanooga, Tenn., recently had two elopements in one day. Miss Lucy Kelly, a 17 year old miss, joined her heart and hand with 19 year old Henry Hood on that occasion, and Miss Rose Davis, a 13 year old girl, married Charles Moffit, 5 years her senior. The parents are justly indignant.

The boys who wore the gray are going to have a big time in Dawson, Ga., on the 17th of next month. On that day they will have a reunion and barbecue, and Governor Gordon, General Phil Cook, General C. A. Evans and Judge J. M. Smith, have been invited to be present and make speeches.

Parker Harris, Ed. Carr and Harley Ballard, colored, and a white man named Brenish, were hanged at Memphis for murder. Brenish tried to gain a little time by bringing up the question of equal equality and refusing to drop with the coons. His little dodge failed to work and they all went down at once. All four of their necks were broken.

Maurice Dupont, a member of the firm of Delaware powder magnates, married an Irish barmaid during his recent trip abroad and has just returned to his home at Wilmington. Contrary to all expectations the doors of his father's house were thrown open to him and the bride, who is really a worthy and beautiful young woman, is being received generally.

The Nashville Herald has been supporting the nomination of Jere Baxter for Governor as earnestly as the Nashville American has been opposing it. A few days ago the latter paper announced that in 1888 Baxter announced himself as opposed to Cleveland and free trade, and now the Herald has called upon Uncle Jere to refute the charges or forfeit the right to its support.

The Wheeling Bridge and Terminal Railway company were going to erect a union depot at Wheeling, West Virginia, but as soon as the citizens found it out they got hold of every piece of available property and put the prices up out of sight. Then the company decided that they could get along without a union depot and now a number of Wheeling real estate dealers are very, very wealthy.

A year ago John W. Day, of Chattanooga, and Miss Mamie Hopkins were married and at the consent of the girl's parents were separated. She returned to school. Shortly after she was induced to sue for divorce on the grounds of desertion and did so. Day put up no cross plea and the bill was granted. Then her heart smote her and she and her former husband began corresponding and the other day were married again.
