THE DAILY CITIZEN.
FACTS AND COMMENTS.
DIXON BOUCAULT, the veteran playwright, is sixty-seven years old and his first play, "London Assurance," which he wrote at the age of seventeen is still as popular as it was fifty years ago.
MR. GEORGE JONES, a popular lawyer of Macon county, is spoken of by his friends as a suitable man to receive the nomination for solicitor at the hands of the convention soon to meet at Bryson City.
 It would be rather a checkmate to those republicans who secured the defeat of Eaves, if the administration should rub this internal revenue district out by merging it with another. Such things are not unknown in the history of politics.
VIRGINIA is still being ridden by the State debt question, that veritable "Old Man of the Sea." In its being kept up long is the only chance for the re-appearance upon the stage in that commonwealth of that little political buccaner, Billy Mahone. From this standpoint, those outside of that State who feel any interest in its welfare will be glad to see the matter finally and forever settled some way right speedily.
A Victory for the Three C's.
 When the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago railroad was first started, several townships in South Carolina voted to issue bonds for the building of the road. When the road was completed, and the stock issue to the townships, they refused to issue the bonds. A test case was made of the refusal of one of them and a decree has just been filed by the United States circuit court, ordering that the bonds be turned over.
Col. Cox, president of the road, received a telegram yesterday from the superintendent, saying that nine miles of the track between Rutherford and Marion has been laid, and that they are laying rail at the rate of one mile a day. There are but twenty-five miles between these places, and trains will be running into Marion from Charleston in about three weeks. All the grading is done, and the ties are laid. It is the intention of the management to run a night train from Charleston, connecting at Marion with the morning train for Asheville.
Corporating Goes On.
 Tom Corporating the second of the mad dog victims left to-day on the 1.47 train for New York. He goes there for treatment at Dr. Gibber's Pasteur institute. Mr. George Samper, who has been living in this section for two years took charge of the lad.
 The boy had a pass as far as Salisbury, through the kindness of the Western North Carolina railroad, and was attired in a neat suit of clothes, the gift of C. D. Blanton & Co. James Scott, the other boy who was bitten, left Wednesday for the same place. The subscription has now reached $80.
Some New Streets.
J. B. Bostic who purchased the rear part of the Woodfin property, on North Main street and Merrimon avenue is having streets opened through it. They will be forty feet wide. One will run from the junction of North Main street and Merrimon avenue, to the boundary of the Spears property. From there one will run to the Rankin place and from there to Merrimon avenue. The property will be sold in lots at an early date. There are seven acres and about thirty lots will be made of it.

George Pauncefort, an English actor, well known in this country years ago and for a time a member of the stock company of the Boston Theater, is now keeping a restaurant near Yokohama, Japan.
 One of the leading assistants in the establishment of the Botanical Garden at Washington, and in laying out the grounds of the Smithsonian Institution, was William D. Brackenridge. He has just celebrated his eightieth year.
Democratic Judicial Convention.
 A convention of the democratic party of the Twelfth judicial district is hereby called to assemble at the court house in Bryson City, North Carolina, on Thursday July 24th, 1890, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the office of solicitor of said district.
 The democratic executive committees of the several counties comprising said district are requested to call conventions in their respective counties for the purpose of electing delegates to said judicial convention. By order of the democratic executive committee of the Twelfth judicial district.

Of Course It Wasn't.
 When Jay Gould was a struggling young surveyor, with hardly one cent to rub against another, he stamped his initials and the date on a copper cent and put into circulation. Tuesday Mr. Gould received some pennies in change at the Twenty-third street ferry, and on looking them over he found the coin he had stamped was not among them.—Baltimore Sun.

ALREADY DOOMED.
The Board of Aldermen on Gen. Young's Coming Proposition.
 The members of the board of aldermen were seen last night and asked what action they would take on the proposition of General Young to pave one more mile of street.
 Alderman Miller says he will certainly vote against giving any more contracts for paving without first obtaining permission from the people.
 Alderman Pulliam says he will vote against laying any more paving until the people vote for an appropriation.
 Alderman Leonard says he could not vote for the expenditure of any more money at present for that purpose, as the city cannot afford it with the treasury in the condition it is.
 Alderman Fitzpatrick is quite unwell and will not be able to attend the meeting to-night. He is of the opinion that the people should have an opportunity to vote on the question of paving any more streets and would vote against the matter if he were present to-night.
 Alderman McEwell is somewhat undecided as to the way he will vote until he sees the nature of the proposition made to-night. He would not say whether he would vote for or against giving the contract to Gen. Young without a vote of the public.
 Alderman Wolfe is the only one who said he would vote to-night for giving the contract. He seems to be so well satisfied with the streets paved at present that he is willing to have some more put down at once.
If Not, Why Not?
Editor Citizen:—I am often asked by prospecting parties for a home, if persons living in Asheville wishing to spend the summers at some northern seaside "for change" so to speak, could get reduced rates to any point north? The fact is we cannot? Now does the Richmond & Danville Railroad company intend to forever deprive Asheville of a right enjoyed by every city south and west where the railroads are in the hands of the Richmond & Danville company? It is true Asheville is the best all-the-year health resort in the world. My appeal is not for the sick but for those who would travel for a month or two for pleasure. There are hundreds of Ashevilleans who would be glad to visit New York and the various pleasant resorts on the Atlantic coast for a month or longer. But when it comes to spending forty or fifty dollars for railroad fare alone, positively prohibits their going. Could not the general passenger agent, Mr. Winburn, do something toward getting Asheville a reduced rate to points north for the next three months. It would certainly pay the railroad.
Just a Little Mixed.
 The lawn party Wednesday night of last week given by Miss Mary Gold complimentary to Miss Emma Vaughn was a very pleasant affair and highly enjoyed by those who were fortunate enough to be present one among whom the editor was which.—Wilson Advance.
