

THE DAILY CITIZEN.

By RANDOLPH-KERR PRINTING CO. THE DAILY CITIZEN, Democratic, is published every afternoon (except Sunday) at the following rates—strictly cash.

THE DAILY CITIZEN is on sale at the following places in Asheville: CITIZEN OFFICE, BATTERY PARK NEWS STAND, GLAN ROCK NEWS STAND, MODEL CIGAR STORE, Patton Ave., J. CARSON'S NEWS STORE, North Court Square.

MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1890.

A Pointer.

It is full time that people both in and out of the church should come to know that the kingdom of heaven, as proclaimed by Jesus of Nazareth, is not bounded by church organizations as we know them.

To the Baptists of Asheville. We find in a New York newspaper, and reprint the item to-day, a statement that John D. Rockefeller will found a Baptist University and that he has concluded to devote $20,000,000 to that worthy purpose.

Mr. Rockefeller visited Asheville a few months ago and left substantial evidences of his liberality. At the same time he met many persons here whose friendship can not but be a pleasant recollection with him.

The CITIZEN calls on some one, or several of those who feel that it would not be an intrusion to ascertain at once if it is possible for Mr. Rockefeller to consider this city, or some spot near it, as a location for his proposed university.

It may appear, at first glance, presumptuous that Asheville should even mention her claims to be considered in connection with a projected institution, destined to be so tremendously important to the entire Christian world.

But THE CITIZEN'S faith in Asheville is boundless and in the present case the price is so great that a trial will be worth in the first instance at least, a postage stamp or two, and, if any encouragement is received, the visit of a committee to Mr. Rockefeller.

We are not at the present time, it ever going at length into Asheville's advantages as a suitable city for a university. But we propose to at once answer on objection that might perhaps prevent any move at all by the Baptists of Asheville in the direction of ascertaining Mr. Rockefeller's intentions as to location.

Our answer to this is that the size of Asheville is distinctly in its favor. Very few of our best and largest universities are situated in large cities. The distractions of a metropolis are too decidedly objectionable, often fatal. They cannot be overcome. Should a location near Asheville be selected Mr. Rockefeller can fashion to his liking every influence necessary to the success of his undertaking, except nature herself, and where will he find that feature so perfect—more fit as surroundings for the training of minds to guide the "millions yet to be?"

The CITIZEN'S profound conviction is that just here is a duty not to be neglected.

The United States circuit court sitting at Syracuse, New York, has rendered a decision in a case for infringement of patent, the contest being between two manufacturers of cement-finished corn-cob pipes. One manufacturer coats the outside of the cob with cement; the other, the inside. Down here in North Carolina, where sense is a prevailing motive, we take no account in ours. After making two holes in a corn-cob—one for tobacco and the other for the stem—any further trifling with nature in this direction is a vain attempt to paint the lily. The Syracuse case is hereby thrown out of the great court of public opinion.

When a Southern newspaper says the boycott suggestion is foolish, the Northern organs infer that the South is not so seriously opposed to the force bill after all—Atlanta Constitution.

You know better than that. It would be equally true to say of a man that, because he refuses to cut off his homely nose to suite his face, he is proud of the nose and thinks it beautiful. The Northern people know mighty well that the South thinks the force bill the invention of some one whose intimacy with the devil would cause comment in many well-regulated communities.

SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CENSUS. Porter thinks the New England States will lose one member of congress and the South gain three by the new census. This accounts in part no doubt for the eagerness of the republicans to pass the force bill.

Heavens! It was Contagious. From the Brevard Carolinian. The delightfully original poetical effusions which appeared in a late issue of the Asheville CITIZEN we think must have engendered a like spirit among some of the Carolinian readers. Brevard does not propose to be outdone by her sister city if she is the biggest. The following is an inspiration of our friend, Dr. Morgan. Evidently somebody has been working the doctor:

This world is all a fleeting show, For man's delusion gives it. What few honest men were here before Have died and gone to heaven.

Our Only Rival. From the Brevard North Carolinian. We must congratulate the Asheville CITIZEN on its improvement under the new management. It has always been a good, reliable paper, but it has gained on itself in a high degree. It is only excelled by the Carolinian, and we consider this very complimentary.

The Winston Republican's "Man on the Road" returned from a trip through a portion of Stokes county the past week. He reports several barns of tobacco already cut, the crop in general exceedingly fine and the prospect for corn the best.

FUN WITH THE PROFESSION.

The Charlotte Democrat is a Strong paper any way you look at it. Its news columns are closely edited.

When THE CITIZEN was through scissoring the Statesville Landmark this week it looked as though it had been shot out of a gun. Couldn't help it, Editor Caldwell, your paper was full of news.

The editor of the Wilmington Review wrote an editorial some weeks ago that he thinks is so good he reprints it daily. It begins: "We have it now," and is a beautiful argument for the cold water cure.

This week's Hendersonville Guide is printed in red ink and some of its contents could be deciphered without difficulty. THE CITIZEN hopes the Guide will not guide other North Carolina papers in this particular.

The editor of the Salisbury Watchman had a watermelon given him the other day and a day later broke out to this effect: "Morning, Refreshing, Noon, Profound, Night, Colossal. The watermelon wasn't ripe."

The Marion Free Lance is just one year old and that it has out its wisdom teeth the following sly item from its latest issue goes a hundred and fifty miles to show: One of the most enjoyable things in an editor's life is the presentation of extra long corn and wheat stalks and early corn silk, or a crimson shaped egg, and occasionally a large apple or peach or potato and other little tokens of nature, of which the editor always gives a write up. In some localities a large watermelon is sent to the editor, but that locality is not up this way."

POLITICAL FENCE MENDING. Henry Cheatham, colored, has been renominated by the republicans for congress from the second district.

The New York Sun refers to the representative from the ninth district as "Mr. Ewart, the colored member from North Carolina."

A citizen of Reidsville informed us the other day that Rockingham county would go democratic by about 800 majority this year from what he could learn.—Durham Recorder.

At the convention of the eleventh judicial district at Lincolnton, W. A. Hoke, of Lincolnton, was nominated for judge on the sixty-sixth ballot, and F. L. Osborne unanimously for solicitor.

Circular letters are being printed which will be mailed to all democratic clubs throughout the State concerning their reorganization and the formation of others. Where is Asheville democratic club?

The Granville democratic convention nominated Mr. G. L. Allen, of Wilton, for the senate; W. T. Adams and J. P. Cole for the house of representatives. The outlook is that the democrats will carry Granville this year.

At the Cumberland county democratic convention the following tickets were nominated: For the house, Thomas H. Sutton, and A. D. McGill; sheriff, J. B. Smith; clerk superior court, C. G. Cain; treasurer, J. B. Troy.

The CITIZEN has printed this before, but we've got some new subscribers who ought to see it: Leonidas J. Moore, of New Bern, a prominent republican of his district, says: "The time is come, in my judgment, when no man who lives in the South can longer affiliate with the republican party without an utter indifference to the well being of the Southern states."

The Fayetteville Observer says that the resolution to instruct their representatives to vote for Vance was tabled by the Cumberland county convention, but the tone of the convention, however, was decidedly for Vance, and the tabling of the resolution was doubtless due to the fact that it carried along with it a condemnation of Col. L. L. Polk and the Progressive Farmer.

It is now reported that R. F. Crooks, who got left for State senator at the democratic primaries, will run as independent for the senate. It is further reported that Crooks has been and is now, a full blooded republican. He is an agitator in the Farmers' Alliance, and would like to use the farmers as cats paws to take senatorial honors out of the fire for himself.—Salisbury Watchman.

REAPING AS THEY SOWED. Mr. W. G. Barringer, of Mt. Pleasant, has made 200 gallons of grape wine. It is stated that Nash county will lead the entire State this year in its bright tobacco crops.

A Pittsburg expert says oil will be found under the underlying rock stratum near Greensboro.

Mr. L. A. Beaver, of Cool Spring township, had three watermelons this season that weighed ninety-six pounds.

Mr. Martin Glass, who lives about three miles south of the city, has sold $210 worth of muskmelons out of one acre lot.—Greensboro Patriot.

The present indications for 1890 are that there will be harvested the finest crop of cotton, corn and tobacco ever gathered in the county of Wake.

We are sorry to chronicle the fact that a number of our good farmers report their cotton shedding, caused by the recent heavy rains.—La Grange Spectator.

Esq. J. Kier, of Cherryville township, raised 281 bushels of wheat, which is probably the largest crop raised in the county this year. It is a very large crop for this year.—Dallas Bagle.

Our candidate for solicitor (Captain Packer) has just had his wheat threshed, and his average was 12 1/2 bushels to one sown—the best average we have heard of in this section.—Alamance Gleaser.

I was out in a cotton field yesterday and saw a good many half grown bolls that had fallen off. That is bad, and if it don't soon stop the cotton crop will be shortened thereby.—Mooresville correspondent.

Capt. Arthur Pinner, who lives close to the water's edge, has raised some Irish potatoes a few feet from the salt water and says that the potatoes were already salted before taking them out of the ground.—Southpoint Leader.

THE GRIM REAPER.

Mr. Jesse Julian died at his residence in South Greensboro Saturday, aged 80 years.

Cherokee county has lost one more of its oldest settlers in the death of Thomas Jefferson Cooper.

F. B. Mace died at Beaufort, August 10, 1890, aged about 55 years. Mr. Mace was at one time editor of the Beaufort Record.

Mrs. Eliza Rountree Daniel, daughter of Louis and Elizabeth Rountree, died August 8th in Wilson within two miles of her birthplace.

At M. A. Field, August 10, Edward R. Harris died, aged 78 years. He was the father of Elmer J. W. and Messrs. E. K. and S. S. Harris, prominent citizens of Reidsville. He was a Primitive Baptist.
