BANKRUPTCY BILL.

WASHINGTON, August 26 .- In the Sen

ite today a substitute for the house bankruptcy bill was reported by Senator democratic senators to having the mem-orandum take the shape of an "order of the senate," and after an interchange of opinion on that point, Senator Aldrich withdrew that form and confined his motion to a request for the unanimous onsent to the memorandum. Senator Plumb suggested that there was something behind the matter that was something behind the matter that was not perfectly apparent to the public. The solemn interchange of suggestion yesterday between the senator from Rhode Island, and the senator from Maryland, reminded him somewhat of the historic remark that once passed between the Governor of North Carolina and the Governor of South Carolina. [Laughter.] It recalled also the remark that two Roman augurs could not look in each other's faces without smiling. that two Roman augurs could not look in each other's faces without smiling. It was time, Senator Plumb thought, that the curtain was rang down and the lights put out. An agreement had been made by which the democratic senators were to forego their opposition, or, at all events, their debating opposition, to the tariff bill which had been described as so utterly and abhorently objectionable and of course he presumed that this course was to be taken in order that something else might be had which was desirable to them. He would inteprose no objection to the memorandum. to the memorandum.

The memorandum was then agreed to y unanimous consent. The conference report on the sundr ivil appropriation bill was read.
